You are not much in favor of the improvement of roads unless you are willing to do something to push it along. You must "show your faith by your works"—cheap, hot air won't make roads.

MR. VOTER, it's going to be put up to you to show your colors on the good roads proposition. Do you want to see all the other hundred and thirteen counties in Missouri enjoying the blessings of good roads before you are willing to help your own county make these valuable and inestimable improvements?

The Dexter Statesman has entered upon its seventh year and is certainly taking care of itself superlatively for a youngster of its age. Bro. Crowe, who wields the versatile pen in its sanctum, has enlarged it to a 5-column quarto and all printed at home—nicely, too. Well written and has a remunerative advertising patronage, and why shouldn't it grow and live on in prosperity? This is our candid wish, anyway.

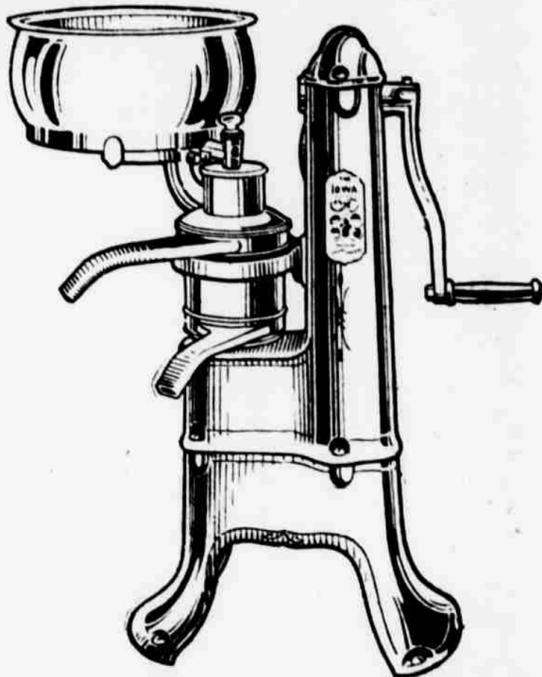

Let's all line up now and get ready to work and vote for the good roads proposition and quit wasting our money on bad roads. Adopt the bond system and we can get money enough together to make good roads, and all the time we are paying for them we can be enjoying the benefits that good roads bring—and at the same time get in line with the public spirit that is sweeping over the state and put OUR county on the map.

THE MARBLE HILL PRESS had a birthday anniversary last week. It is improper to discuss the age of ladies in print, so we will say that while the girl fusses up to being anything but a spring chicken, she is such a lively one that you'd suspect she was "Just sweet sixteen," like her lively young editor, Dean B. Hill. Well, anyway here's a health to her and to him, and may they live yet many years "the-gither."—Dexter Statesman. Thank you, Bro. Crowe, for the compliment and your good wishes and we trust it is deserving. We also thank you for the kindly words in regard to our absence from the meeting of the association at De Soto, which we assure you was quite a sacrifice.
