AGUINALDO says, on hearing from Kentucky, that the American people are evidently incapable of self-government.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY refuses to send troops to Kentucky at the call of Mr. Taylor. When the Legislature asks for troops, President McKinley will respond. This will not be satisfactory to Mr. Taylor.

HOW CHAMP CLARK has just secured a pension for William E. Starns, of Louisville, Lincoln county, Mo., which gives him $4800 cash in one batch. Clark is always doing something to bring money into the district.

THE citizens of Mexico should arrange for the streets in the business portion of the city paved with brick. Mr. Peck is working hard to build a mile of rock road west of the city and we want the streets around the business part of Mexico to be paved with brick by the time we get rock roads in the country.

THE statement that County Assessors are not eligible for re-election after having served one term was erroneous. That law was repealed more than a year ago, as the position was taken that the people should have a right to re-elect an Assessor. The office of Assessor being a very important one, it was thought that the experience of one term made a man better qualified for the place.

REPUBLICAN newspapers in asking for free white paper and free wood pulp should not forget that their subscribers are suffering from high tariffs as well as themselves. In 1897 the average "base price" of wire nails in New York and Chicago was $1.46 per keg; in 1898, $1.45, and in 1899, $2.01. Barbed wire prices in 1897 were $1.80; in 1898, $1.85, and in 1899, under the manipulations of the trust, $9.37. There are 20 plants in the trust, valued at the most generous assessment at $40,000,000, leaving of the entire capitalization the sum of more than $60,000,000 of water! If this isn't a monopoly can anything in these United States be construed as such?

DR. J. J. PORTER, pastor of the Baptist Church, on Sunday night preached on "Who Knows What Christ Would Do If He Were Here? Would He Edit a Newspaper?" Dr. Porter took the position if Christ was on earth to-day he would do much as he did when on earth before, and that he would keep out of politics and would not edit a party paper. Dr. Porter said that the newspapers are all right in their place and that all depended upon the kind of a man who edited them. The better the editor the better the paper; the more moral the editor the more moral the paper; the more Christian the editor the more Christian-like the paper.

REPUBLICAN leaders in Washington think that Gov. Taylor, of Kentucky, makes a great mistake in defying the courts, even if they are partisan and certain to decide against him, as he claims. "He has the right of appeal, and the Supreme Court of Kentucky, which consists of four Democrats and three Republicans, decided one case in his favor early in the campaign; and even if he is not satisfied with its judgment, he can take an appeal to the United States Court, and thus exhaust all legal remedies. From a political standpoint, they think Taylor is making a mistake, because Beckham, the absentminded Governor, can only serve until the November election, when Taylor has a chance again to go before the people. The law of Kentucky provides that the Governor shall serve four years, but if he dies or resigns the Lieutenant Governor can only serve in his place until the next general election.

AN ERRONEOUS STATEMENT. Both Synods of the Missouri Presbyterian Church, North and South, are working for an endowed Bible professorship at the State University and to be under Presbyterian control. There are over 150 Presbyterian churches enrolled at the University.—Kansas City Star.

AS we understand the matter the above statement is erroneous in toto. The Presbyterians of Missouri all have an abiding interest in Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., which is one of the most thorough colleges in this country. This institution is a prosperous condition and its future is brighter than it has been since its foundation. Quite a number of active Presbyterians of wealth are becoming interested in this school and there is no question but that it will grow rapidly under the present management. Arrangements are being completed now to erect an additional new building which will be a credit to any college of any state. The Presbyterians of Missouri, we feel sure, will combine in their efforts to help Westminster College in every way possible. Every dollar of Presbyterian money donated for education will be expended on Presbyterian schools. The State of Missouri is simply able to take care of the University without any assistance from denominations. There is every reason why every Presbyterian should be proud of Westminster College and give that institution his cordial and hearty support. The standard of scholarship is of the best; the faculty is composed of eminent scholars, peculiarly fitted for the chairs they fill. The President of the institution is able, active and earnest. He is a young man of vigor and ambition, a man who knows no such word as fail. Since he has been connected with the college he has received cordial and substantial encouragement from every direction and feels very confident of the future. There is every reason why every Presbyterian should at this time rally to the support of grand old Westminster College.

FRANK CALDWAY Must Hang. The Supreme Court, in a very strong language, on Tuesday affirmed the decision of the Criminal Court in the case of Frank Caldwell, who is under sentence of death for the killing of his wife in St. Louis. The execution is set for March 12.

BECKHAM SWORN IN.

HE TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE AS GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF KENTUCKY.

GOEBEL'S FUNERAL ON THURSDAY.

Legislature Will Continue Its Meetings at Frankfort and Will Not Be Moved to Louisville or London.—The Death of Goebel.

GOEBEL DIED SATURDAY NIGHT.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—Wm. E. Goebel, the brilliant young Democratic leader who fell fatally wounded by an assassin's bullet Tuesday morning, died in his room, parlor, at the Capital Hotel, of this city, at 9:45 o'clock Saturday night.

Twice was Mr. Goebel sworn in as Governor of Kentucky, and all that was possible was done to save his life so that he might assume his official career, but to no avail. Finally at 9 o'clock to-night there was only one effort for which the physicians were striving, to prolong Mr. Goebel's life until the arrival of his brother, Justin, and his family from Arizona, who were coming as fast as steam could bring them and who were due at 11:30 p. m.

Another brother, Arthur, of Cincinnati, pleaded with the physicians to prolong his brother's life until the absent one could get a glimpse of the living face he had come so far to see, but the answer was only a sad glance and a doubtful shake of the head.

At 12:30 Dr. McCormack announced the patient had not a half an hour to live and requested all telephones to be stopped, as the noise could be plainly heard in the sick room. It had been announced earlier that the last throes of death were visible to the doctors and nurses would leave the sick room to the relatives.

At that time Arthur Goebel and his family were the only relatives present. The stairs and halls were cleared by the guards and all persons requested to repair to the main floor. Here all was excitement and bustle, crowds pouring in and excitedly awaiting the news of the death of their leader.

At 6:45 Dr. Hume emerged from the room and came down stairs. In answer to questions he simply said: "I do not know if Mr. Goebel is dead or alive."

The crowds increased and it was feared trouble would surely follow the announcement of death, as every man was Mr. Goebel's friend. All were warmly armed.

At 7:30 Justin Goebel and his family arrived and were immediately shown to the room of the now dead man. As they entered the hotel a passageway opened to the stairs as if by magic. The physicians and committee of the Democratic Senate and House now saw that it was important no longer withheld the news of Mr. Goebel's death, and at 7:35 the announcement was made from the head of the stairs in the form of an address to the people of the State counseling peace and order.

THE DEATH ANNOUNCED. Senator Goebel's death was announced in the following bulletin, already prepared beforehand, and which was given out after Mr. Goebel passed away. It read:

"To the people of Kentucky:—It is with the most profound sorrow that we announce the death of Governor Goebel. In the last few moments he counseled his friends to keep cool and abide the law in all things. We, his friends and advisers of the people of Kentucky, in this hour of affliction, counsel all citizens to abstain from any resort to mob law. It would be his wish if he were alive that there should be absolutely no stain left on his memory by any imprudent act of any who were his friends. The law is supreme and must stand by re-established and all who wrong it and his party have suffered will find their proper redress.

(Signed) J. O. S. Blackburn, Urey Woodson, J. B. McCrory, James A. Scott, D. W. Bradburn, C. C. McChord, L. H. Carter, Speaker pro tem of the Senate; Wm. B. Fryor, C. N. Lewis, John K. Handrick, L. W. McQuinn, S. J. Shackelford, Speaker Trimble, of the House."

BECKHAM TAKES OATH. No doubt this announcement alone restrained many from open acts of violence, and the crowds began to file out of the hotel and depart for their homes.

Those present in the death chamber were the physicians, nurses, Arthur Goebel and family and one or two intimate friends.

At 8:30 o'clock Clerk of the Court of Appeals Shackelford arrived at the hotel, and at 9:30 administered the oath of office to J. C. W. Beckham, ex-acting Governor of Kentucky, who has pledged himself to remove the fight begun by Mr. Goebel, to the end.

At 10 o'clock Frankfort was never in a more quiet condition, and very few people were in the streets.

THE FUNERAL OF GOEBEL. FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 4.—It has practically been decided that the body of Governor William Goebel will be buried in Frankfort on next Thursday in the cemetery overlooking the Kentucky river, where lie the remains of Daniel Boone, Vice-President Richard Johnson and several Kentucky Governors, eminent jurists and soldiers.

Arthur and Justin Goebel, Senator Joseph Blackburn, Senator S. J. Shackelford, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, and Warden Lillard visited the cemetery to-day with a view of selecting a suitable spot for the last resting place of Gov. Goebel. Though no definite decision was reached, a spot in the vicinity of the immense shaft erected in honor of Kentucky's dead heroes, nearly the highest point in the beautiful cemetery, was favored and probably may be finally selected.

Although the burial will take place in Frankfort, in accordance with the wishes of friends of the dead man, the funeral services will be held in Covington, his home. The body will be taken to Covington to-morrow on a special train, which will leave here about 6 or 7 o'clock.

WILLIAM GOEBEL. 1860—Born in Sullivan county, Pa. 1854—Removed to Covington, Ky. 1878—Took up the study of law.

1880—Law partnership with John G. Carlisle.

1887—Made his first political campaign and was elected to the Kentucky Senate. 1888—In the State Senate. 1890—Shot and killed John Sanford. 1890, June 27—Democratic nominee for Governor. 1891, July 12—Bryans comes out for Goebel. 1891, Nov. 7—Defeated for Governor on the face of the returns. 1900, Jan. 30—Shot by an assassin. 1900, Jan. 31—Declared elected Governor by the Legislature, and took oath of office. 1900, Feb. 3—Died at 4:45 p. m. BECKHAM A YOUNG MAN.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—J. C. W. Beckham, who was sworn in as Democratic Governor of Kentucky to-night, is a young man, having been born in 1869, at Bardonia, Ky. His father was William M. Beckham and his mother Julia T. Wickliffe, daughter of Governor Wickliffe, former Chief Executive of this State. His earliest education was received in a private school in Bardonia.

In the Legislature session of 1881 and 1882 he acted as a page in the House of Representatives. In January, 1883, he was elected to the College, College, Va., graduating in 1888.

Immediately after leaving college he began the study of law, which he pursued in this direction, acted as principal in the Bardonia high school for two years. In 1890, he began the practice of law on his own account in Bardonia.

He was elected a member of the Kentucky State Representative in 1893. He declined to be a candidate at the next term, but the representative who was elected in his stead, dropped out. Mr. Beckham accepted the position and served the unexpired term.

He was re-elected in 1897 and made Speaker of the House in 1898. In 1899 he was nominated for Lieutenant Governor on the Louisville convention. In person Governor Beckham is of slight physique and of a somewhat nervous disposition, but gifted with exceedingly pleasant manners and is a very popular personality with all who know him.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Feb. 3.—The Court of Appeals of Kentucky, which must finally decide, so far as the State of Kentucky is concerned, the constitutional questions affecting the election of Governor, is composed of seven judges, of whom four are Democrats and three are Republicans. The Republicans are: A. R. Burnham, George Durell and B. L. D. Durell. The Democrats are: J. H. Hazelrigg, Chief Justice; F. R. Poynter, D. White and J. P. Hobson.

On the morning that Gov. Taylor adjourned the General Assembly by proclamation the court was about to begin its daily sitting. A messenger rushed in and announced that a person who was present in authority for the following: Judge Shackelford exclaimed: "That can not be true; Taylor has no authority to do that."

Judge Durell said: "I can not believe that news is so crazy." Judge Duffy concluded that it was "impossible."

When the proclamation was secured and when it was read Chief Justice Hazelrigg adjourned the court for a week, without any expression from the Democratic side. The members of the court will not of course discuss the question, but it was the understanding of the court that they were unanimous in the opinion that Taylor had no constitutional power to adjourn the Legislature.

THE NEWS AT WASHINGTON. WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Without regard to party the death of William Goebel is universally deplored here. His heroic struggle for life after the assassin's bullet laid him low has been watched with admiration, and when the bullet was mortally wound announcing his death, political friends and foes united in expressions of respect and sympathy. The political friends congregated and there was much speculation as to the effect his death would have upon the conflict over the Governorship. The members of the Kentucky delegation in Congress have been generally reticent in expressing their opinion since the tragedy, but to-night all joined in sincerely expressing the death of the Democratic leader.

It was the general opinion of the Democrats that Goebel's death would not in the least change the situation. Republican Newspapers and the Tariff on Paper.

From the Columbia Herald. The fiercest thing in politics just now is the attitude of the Republican press upon the paper trust. For some reason the price of print paper, upon which are printed the newspapers, has increased enormously in the last few months. One cause which is given for this sudden and unprecedented increase in the paper trust is made possible by the protection tariff now in force. The paper trust is formed by the tariff on paper, which is increased enormously in the last few months. THE PAPER TRUST IS BUT ONE OF A THOUSAND. The increase it has brought about by the fostering care of the high tariff is only one of the many advantages of the protection tariff. It has been occasioned by the tariff on paper, which is increased enormously in the last few months. One cause which is given for this sudden and unprecedented increase in the paper trust is made possible by the protection tariff now in force.

DIRT CLEARANCE. It is a good plan for every bath to know something of the soap he uses. There is a well-founded objection to using a floor-clearing soap upon the human body. Ivory Soap is the bath's soap. It costs more than common soaps, but the difference is in the ingredients and making. Why not treat yourself with a little respect. Is not the human skin with its marvellous delicacy entitled to pure soap? Ivory Soap—it floats.

RIG FIRE IN ST. LOUIS.

Loss Over $1,500,000—Five Blocks Were Burned Sunday Morning.

About 9 o'clock Sunday morning fire was discovered in Penny & Gentile's dry goods store in St. Louis. The fire was under good headway before the alarm was given, and although the entire department was completed the loss will amount to about $1,500,000. This is the biggest fire St. Louis has had since 1848, when the fire started from a burning steamer and destroyed a large number of the river craft and some three hundred buildings.

Among the sufferers by Sunday's fire were such well known establishments as D. Crawford & Co., Schaefer Bros., Penny & Gentile, the "Famous," the Fuchs Millinery and Cloth Company, the People's Household and Furnishing Company, Plant Seed Co., Johnson Bros., and a number of smaller stores.

A metropolitan paper covers the fire with the following headlines: Five blocks aflame—The North Broadway retail district swept by fire—The whole fire and police department on the scene—A man killed, several injured and property loss about $1,500,000. The worst conflagration since the historic fire of 1848—Runners of incendiaries led to the arrest of a private watchman—The losses and the insurance—Individual estimates—Nearly the whole fire and police department on the scene—A man killed, several injured and property loss about $1,500,000.

AN AWFUL SACRIFICE.

Elder of a Religious Sect Slays Four Women on an Altar—One Was His Wife.

AMSTERDAM, HOLLAND, Feb. 5.—There was a terrible tragedy yesterday at Apeldoorn as a result of religious fanaticism. At Apeldoorn there is a peculiar sect which decided to offer up a human sacrifice to God. The Elder in charge of the congregation, who suggested the sacrifice, selected two young girls as the victims. Their parents approved and the girls, arrayed in costumes of white, were made ready yesterday for the sacrifice.

The Elder, who is a peasant farmer, decided, as his frenzy grew, that four victims, not two, should be offered upon the altar, but said nothing of who the other two should be. A service of praise and prayer preceded the sacrifice. In this the four victims joined, the two young girls, first, leading in the singing.

Suddenly, when the services were going on, the Elder seized his woman servant, threw her across the altar and nearly decapitated her with a single stroke of a sharp knife. Then he seized the two girls, and they were slaughtered in the same way.

In the meantime the Elder's wife had stood near, praying and crying, concluding that she, too, had been selected as a victim. The rent of the congregation gasped calmly on the butchery.

When the girls were dead, the Elder said that yet another victim was demanded, and seized his wife. She struggled, but only for a moment. She was slowly dragged backward across the altar, and the knife did its work. Then the murderer, as part of the rite, washed his hands in the blood of his victims, and the congregation dispersed.

The police have arrested the murderer and several members of the sect who witnessed and encouraged the sacrifice. $50 SENT FREE.

GREAT POLITICAL TRADE.

Strangest Story of Strange Kentucky Political Situation—Senatorship for Governorship.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 4.—One of the greatest trades known in American political history will be made in Kentucky to-morrow.

A Senatorship will be given in exchange for a Governorship. Upon the death of Goebel, Jo Blackburn became the leader of Kentucky's Democracy. The Democrats now have the privilege of having a Governor for one year and of losing the Senatorship. The Republicans have the privilege of losing their Governor in the Senate and of losing their Governor.

But the Republicans do not wish to avail themselves of this privilege. Possibly some of the Democrats may, but their leader will not let them. Therefore, the conditions will be reversed. Taylor will agree to last night's conference of both sides or to a new one which will be very similar, and Blackburn will instruct the Democratic legislators to unseat Taylor, and Taylor will see that Blackburn goes to Washington.

Thus will Kentucky's crisis end. This programme will mean Democratic victory in the state at the next election.

SITUATION IN KENTUCKY. The St. Louis Republic of Feb. 7th summarizes the situation in Kentucky as follows:

As a result of a conference with his counsel early this morning, Taylor decided that he would ratify to-day the peace treaty arranged by leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties at Louisville Monday.

Yesterday the text of the agreement reached by the Louisville conference was presented to Taylor by three of the Republican signers of the document. Taylor studied it carefully and then announced that he would consult with his attorneys, and that he would not announce his decision until to-day. Consultation between Taylor and his attorneys began last evening, and lasted late into the night.

On the surface there were no indications that the de facto Governor had weakened. He still held the Capitol by armed force. He had countermanded the orders calling more troops to Frankfort. Another indication that he would acquiesce in the proceeding of the conference was his statement to the effect that if he could restore peace, he would not stand in the way.

The Republican legislators held a meeting at London yesterday. Some of Taylor's adherents were absent. There was no quorum, and nothing was accomplished other than the passing of resolutions on Goebel's death. An enormous crowd flocked to Covington to pay tribute to the memory of the assassinated Governor.
