CYCLONE HITS HOUSE

Alex Kelley's Residence Destroyed Monday Afternoon—Other Damage

The vicinity north of Mansfield was visited by a cyclone Monday afternoon, which completely demolished the residence of Alex Kelley, 5 miles north of town. The building was a story and a half box house and, with the exception of the floor, it is said there is not a whole piece of timber left of the building. The cyclone struck the house at about 3 o'clock. Fortunately, no one was at home at the time. The contents of the house were scattered to the four winds, the clothing of the members of the household being on trees all over the place. The furniture was demolished and widely scattered. All of it has not been located yet. The floor was carried over a high timber and deposited in a wheat field about 300 yards from where the house stood.

As near as we can learn the cyclone's violence was first felt at the W. T. Adell and A. L. Miller farms. Mr. Miller's house was considerably damaged and the smoke house was blown away. Will Hight's barn was also damaged. A barn on John Kennedy's farm was blown down and at Green Thomas' the chicken house was carried away and some chickens with it. His orchard was also badly damaged. Many large trees were uprooted along the cyclone's path and roads were blocked by the falling trees and limbs. We have not heard of any damage beyond the Kelley farm.

Obituary

Henry M. Baker of Ft. Gibson, Okla., was born near Tablequah, Okla., and came to Missouri with his parents when a small child. He lived in Mansfield for some years, afterwards moving to Oklahoma, where he became a member of M. W. A. Camp, No. 12200 of Morris, Okla. He was married to Miss Neva Brentlinger July 26, 1900, in Ft. Smith, Ark., they were blessed with two children, little Fern, who is with the mother, the little boy Harold having passed on four years ago.

After his day's work on Saturday, June 3, he passed from us suddenly and quietly with what the doctor pronounced organic heart failure. He was not a member of any church but he believed the beautiful truths taught by the Master and to live them meant life eternal.

The funeral services were held yesterday afternoon at the Mansfield cemetery under the auspices of the local M. W. A. camp, Rev. Joseph Davis assisting.

In the spirit of the words voiced yesterday by the Order we love to throw over any imperfection the mantle of charity and compassion and voice the good that he loved. —C.

IS EVERY INCH A DEMOCRAT

The Times is not committed to any candidate in the pre-primary canvass. This paper believes in a fair chance for everybody and plenty of publicity for each man's claims. It will not knowingly publish anything that is untrue or unfair. Any one of the many candidates asking for the votes of Missouri Democrats would make an acceptable Governor.

Statements will be made all the way down the preliminary battle line that some folks won't like. The big man will have to rise above insinuations. The victor will come to his own through a vote of fears. No remarks that any one man can make will be able to hold back from nomination the man Missouri Democrats yearn to have over them. —Columbia Daily Times.

LOCAL DRUG STORE MAKES BIG DEAL

Secures Agency for Hays' Specific

Announcement is made that The Fuson Drug Co., of Mansfield, has succeeded in "landing" the local agency for Hays' Specific, the great system tonic, which is so genuinely beneficial as a remedy for rheumatism that J. T. Jones, of Crossland, Ky., says:

To any one suffering from Sciatica, I will say I was afflicted with it for about three months. I tried half a dozen remedies and got no relief. My family physician could not benefit me and said I might not be able to walk in twelve months. I could not sit down to eat, nor walk. I took one bottle of Hays' Specific and went to plowing. I have never been bothered with it since. No one can estimate its value for chronic sciatica. My neighbors said it would return, but it has been two years and I have no symptoms of it.

Hays' Specific, the great system tonic, is sold and fully guaranteed by Fuson Drug Co., of Mansfield. —Adv.

Low Fuel Consumption Big Factor in Order for 27 Automobiles

The Maxwell Motor Company closed a contract last week with the municipal government of Kansas City for twenty-seven new motor cars. The order was placed by William C. Weaver, purchasing agent for Kansas City, after he had made an investigation extending over a field of cars of various makes. He found the Maxwell best adapted to the needs of the exacting municipal service, because of its durability its dependability and its great economy in operation.

Another factor that entered into the closing of the contract was the prompt delivery guaranteed by the Maxwell Company. A promise was made that the cars would all be turned over in three days and this promise was fulfilled to the letter.

In the consignment are twenty-one runabouts and a touring car, the remainder being chassis for special commercial bodies.

The growing popularity of the Maxwell chassis in the commercial field was another element that entered into the transaction. These chassis are delivered all ready for the tops to be fitted on. There is no extra wiring or adjusting to be done. The tops may be made according to the specifications and requirements of the owner. Many merchants are finding this a most convenient method of purchasing cars for delivery purposes.

Last year, Kansas City used a number of motor cars of a make other than Maxwell in its municipal service. For several months Mr. Weaver, the city's purchasing agent, has been keeping a close tab on gasoline consumption and he knows a good deal of what the Maxwell can accomplish along this very important line. He wisely concluded that the use of Maxwell cars for the city service would cut down the municipal gasoline bill to an appreciable degree.
