

LIQUOR QUESTION TO BE REOPENED

CLUBS ASK REHEARING ON RECENT RULING OF SUPREME COURT.

MUST TAKE OUT LICENSES

St. Louis Social Organizations Will Fight Case—Claim Right to Sell Liquor Unless Specially Legislated Against.

Jefferson City. The St. Louis club and the Missouri Athletic club, the charters of which were revoked by order of the supreme court for selling liquor without a license, have filed motion for a rehearing of the issues in the case.

Attorneys for the clubs set out in their petition that the question decided by the court in its opinion of how far the right to sell liquor had been granted by the legislature is not the real question and that the issue which the courts must decide is how far the right has been taken away. The petition further declares that under the common law the right to sell liquor was recognized unless restricted by legislation.

The decision of the court made it compulsory for all clubs selling liquor to get dramshop licenses and observe the excise laws.

All Amendments Lost.

At the recent election Tuesday every one of the 15 constitutional amendments were lost by overwhelming majorities. No. 13 carried in one ward of the city of St. Louis and in Jasper county by 500 majority. It probably carried in a few other localities, but the total vote will show a very heavy majority against it. Mrs. Walter McNab Miller and other Missouri women who are backing equal suffrage as they will be in Jefferson City next January and ask the legislature to resubmit the same amendment, and if the lawmakers refuse to do so, then they will again have recourse to the initiative and referendum.

Missouri State Farm.

Gov. Major's proposal for a big penitentiary truck farm across the Mississippi river in Callaway county, to give employment to unfortunate convicts who will be thrown out of jobs and cast upon the cold world (with restrictions) when the factory contracts inside the walls expire, seems to be meeting with favor. The outdoor life should appeal to the prisoners, and no doubt it will help to make them better men. In some states the men are placed entirely on their honor, and the system works well.

New Mandate in Cole Case.

John Jackson Cole of St. Louis, whose appeal from a sentence of one year in jail was dismissed in the supreme court here April 1, must serve the sentence or his bond of $2,000 will be forfeited. He was convicted of assault with intent to kill.

A mandate was sent by the clerk of the supreme court to Circuit Clerk Wolf of St. Louis county, showing the dismissal of the Cole appeal. The mandate was marked "duplicate" in red ink. Wolf and his attaches said they had never seen the original copy.

Governors to Meet.

Gov. Eberhart of Minnesota, chairman of the committee appointed by the National Conference of Governors of States to adopt a plan for the development of commercial inland waterways and terminal points on the Mississippi river, has written Gov. Major, asking him to suggest a city and date for a meeting of the committee.

Gov. Major has suggested that the meeting of the committee be held in St. Louis either Nov. 30 or Dec. 1.

Governors of all of the states bordering on the Mississippi river are members of the committee.

War Won't Hurt Fair.

Charles C. Moore of San Francisco, president of the Panama-Pacific International exposition, in a telegram to Gov. Major, urges the latter to take active steps to impress upon the people of Missouri that the exposition will open at the appointed time.

He says the loss of exhibits through the war will be negligible; that the exposition will be opened on schedule time and that it will be 100 per cent complete when opened.

Governor Appoints Officer.

Gov. Major has commissioned Knight R. Culver as captain of Company G, First regiment, National Guard of Missouri.

Democrats Happy.

A general atmosphere of optimism seems to prevail throughout all the state offices here. Missouri Democracy is satisfied with the result of the recent election, though perhaps in a few instances it has received a slight setback.

Clark's Expenses.

Champ Clark filed his campaign expense account with Secretary of State Roach, under the corrupt practices act. His statement shows that he spent $453 to be re-elected to congress.

European War Creates Demand.

More prosperity is ahead for Missouri—still more than the large share it has been enjoying for 40 years while forging to the front as a manufacturing state, predicts the bureau of labor statistics, based on information this state department has received from various sources. Resumption, on a scale larger than ever, of exportation from New York of manufactured goods to European countries, and the fact that the nations at war with one another are purchasing by wholesale and ordering large quantities of war supplies all over the United States, is causing a great deal of activity among Missouri manufacturers, many of whom are arranging to increase their forces and work double shifts to meet this increased foreign demand. Army boots and shoes, clothing, overcoats and overalls, saddle trees, army wagons, wooden stirrups, cooking utensils, harness, tents, folding furniture and cots, commercial lead and spelter, powder and dynamite, drugs and chemicals, canned meats and vegetables, intended for England, France, Germany, Belgium, Austria, Holland and Japan, will soon be leaving Missouri in carload lots, to go out by way of Canadian ports, or New York, Boston, Baltimore, New Orleans and Galveston.

Information from New York is that exports increased $12,000,000 in the last 28 days, due chiefly to the demand of Europe for large quantities of the war supplies already enumerated being shipped out. From Texas comes word that factories to manufacture cotton cloth and goods are being started to consume the huge annual cotton crop of that state. Much of this machinery is to be purchased in Missouri. The news that England, France and Germany will allow cotton to leave this country unmolested was heartily welcomed not alone by the cotton growers of southeast Missouri, but also by those of Arkansas, Tennessee, Alabama, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Texas, who purchase the manufacturers' goods they need in Missouri.

To Fight Hog Cholera.

The college of agriculture of the University of Missouri has begun a campaign in Cass county to eradicate hog cholera. This work, which was started last year in Johnson county, is carried on by counties. College experts organize farmers into anti-hog cholera clubs.

The college will keep a specialist in the county as long as any trace of the disease exists.

The college is building a plant for the manufacture of hog cholera serum. Demand for serum from the farmers of the state has increased 30 per cent over that of last year. The plant will be completed Dec. 1. The college during the year sent out 298,619 doses of serum. Between 85 and 90 per cent of the hogs treated were saved, which means a saving of almost $1,500,000.

Missouri Delegation in Congress.

The Missouri delegation in the Sixty-fourth congress will differ in only two particulars from the representation in the present body. The list of successful house members follows:

Capitol Board Meets.

A session of the capitol building commission is in progress here. The commission is going over and completing the details of some features of the changes in the stone contract brought about by a modified agreement with the Gill Construction company.

Although there is no official information obtainable here as to the progress being made at the Superior quarry in Jasper county, near Carthage, and at the Cassville quarry, it is understood that the Gill company has a force of men employed at each place.

Leads in Lead and Zinc.

Missouri leads all the other states in the production of two important metals, lead and zinc, and in the production of two relatively unimportant minerals, barites and tripoli, according to a statement made public by the United States geological survey in co-operation with the Missouri state survey. The state also ranks second in the production of mineral paints.

Installer hosen.

E. D. Allen of St. Louis has been selected by the Missouri commissioners of the Panama-Pacific exposition. He will construct booths, install exhibits and oversee the furnishing of the Missouri building, which will be completed about Dec. 1.

Demurrer Upheld.

Word comes that in the over-charge cases pending against Missouri railroads the circuit court at Marshall has upheld the demurrer filed by the roads. This limits their liabilities to $10,000 instead of $2,000,000.

DEFENDS POPULAR REMEDIES

Speaker Says Newspapers Should Investigate Merits of Medicines Before Barring Advertisements.

That an organized attempt has been made to blacken the reputation of the popular family remedies of this country, and to mislead the newspaper publishers into rejecting the advertising of such medicines, was the charge made by Carl J. Balliett, of Buffalo, N. Y., at the convention of the Advertising Affiliation at Detroit.

Mr. Balliett is a director of the Proprietary Association of America, which includes in its membership two hundred firms which make the popular prepared medicines of America.

Mr. Balliett pointed out that it is the duty of the newspaper publisher to refuse the advertising of any fake or fraudulent medicine, just as it is his duty to refuse any fake or fraudulent advertising, but that he is not right to shut down on all medical advertising because there have been some fakers, any more than it would be right to refuse to publish all department store advertising because certain stores have made a practice of lying about bargain sales.

Disease and death are mysteries. People who are perfectly well are skeptical. They laugh at the time-worn patent medicine joke, just as they laugh again and again over the many variations of the operation joke—"The operation was a success but the patient died." This so-called humor has perhaps hurt the medicine business with well people, but when the hitherto healthy man feels a severe pain or illness, he immediately wants medicine, and will believe the cure whether it be at the hands of a regular doctor, a homeopath, an osteopath, a Christian Scientist or patent medicine. There is nothing more deadly than disease; nothing more honorable than to cure it.

Mr. Balliett refuted the idea sought to be spread about that patent medicines are unpopular by showing that from 1900 to 1912 the amount of prepared medicines consumed in America increased from $100,000,000 to $160,000,000 annually. He showed that, although the American Medical Association is trying as an organization to exterminate so-called patent medicines, the family doctor, individually, is not fighting them but prescribing them. He estimated that 40% of the prescriptions written by doctors today include proprietary medicines.

The writings of Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, he said, have also aimed to destroy confidence in proprietary medicines; but that Dr. Wiley's ideas are not infallible is shown by cases where his analyses were entirely wrong. Mr. Balliett mentioned a case where, with all the power of the Government, he fought a preparation as being dangerous to health, and was ingloriously walloped.

There has been spread the idea that a clever faker can mix a few useless ingredients and, by smart advertising, sell tons of it and win sudden wealth; whereas, as a matter of fact, the medicine business is notoriously difficult, and, where there has been one success at it, there have been a hundred failures. Any medicine which has no merit cannot live, because persons who are duped into buying it once will not buy it again, and the profit from advertising a medicine can only come from repeat sales to the same, satisfied people. Therefore, any medicine which has been on the market for a number of years, and is still advertised, must have merit behind it to account for its success.

In conclusion Mr. Balliett declared that no newspaper is doing justice to its readers in the matter of medical or other advertising, unless it investigates, not only the wording of the advertisement offered for publication, but the merits of the article advertised. He pointed out that the few newspapers who have been deluded into the policy of barring out medical advertising have adopted this general policy, rather than to form an investigation bureau of this kind which could, in a constructive and useful effort, investigate and decide what is a good product and what is a fraud, in not only the medicine business, but in every other business which advertises its wares to the public.

The audience seemed to agree with Mr. Balliett's ideas on the subject and the chairman decided the question at issue in his favor.

William the Modest.

"The German emperor," said Kurt Kieglor, German consul to Denver, "is not at all the conceited, vain-glorious character his enemies make him out to be. He is, on the contrary, as modest as he is intelligent."

"They keynote of his character was given in 1912 in a speech that he made to his beloved Brandenburg regiment."

"No general," he said, in this speech, "is a hero to his valet, nor to himself, either, unless he is a fool."

Unnerved Completely.

"Beef eaters usually have steady nerves, do they not?" "I've always thought so, until fear of a Zeppelin raid doused the lights of London."

It takes a lot of confidence to enable a man to enjoy hash.

It takes a capable wife to yank the conceit out of a man.

Put That Pain to Use

The network of nerves in your body, like the network of wires in a burglar alarm system, gives quick warning when anything is going wrong inside. Looking at it in this way a pain is a useful alarm. Now kidney weakness is a dangerous thing—a condition not to be neglected—and it is wise to know and pay attention to the early alarm signals of sick kidneys.

Backache is a common warning of congestion or inflammation in the kidneys. It may be dull, nagging pain, or a sharp twinge when stooping or lifting. There are likely to be disorders of urination, dizziness, headaches, and drowsy, despondent, tired feelings.

It is very hard to strengthen weak kidneys at first, but neglect invites rheumatic or neuralgic attacks, gravel, dropsy, and fatal Bright's disease.

As a special medicine for weak kidneys Doan's Kidney Pills have been used for years all over the civilized world and surely are considered reliable. The patient can always help the medicine immensely, however, by dieting lightly, using little or no liquor, tea or coffee, keeping regular hours and drinking lots of pure water.

"I can hardly straighten up."

As to Doan's Kidney Pills, read the following enthusiastic endorsement by one who has tested them.

HELPLESS WITH PAIN Colds Made The Trouble Worse

A. C. Sprague, Du Bois, Ill., says: "I have never found anything equal to Doan's Kidney Pills in curing kidney ailments and I recommend them wherever I go. Two years ago I had a bad case of kidney complaint and I suffered awfully from rheumatic pains. For a long time my condition was so bad that I was helpless and I couldn't feed myself. The least cold I caught settled on my kidneys, causing a heavy, dull ache in the small of my back which made me miserable day and night. The kidney secretions were highly colored and contained sediment that looked like brick-dust. The passages were irregular and too frequent, also. When I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills I began taking them as directed and got relief from the first. Two boxes entirely cured me and I haven't had a sign of kidney trouble since. I have always been grateful to Doan's Kidney Pills for the cure they gave me."

SOME TERRIBLE WAR BILLS

That of the United States Government Heads the List in Point of Size.

The wars of Napoleon in 13 years cost France $1,000,000,000, writes Wendell Phillips Dodge in Leslie's. Our Civil war expenditure of the federal government was $3,400,000,000, nearly thirteen times as much as a year as Napoleon's. The Franco-German war cost France $1,580,000,000, besides an added war indemnity of $1,000,000,000. This same great war, which lasted only 190 days, cost Germany $450,000,000 for an average fighting force of 1,250,000 men. The other big European war of the past half century, the Russo-Turkish war, cost Russia $786,100,000, but she had two years' fighting for her money. The war in the far East cost Japan $650,000,000 and Russia $723,000,000, not counting lost ships. Only toward the end had either side anything like a million men in the field. Italy's little war with Turkey cost $400,000 a day, allowing for a mere 60,000 fighting men; and the Boer war, in which England's army averaged 200,000, cost $1,055,000,000 in two and a half years.

Mighty Handy.

Some negroes are insatiable "liners," and their favorite organizations are those which assure an ostentatious funeral.

A mistress was remonstrating with her servant about belonging to one of them.

"Bonnibel, don't you think it is mighty foolish to pay the 'Friends and True Mourners' society' twenty-five cents every month?" "Now, miss Ma'y, I don't. You see, dee ain't like some of de 'cieties; dee acts liberal, and don't skimp on nothin'. Dee gives you de finest kind of coffin, en makes a way for ev'rybody to git to your burial. En den, 'sides dat, dee gives you thirty dollars at the grave, en you know thirty dollars comes in mighty handy."

Guilty.

The justice of the peace in a town in Ohio, in pursuance of his duties, had to hear and judge cases that were brought before him and also to perform occasional marriage ceremonies. He found it difficult to dissociate the various functions of his office.

Everything had gone smoothly until he asked one bride: "Do you take this man to be your husband?" The bride nodded emphatically.

"And you, accused," said the justice, turning to the bridegroom, "what have you to say in your defense?"
