OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS

WILSON WON BY 568,824

Complete official returns on the Presidential election show that Mr. Wilson received $9,116,296 votes and Mr. Hughes 8,547,474, a plurality of 568,822 for Mr. Wilson. In 1912 Wilson (Dem.) received 6,297,099; Taft (Rep.) 3,846,399; Roosevelt (Prog.) 4,125,959.

The vote of Mr. Benson, Socialist candidate for President, was 750,000, with eight missing States estimated, against 901,873 for Debs (Soc.) in 1912, and that for Mr. Hanly, Prohibitionist candidate, was 225,101, against 207,928 for Chafin (Pro.) in 1912.

The total popular vote for the four candidates was 18,638,871, as against 15,945,322 in 1912. This is an increase of 3,593,549, accounted for by the increased population and the women vote in the new suffrage States. The following is a table showing the vote by States for Wilson and Hughes:

MEN LIVED IN FLORIDA 300,000 YEARS AGO, SO SCIENTISTS SAY. New York, Dec. 29.—Sharp differences developed at the session of the Anthropologists in the American Museum of Natural History over the estimated age of human remains discovered at Vero, Florida. Dr. O. B. May of the Carnegie Institute of Washington maintained that the remains were at least 300,000 years old, and that men had existed on this continent that long ago. Dr. A. H. Ericka, supported by Dr. George Grant McCurdy of Yale, contended that the remains were not more than 125,000 years old.

"The bones were found in deposits filled with the remains of extinct animals," Dr. Hay told the anthropologists, "and those animals included three species of extinct horses, camels, elephants and mastodons, and a ground sloth as large as an elephant. The question is as to how the human remains got there. Some anthropologists say that they were washed into the older strata. I insist that the men whose remains were found, lived when the animals did, and that they belong to the first half of the pleistocene period which would make them at least 300,000 years old. In this I differ radically from Prof. Hrdlicka."

Bad Habits. Those who breakfast at eight o'clock or later, lunch at twelve and dine at six are almost certain to be troubled with indigestion. They do not allow time for one meal to digest before taking another. Not less than five hours should elapse between meals. If you are troubled with indigestion correct your habits and take Chamberlain's Tablets, and you may reasonably hope for a quick recovery. These tablets strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere. (adv.)
