Mrs. Emma Cooley of Blytheville, Ark., is visiting at the Dr. R. M. Rogers home. She formerly resided here. One of her sons is now a prominent minister and the other holds a responsible position in Blytheville.

J. W. Rrazeal is at Fordland today assisting the new manager of the D. J. Landers Lumber Co. at that place in some of the details of the lumber business, in which J. W. is well versed by reason of his long connection with the business and close attention to the various phases thereof.

Cecil Brazal has charge of the local yard during his absence.

City Marshal Roe Strong received word from Springfield this week of the arrest at that place of a man in whose possession was a quantity of slippers and other merchandise. He claimed he had purchased some of the slippers at a store here, but inquiry revealed that such was not the case. Mr. Strong thinks it probable that they were obtained by some one in a robbery in some town south of here on the Frisco.

A. L. Seal was taken to Springfield yesterday morning for treatment for his knee, which he cut several days ago with a drawing knife. The injury was not considered dangerous and had apparently healed. Complications set in, however, and the condition of the wound became quite serious. He was accompanied by his father, Rev. J. E. Seal, and Dr. J. A. Fuson. The Frisco passenger train waited here 20 minutes for the party.

Mrs. A. J. Grantham was taken to Hartville today in the Jake Hoover auto by Mayor F. H. Riley and City Marshal Roe Strong, accompanied by her husband and daughter, Miss Dora. An insanity charge was preferred against her before County Clerk E. G. Partle and she was given into the custody of Sheriff W. I. Creeer to await the action of the county court. She had become violent, threatening to kill members of the family with a butcher knife.

A Comparison

To what great extent the proper application and use of good Fertilizers is helpful to the soil and responsible for increased yields in wheat is best illustrated by the following taken from figures published by the United States Department of Agriculture. The average yield per acre of wheat in the United States, in comparison with that of Germany, a much older agricultural land, discloses an extraordinary condition here in the United States, which it is well for every planter to know and profit by.

AN AVERAGE YIELD OF WHEAT COVERING A PERIOD OF TEN YEARS:

Germany—28.4 bushels per acre.

United States—14 bushels per acre.

It is a well-known and established fact that German planters began the use of Fertilizers many years ago—before this country was known as an agricultural country; therefore, since their soil has been producing crops so much longer than our soil, it can be readily seen what an important factor the use of proper FERTILIZERS has been to them, thereby producing so much greater yields per acre than are produced in this country. According to the above statistics it can readily be seen that the German planter can make as much money as the United States planter on just one-half the acreage. Therefore, is it not worth while to apply the best and most economical Fertilizers to our land and so produce maximum results at a minimum of effort? YOU CAN DO THIS BY USING
