

DOCTORS DON'T DENY IT.

The frank testimony of a famous physician.

When Dr. Ayer announced his Sarsaparilla to the world, he at once found the physicians his friends. Such a remedy was what they had looked for, and they were prompt to appreciate its merits and prescribe it. Perhaps no medicine known as a patent medicine is so generally administered and prescribed by physicians as Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla for blood diseases, and diseases of the skin that indicate a tainted condition of the blood. Experience has proved it to be a specific in such diseases, and cures of long standing, old ulcers, chronic rheumatism, and many other like forms of disease have yielded to the persevering use of Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla after other medicines had utterly failed. The testimonials received from physicians to the value of this remedy would fill a volume. Here is one leaf signed by Rich'd M. Lawrence, M. D., Baltimore, Md.

"It affords me pleasure to bear testimony to the success which your preparation of Sarsaparilla has had in the treatment of cutaneous and other diseases arising from a vitiated condition of the blood. Were it necessary, I might give you the names of at least fifty individuals who have been cured of long-standing complaints simply by the administration of Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla. One very remarkable instance was that of a quite old woman who had lived at Catonsville, near this city. She had been afflicted with the rheumatism for three years, and had taken as she had informed me, more than one hundred dollars' worth of medicine to obtain relief, yet without any beneficial result. I advised her to try a bottle of Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla and told her that if it failed to do her good, I would refund the money. A short time afterward, I learned that it had cured her, and a neighbor of hers similarly afflicted was also entirely relieved of his complaint by its use. This is the universal result of the administration of your Sarsaparilla. It is without exception, the best blood purifier with which I am acquainted."

There is no other similar medicine can show a similar record. Others have imitated the remedy. They can't imitate the record. Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has the friendship of the physician and the favor of the family, because it cures. It fulfills all promises made for it. It has healed thousands of people of the most malignant diseases that can mutilate mankind. Nothing has ever succeeded it and nothing ever will until a medicine is made that can show a record of cures greater in number and equal in wonder to those wrought by Dr. Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Dr. Ayer's Curebook, a story of cures told by the cure, is sent free on request by the J. C. Ayer Company, Lowell, Mass. Write for it.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS ABOUT "CHANGE OF LIFE."

Women are Urged to Prepare for This Wonderful Revolution in the Economy of Their Life Blood.—Mrs. Watson Tells How She Was Helped.

At no time is woman more liable to physical and mental dangers than at the "Turn of Life." The great want in woman's system is ability to properly adjust itself to the new conditions. The outlet, monthly, of blood is now being diminished and carried into the body for the supply food of its later years. Daughters, you can now to some extent repay your mother's early care. She must be spared every possible exertion. You must help her bear her burdens and anxieties. This critical time safely over, she will return to renewed health and happiness. That so many women fail to anticipate this change thus happily, is owing not merely to lack of care, but to ignorance. There is, however, no excuse for ignorance when experienced advice can be yours free of all cost. Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., she has helped great numbers of women successfully through the Change of Life, and she will help you. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best tonic for uterine changes. It works harmoniously upon all these overwrought organs, invigorates the body and drives off the blues.

Read this letter from Mrs. DELLA WATSON, 524 West 5th St., Cincinnati, Ohio.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have been using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for some time during the change of life, and it has been a savior of life unto me. I can cheerfully recommend your medicine to all women, and I know it will give permanent relief. I would be glad to relate my experience to any sufferer."

AGRICULTURAL HINTS

SHOULD WORK TOGETHER.

Roads Agitation of the L. A. W. Is by No Means Antagonistic to the Farmers' Interests.

Otto Dörner, of Milwaukee, Wis., who is at the head of the League of American Wheelmen in its work for better roads, delivered an address at the national assembly of that organization, held at St. Louis recently, which will prove of much interest to farmers all over the United States. He spoke on the attitude of his organization towards the farmers, and a telegraphic report of his address appeared in a large number of papers throughout the country. The interesting character of Mr. Dörner's remarks appears from the editorial comment made thereon by the Philadelphia Enquirer, which writes as follows:

"The address of Mr. Otto Dörner is being widely commented upon, especially by the western press, as giving the farmers a better understanding of what the league has been striving for in the way of road improvements. Mr. Dörner showed clearly that the league had no intention of antagonizing the farmer and of making him bear the entire cost of such improvements. In fact, it was distinctly asserted that it was the plan of the advocates of road reform to make the cities bear their just share of constructing and maintaining the highways, which are factors in their prosperity. The aim is to co-operate with the farmer in the work of improving his facilities for getting his products to market."

That our readers may fully understand the aims of the L. A. W., as outlined by Mr. Dörner, we print a portion of his address:

"Farmers have been skeptical about the good roads agitation conducted by the L. A. W., and with reason. The farmers constitute but a fraction of the population, yet they have to build roads for all of us to use. They have struggled along at the roads, doing the best they could in their own peculiar way, and when the city people and wheelmen began to contend that the country roads should be radically improved farmers have very naturally been led to believe that their burden of responsibility was to be increased and that their road taxes were to be multiplied, while the extent and character of the proposed improvements was to be dictated to them. They have felt it unjust that they alone should be expected to grid-iron the United States with stone roads at their own expense, while the construction of canals has been heavily subsidized, while rivers have been made navigable by the government, and while untold millions have been showered upon railroads by cities, villages, counties, states and the nation in stock and bonds, subscriptions, cash donations and grants of boundless tracts of public lands. This sense of injustice has been at the root of the farmers' skepticism of the good roads movement."

"But it is not the purpose of the League of American Wheelmen to have the farmer bear the cost of road improvement and to take its control out of the farmers' hands. We believe that the farmer should have a great deal, yes, nearly everything, to say upon the subject. We believe that the cities should stand their share of the cost of good roads. This is the purpose of our efforts for state aid. Our aim is to see a liberal share of the expense paid out of the state tax, a large part of which would be paid by the large corporations and wealthy capitalists, all of whom will be benefited by good roads, both directly and indirectly. Proper supervision should be established to prevent a waste of road improvement funds."

"Every dollar spent must be made to produce a dollar's worth of improvement. The roads first to be improved are those leading from the farm to the market and the railway stations, the roads over which the farmer hauls his produce, and by the improvement of which millions upon millions of dollars can be saved each year. This must not be forced upon him; the farmer himself must be given the initiative and must determine what improvements shall be made."

"Laws for road improvement must be permissive in their nature, not mandatory. This is the system of state aid which is so popular with New Jersey farmers and which it is our policy to introduce in other states."

"Far from intending to antagonize the farmer, we are endeavoring to help him. We want to help him to get out of the mud, and want to help him to avoid shouldering an unjust burden of taxes in getting out. Any policy of road improvement which is not in the farmers' interest is not our policy. We do not propose to see roads built at the farmers' expense for the benefit of the cities or of the wheelmen, and any man or body of men seeking to establish such a policy, whether they be real estate companies, bicycle clubs, or any others, will find us in opposition, standing shoulder to shoulder with the farmers. Our aims and purposes are now coming to be better understood. The past year has shown the agricultural societies and farmers' institutes seconding the work of the league in the legislatures of eight different states. The Farmers' National congress and other agricultural bodies have passed resolutions commending our good roads work. The movement for state aid has become familiar to them in their discussions, and has won their hearty approval. Another year or two will see the passage of state aid laws in many states in response to the united demand of the League of American Wheelmen and the farmer organizations."

A GOOD COW STALL.

Hundreds Like It Are Now in Daily Use, and Successfully, Too, All Over the Country.

This stall is not only in use at Maple Valley farm, but also in hundreds of dairy farms all over the United States, with testimonies of their wonderful success in giving comfort and cleanliness to cows confined in them. The construction is simple, cheap and practical, as will be seen from the description below:

The floor can be constructed in any form that may suit the builder—clay, cement or plank—with a fall of about two inches in the whole length of platform, which is six feet six inches. Two three by three stringers are placed on top of platform 18 inches apart from out to out and toe-nailed fast. An inch board 17 inches wide is nailed on top and the flange board in front of cow fits in a rabbit of one inch to make waterproof. The five-foot top by four post is toenailed at point in corner of manger.

Beginning at the top a board six inches wide is nailed on and following down with three-inch lath at closer intervals. If a shorter cow is to be stalled these lath should be placed on the side next to the cow, and if a heifer sometimes moved even farther than the four inches toward the gutter. This feature is the chief principle of success in keeping cattle clean, to fence back to the manure ditch.

The opening at B, 18 inches wide, is where silage is thrown in, also grain, which passes down in manger. Hay, fodder or any roughage is thrown in at same opening, but lodges against the lath, and is drawn through the openings between lath by the cattle.

The stalls are three feet three inches wide and partitions three feet six inches long from post to post, and four feet high. The cow is tied by any kind of chain or strap to center of stall 18 inches above manger. The ditch is 16 inches wide and nine inches deep and completely waterproof, and platform made of inch oak made double, with joints broken so they are wind and water-proof. The height of the manger is about ten inches and allows the cow full liberty to lie down and get up without moving from where standing, and perfect freedom with her head while lying down.

Without hesitation we can say that this stall is the most human one we have ever seen and by far the most cleanly we have yet seen in all our travels. It is so far superior to the stanchion that we are of the opinion that the latter should go either by moral or state legislation, or the owner of it hustled off to his just reward. Let the world move on.—George E. Scott, in National Stockman.

COLORING THE BUTTER.

A Conservative and Apparently Com-mendable View of an Important Dairy Problem.

I have fed cows for a good many years, writes a dairyman. I have used about all the different feeds that have been recommended as good for the cow, and have thus far failed to find any feed or combinations of food that would color butter at all times of year so as to suit our trade. Some breeds, notably the Guernsey, are said to color their butter the right tint the year round. I suppose there are individuals in all strains that will do this, but they are few and far between. I have owned a great many cows, some as good as one can find, but have never owned a half dozen that put color enough in their butter in the winter time, no matter what I fed them. So I have given that up as a failure and laid it away with the feeding-fat-into-milk and the feeding-flavor-into-butter theories. There they lie, triplets and fads. I have never tried flavoring with carrots, as some of our anti-artificial friends suggest and practice, and I don't say that would not have the desired effect, but if there is any wrong in coloring butter outside the cow it looks to me like being equally wrong to have old Brindle color it for me with carrots, and by coloring it ourselves we do not smirch the character of our cows.—Western Ploverman.

The Production of Milk.

L. S. Hardin, in the Jersey Bulletin, says: "Let us follow a mouthful of grass through the cow and see whether we can locate the end of the cow that does the most work. The jaws tear it off and chew it; the stomach and intestines digest it; the ducts then carry it to the heart; that sends it to the lungs and back again to the heart, whence it is driven to the udder, where it is turned into milk. If that is the true history of a bite of grass, it looks as though nine-tenths of the work was done 'for'ard of 'midships,' as they say at sea. What the pelvic arch has to do with all this may be plain enough to the faithful, but it is beyond my comprehension." The fat is put into the milk in the udder—not in the lungs or heart!

Effective Agitation.

Agitation becomes effective only when it arouses a working interest in those agitated.—L. A. W. Bulletin.

Bran, peas and oil meal, equal parts, make a good ration for the cow.
