the national joy smoke

Copyright 1919 by R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co.

Topsy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half-pound tin humidors—and that classy, practical pound crystal glass humidior with sponge moisture cap that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

Put a pipe in your face that's filled cheerily brimful of Prince Albert, if you're on the trail of smoke peace! For, P. A. will sing you a song of tobacco joy that will make you wish your life job was to see how much of the national joy smoke you could get away with every twenty-four hours!

You can "carry on" with Prince Albert through thick and thin. You'll be after-laying down a smoke barrage that'll make the boys think of the old front line in France!

P. A. never tires your taste because it has the quality! And, let it slip into your think-tank that P. A. is made by our exclusive patented process that cuts out bite and parch—assurance that you can hit smoke-record-high-spots seven days out of every week without any comeback but real smoke joy!

DEMOCRATIC POT BREWING

(By A. T. Edmonston.)

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 24.—Jackson Day, January 8, 1920, has, by common consent, been selected as the day for Missouri Democrats to inaugurate the tilling campaign of the ensuing year, which, it is freely predicted by past masters in political affairs of the State and country, will terminate in a tremendous party victory at the general election of next November. All present signs and omens point to a nation-wide clean-sweep then which will equal in magnitude the one of 1912, when the presidency was bestowed on Woodrow Wilson by almost unanimous consent.

Information received here is that State Senator Mark A. McGruder of Sedalia, who was Democratic Floor Leader of the last Senate, will take full advantage of Jackson day to file his official declaration with Secretary of State John L. Sullivan that he will enter the race for the party nomination for Attorney General, having publicly announced at the Jefferson City Democratic love feast and powwow of October 14, last, that he was a candidate. The present incumbent, Attorney General Frank W. McAllister, who has made a splendid high class record for efficiency during the past four years, sometime ago told friends he would not again be a possibility for that position. These same friends are endeavoring to persuade General McAllister to make the race, either for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator or for Governor, declaring that his brilliant achievements while State Senator and Attorney General would crown his efforts with victory regardless into which Democratic arena he tossed his chapeau. So far Senator McGruder has no opposition to the nomination for Attorney General, and it begins to look as if he will have a clear field. Support has been pledged his candidacy, it is said, by every Democratic Senator of the last General Assembly.

Buford to File for Lieutenant Governor.

Friends of State Senator Carter M. Buford of Reynolds county, say he will officially record his declaration on Jackson day that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor. On the day of the big Democratic lovefeast in Jefferson City, Oct. 14, last, Senator Buford made the discovery that he had many friends who were anxious to see him become active for that berth. This host then announced they would solidly support him if he entered that derby. Since then Senator Buford has stated he would make the race, an announcement which will be consummated the moment he files his official entry with Secretary of State Sullivan, Jan. 8, next.

United States Senatorship the Big Derby Event.

And now comes the chief feature of the big Democratic derby of the first Tuesday in August, the state-wide primary. The entries on the winter-book are numerous and each possibility has an army of friends who stand ready. The moment of official declarations are transcribed on the records of the office of Secretary of State Sullivan, to help the Democrat each espouse to come down the home stretch at the head of the field, and to bring home the bacon. While Governor Frederick D. Gardner has several times proclaimed he is not a senatorial candidate, enthusiastic friends all over the State are preparing to draft him for the big nomination.

With the friends of Congressman Champ Clark working hard to land him at the head of the 1920 Democratic National ticket as the unanimous party choice for President it is generally believed that he will not consent to even consider entering the contest for the Missouri senatorial nomination.

Since that big St. Louis day it has come to pass and be a certainty that Breckenridge Long of St. Louis, now Assistant Secretary of State at Washington, and the well known Democratic dry leader, Charles M. Hay, of Callaway and Wayne counties and St. Louis, would both enter the senatorial contest as aspiring candidates.

That Attorney General McAllister has friends who would like to see him tilt as a Democratic gladiator for senatorial honors has already been mentioned. Then there is Judge Daniel G. Taylor of St. Louis, who, two months ago, was tendered by Gov. Gardner one of the vacancies which then existed on the State Supreme Court bench, but graciously declined the honor. Few lawyers of Missouri are as well and favorably known as Judge Taylor. His friends are, however, firm in the declaration that he would have to be drafted before he would get into the running, and, even then, he would not allow his name to be used if Governor Gardner is persuaded to once more put aside all business and other personal interests and consent to head the State ticket as the Democratic nominee for United States Senator.

The big achievement of Gov. Gardner in wiping out, during three years of his administration, a $2,000,000 State deficit of many years' standing, and once more placing Missouri on a sound financial basis, with all debts paid and a clear balance to the good of over $500,000 in the general revenue fund in early December, 1919, is the coup d'etat, his friends declare, for which Missouri Democracy ought to rally to his support against his protests that he is not an aspirant for the senatorial nomination, and tender it to him unanimously. Other huge efficiency accomplishments of Governor Gardner since January 1, 1917, are too numerous to be reviewed in limited space.

No Great Act of Heroism Required. If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from croup, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indications of croup appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual. Obtainable everywhere. Adv.

CLUB MEMBERS TO BE ENTERTAINED AT COLUMBIA FARMERS' WEEK

The whole family is invited and expected to attend Farmers' Week at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, Columbia, January 19-23, 1920. Members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs will find a full-time program of instruction and entertainment laid out for them. Time will not hang heavily on their hands, neither will the children hang heavily on their parents. There are programs on all lines for everybody. No one can expect to attend every demonstration and hear every lecture. There are nine courses besides the boys' and girls' program, and all run simultaneously. The only meetings at which all can be together without missing something somewhere else are the evening meetings arranged by the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, and the annual Banquet Friday evening given by the University.

Two programs, one for the boys and one for the girls, are provided for the first two days of Farmers' Week. After that, the boys and girls meet together for identical instruction. On the first day, for the boys there will be demonstrations in judging grain, live stock and poultry, and a stock-judging contest. For the girls there will be demonstrations in baking, dyeing, poultry, and home economics. On the following day the girls will have contests in sewing and baking. The boys will have contests and demonstrations. All meet together in the evening for their annual good time known as stunt night. Children who are interested in the farm and its possibilities will welcome a chance to accompany their parents to Columbia for Farmers' Week.

The Best Cough Medicine

When a druggist finds that his customers speak well of a certain preparation, he forms a good opinion of it and when in need of such a medicine is almost certain to use it himself and in his family. This is why so many druggists use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. J. B. Jones, a well known druggist of Cubrun, Ky., says, "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for the past seven years, and have found it to be the best cough medicine I have ever known." Obtainable everywhere. Ad.

LIMESTONE GRINDING TO BE DEMONSTRATED FARMERS' WEEK

Most soils in regions having sufficient rainfall for crop production are lacking in lime. This is due to the fact that lime washes out of soils. Missouri is no exception to this general rule and over two-thirds of the Missouri soils that have been sampled and tested are found to be sour. The only practical method of correcting sour soils is by the use of lime in some form. This requires heavy applications varying from one to five or six tons per acre. The amount needed on each soil can be determined by tests in use at the experiment stations, a service which is free of charge. Before sending in a sample for test, however, directions for sampling should be secured from your experiment station.

There is as present a large and increasing interest in the use of lime, which for Missouri is used in the form of ground limestone. It is a very heavy material to haul, however, and many farms having limestone ledges can best be treated by grinding this stone right on the farm. In view of the interest in this subject it has been arranged to grind limestone as a demonstration on Tuesday of Farmers' Week, at the University of Missouri College of Agriculture, January 19-23. One of the standard limestone grinding machines will be in use and limestone spreaders will be exhibited.
