

THE MARBLE HILL PRESS.

Terms—$1.00 a Year

THIRTY-SECOND YEAR.

Circulation, 1,100

Vol. 32.

Marble Hill, Missouri, Thursday, October 3, 1912.

No. 22.

DRUM'S FALL OPENING

Saturday, September 28, 1912

Will Be Followed With Three Weeks of Price Slaughtering

The Sixth Regiment Band will furnish music for this, one of Lutesville's biggest days. My trade has not given me time for more than a year to announce a Sale, but at this time in order to show the appreciation for what my trade has been doing for me I am increasing my sales force for this event. I have the Largest and Best Selected Stock of Merchandise in the country, with the least expense of conducting same. My sales enable me in many cases to give you $1.50 value for $1.00. We offer the largest and best assortment of Fall and Winter Merchandise shown in the county. Our assortment includes some especially desirable things in Suitings, Dress Goods, Silk Trimmings Etc., that will be most popular during the coming season, as well as the staple line of Dry Goods, Notions, Furnishings, Hats, Shoes, Clothing and Restaurant Goods.

Many of our Lines, in fact most of them, were bought several months in advance and at figures considerably lower than those prevailing today, which enables us to make prices on them that can not fail to interest everyone who has home wants to provide for. This is a Sale with a definite purpose—a Sale that will demonstrate beyond a doubt that Lutesville's most popular shopping center can supply you with the choice Autumn wears at Lower Prices than are possible elsewhere. Note the Items and Prices. Then come in and look thru our Stock and you will agree with us that the wonder of this Sale is that such values as these can be offered on new Merchandise thruout this entire Store, right at the beginning of the Autumn season. We believe it an achievement of modern merchandising that can be accomplished by few others.

Ladies' Purses, regular 75c value for only 45c	Full 10-4 bleached sheeting, regular price 30c value for 25c	7 Bars Lenox soap, 5c kind for 25c. Also other soap deals as good
Trunks, Traveling Bags, Suit Cases Etc., all greatly reduced in price.	Everything in table linens reduced in price	Ladies' Cloaks and Men's Overcoats all reduced
6 Full size hats clean, white cotton for only 45c	Big reduction on all ribbons	Special values in all woolen goods such as Sweaters, Aviation Caps
A complete line of Men's neck wear, latest styles, at greatly reduced prices.	Lunch boxes, regular 15c value for only 5c	Etc. The latest did not in all Aviation Cap, regular $1.50 value for 98c
Domestic, 10c value for only 8c. All others in proportion.	5 Gallon oil cans, worth 75c. Full of good coal oil guaranteed to give the best of lighting service, all for 95c	Children's $1.25 Sweaters for 50c and 75c
Best grades and latest styles in prints, 7c value for 5c	20 Pounds of the best granulated sugar for $1 with 5c worth of goods	Carpet, all wool filled in military weight of Lincoln 60c kind for 48c
Ladies' hosiery, 15c value for 9c. All other hosiery in proportion.	4 Cans of Laton baking powder, 10c value, sale price 25c	Linoleum, Oil Cloth and Wallpaper reduced
Men's work socks, good 10c value, 3 pairs for only 20c.

I am sorry that I have not enough space to quote everything in detail, but all I can do is to ask you to come in and see for yourself.

Yours truly,

Robert Drum, Jr.,

Lutesville, Mo

Railroad Men Locate "Lost Spaniard" Mine

DAN BELCHAMBER, M. O. & G. ENGINEER GETS SECRET FROM OLD INDIANS AND HAS NOT ONLY FOUND THE MINE BUT ORGANIZED A COMPANY TO WORK IT

—RICH S. SILVER

The famous "Lost Spaniard" mine for which prospectors and investors have been looking for the last quarter century has been found, it is believed, and a company, composed mainly of M. O. & G. employees and trainmen has been formed for its development. The mine was located at a point about thirteen miles from Bromide, Okla., and a lease has been secured by the Mystery Mining and Milling company on the twenty-acre tract on which it is located.

The mine has been the subject of columns upon columns of stories and articles, but although the mine was known to be in the district around Wapanucka, it remained for Dan Belchamber, an engineer on the M. O. & G., and his friends to get the story of the mine's location from an old Indian couple living near Bromide. A party of stockholders in the newly incorporated Mystery company numbering about 20 has just returned from a trip to the mine bearing samples which assay 200 ounces silver ore to the ton, about 63 per cent lead. James Belchamber of Glen Allen, Mo., a brother of Dan, came here to look over the property with a view of investigating and he confirmed the report that the mine is supposed to be the famous "Lost Spaniard."

There are numbers of old mines in the hills of Oklahoma where the Indians, and later, white settlers and outlaws, are supposed to have mined lead with which to make bullets. The "Lost Spaniard" is supposed to date back to the days of the exploration of the old Spaniards of Mexico, who penetrated this state on several occasions. The shaft of the Mystery company's mine, when the stockholders arrived for their investigation, was about twenty-seven feet deep. It had caved in and the massive timbers forming the shaft had rotted away, but enough of the ore projected so that rich samples were secured for assaying. The old Indians, who told of the mine's location, both of whom are over 80 years of age, say that the bodies of three white men were thrown in the shaft by the Indians and that their bones are even now resting under one of the old stone pillars formed by the caved-in.

Many years ago the Indians, a party of soldiers of what nation they do not know, camped on the spot where the mine was sunk. Later they moved on, but some of them returned several years after, with a wagon to carry away the ore. They were ambushed by the Indians, the tradition goes, and their bodies were cast into the shaft, where many years of erosion are supposed to have covered them. The mine is located in a rough, hilly country, and is difficult of access.

The location of the mine was known only to the Indians, it was said, but many believe that a number of the citizens around Wapanucka and Henryetta knew of the mine, but were afraid to reveal it, either because of superstitious awe or because they were unable to get a lease on the property. The allotment is owned by a twelve-year-old Indian boy, and the Mystery company secured a lease from the Indian.

They intend to purchase mining machinery with the capital stock of $20,000 and to work the mine during the winter of 1912-13.

Belchamber became acquainted with the Indians who knew of the mine shortly after the M. O. & G. extension to Bromide was opened, a year ago. He told of it to his fellow employees, and a number of them agreed to join him in organizing a stock company. His brother became interested and came down from his Missouri home to go on the trip with the party. He arrived too late, however, and only heard the story of the finding of the mine after his brother had returned.

"They say that beyond a doubt the old mine is the 'Lost Spaniard,'" said Mr. Belchamber, who is visiting relatives at 204 North K street.—Muskegee (Oklahoma) Times-Democrat.

A private letter from our friend, James Belchamber, informs us that he is a stockholder in the mine and is well pleased with the outlook.

Missouri Cattle Top Markets
In a recent interview, W. L. Nelson, assistant secretary of the Missouri state board of agriculture, calls attention to the fact that Missouri cattle have repeatedly topped the Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago markets during this remarkable year of record breaking prices. Several months ago Missouri steers showed records that it is hard to keep up with them. On August 5 and 6 steers from this state topped the Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago markets and existing price records of at least two of these places. At St. Louis thirty three head of 1519 pound steers sold at $10.10 per hundredweight. The same day a load of 1457 pound steers from another Missouri county sold at $10.70 per hundredweight on the Kansas City market. At the same time another load of cattle shipped from Illinois to a broker in Missouri made the Chicago market of $10.10. On September 2 three loads of prime beefs from Monticau county, Mo., established a new price record on the St. Louis market by selling at $10.70 per hundredweight. The same feeder had previously sold a load of 1822 pound steers at 10 cents per pound, or $182.

20 per head before so high a price per head was realized on any year. The record price of $10.70 per hundredweight for the Chicago market of September 11 must be considered near equal to 1700 pound steers that were sold for $10.25 to $10.50 per hundredweight. A load of 1519 pound steers was shipped from O. Holtin and sold on the St. Louis market for $5.248. Missouri easily compares the greatest cattle feeders in the union.

PIG TAILS

Composed by C. Paul, a characteristic and extremely clever march and two step. This is a very interesting composition for the piano. Easy and very pretty. Inspiring and irresistible. If you are a piano player a copy of this march will afford you a grand deal of pleasure. It is gotten up with a very attractive title page. The regular retail price of this march is 50c a copy. Our readers can procure a copy by sending 15c in postage stamps to the Globe Music Co., 1133 Broadway, New York. (Advertisement.)