IGNORE 2,000 DEMOCRATS.

Their Demand for a Primary in Lafayette County Not Granted.

HIGHVILLE, Mo., April 28.—A meeting of the Democratic County Central Committee was held here yesterday to consider a petition from the Folk advocates of Lafayette county requesting the committee to rescind its action in calling a township convention to select delegates to the Jefferson City State Convention and hold primary elections instead. The full membership of the committee was present either in person or by proxy. The petitions contained 2,016 names. They were secured in five days. Speeches were made both for and against the petition. The committee voted nineteen against the primary plan and four for it, one not voting.

WHAT MIGHT HAPPEN.

(BALTIMORE, MD.—The Telephonic company has been incorporated. It will wire houses and furnish any music desired, the subscriber having only to puncta the necessary button.)

They had a lovers' quarrel. And were sitting far apart. When she thought how gentle music Has been said to soothe the heart, So she softly pressed the button For a doleful melody.

Thinking that he'd lose his anger When he heard "O Promise Me." But her hands went up in horror And her heart was filled with woe When the switchboard operator Started in "Why Don't You Go?" With a muttered imprecation He had started from his place, When she pressed another button, Getting "I Don't Like Your Face."

Then, in grief and desperation, At the button board she flew, Jabbing at the one imprinted: "I Can't Tell Why I Love You." Came a crashing tone in answer— "Was the last and fatal blow, For the words surged through the parlor.

"You Can Take Your Things and Go!" Then the lover rose in anger, Rose and started for his hat, While she almost had hysterics As in dumb surprise she sat. He was leaving—then another Button she pushed in. Alack "I Don't Care," the wires sent buzzing, "If You Never Do Come Back!"

So the loving hearts were severed By the hand of science cold; Thus another tale of sorrow Born of progress must be told, For her hopes were rudely shattered And his happiness was lost Through the songs that came unwonted.

All because the wires were crossed— W. D. N., in Chicago Tribune.

THE OLDEST ROGUES' GALLERY. Pictures and Records of Criminals The World Over Are Shown at the World's Fair.

The oldest rogues' gallery in the world and the newest side by side in the Palace of Education at the World's Fair, afford the student in criminology the rarest opportunity ever afforded for the pursuit of his investigation.

The exhibit is of no less absorbing interest to most World's Fair visitors.

The oldest rogues' gallery is from the personal collection of William Desmond, chief of the St. Louis detective force. The pictures are of the important criminals of ante-bellum days; all are daguerotypes, with the likenesses as perfect as on the day they were made. Each picture is enclosed in a brass frame with age. A history of the country, interesting accompaniment and the official in charge courteously recounts the achievements of each criminal.

In another section is the up-to-date Bertillon system for the photographing and measurement of criminals. In the gallery accompanying this exhibit may be seen the photograph of every criminal of note in the world, together with the country in which he was born. All the instruments used to make up this exhibit, and to visitors every feature of the system is thoroughly explained.

Too Big at the Waist. John Hughes, of Chillicothe, tried to fit himself the other day by jumping in a well. The well wasn't big enough and he struck at his waist. His neighbors came and pulled him out, and a heartless justice of the peace fined him $1 and costs.

A Few Facts Concerning Rupture

In order to become proficient in the cure of rupture, years of preparation and experience are necessary in order to practice with any degree of certainty. Dr. W. A. Lewin, the rupture specialist, is a graduate of several European and American colleges and has devoted many years to the study of this particular branch of medical science.

He treats rupture without the use of the knife, without drawing blood, without danger and without detention from regular occupation.

All is accomplished within a few weeks and no one is pronounced cured until the opening through which the intestine protrudes is entirely closed and permanently healed. This is done by building up new tissue, a growth similar to that over a wound that has healed, so that the patient is stronger at this spot than he was before the rupture occurred.

Consultation and advice free. No pay required until cured to your entire satisfaction. Send for free booklet containing testimonials, 10,000 patients cured. Call or address.

LETTER FROM IOWA.

OTTUMWA, IOWA, April 25.—The lateness of the season is the universal topic of conversation among business men in Iowa, for the earth is still soaked with water and but very little plowing, indeed, has been done. I have only noticed a few fields where the ground has been broken. I sure left the "good old summer time" away behind when I came up out of the land of flowers and sunshine in Louisiana where the palm trees sprout its graceful leaves and the sweet magnolia perfumes the air, into this cold and cheerless clime, when at a dining table in the west of April in Iowa where all the vegetables set before you have been kept through the winter, that more than a month since we had all these same vegetables, full grown and fresh, from the garden in the south. What a wonderful country this is of ours. Few, indeed, realize its vastness or variety of climate and production which the climate of the United States is his to enjoy. No country in Europe can compare to ours in beauty of scenery, intelligence of citizenship or hospitality of its people. As I came up through Arkansas in March the corn was up in Southern Missouri corn was about all planted; in Northern Missouri ground was about all broken by April 15th, and here no plowing scarcely has been done, but Iowa will raise an abundant crop, for she scarcely ever fails. On my way up into Iowa I stopped at Kirksville and met old "Uncle" Frank Kilgore, who was the first white child born in Adair county. The grand old man and his family are highly respected in Kirksville. He is in only fair health, but is drifting peacefully down the stream that enters into the boundless ocean of eternity, upon whose unexplored fringes we must all ere long launch frail bark. I attended Elder Northcutt's church in Kirksville and the crowded house, especially of young men, showed the grand work done there by this good and grand man, who, until recently, was the pastor. As I came up the Mississippi by rail along the banks between Keokuk and Burlington I noticed for the first time the canal eight miles long through which every stream plying the Mississippi must pass, owing to the rough and dangerous rapids in the river for miles between these two cities. Locks let the water into the canal (or shut it out) from the Mississippi. I confess my ignorance in never knowing of this canal or these rapids in the river before, though I've made this trip quite frequently. About half way between Keokuk and Burlington on the

ILLINOIS SIDE OF THE RIVER IS THE OLD TOWN OF NAUVOO, WHERE THE MORMONS FIRST LOCATED IN THE UNITED STATES AND BUILT A TEMPLE. IT IS PLAINLY VISIBLE FROM THE CAR WINDOW AS YOU PASS UP THE RIVER. THE MORMONS REMAINED AT NAUVOO UNTIL THE STRONG ARM OF THE LAW DROVE THEM OUT, WHEN THEY STOPPED AT INDEPENDENCE FOR A BRIEF PERIOD AND THEN WERE DRIVEN OUT TO SALT LAKE, WHERE THEY BUILT THE MOST WONDERFUL CITY ON THE AMERICAN CONTINENT. THE CITY OF SALT LAKE, WHICH WITH ITS DOMES, SPIRES AND TOWERS BUILT IN THE HIGHEST ART OF ARCHITECTURAL SKILL, DAZZLES THE EYE AS THE SUN SHINES UPON ITS BURNISHED BUILDING TRIMMED IN BRASS AND POINTED IN PURE WHITE, THE MARVEL OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY—a magnificent city in a desert. When these thirty-eight years ago some of the latter day saints told me that the Lord would finally send them back to Jackson county, Mo. I still have many inquiries about land, horses and mules in Missouri from these people. It makes their mouths water for me to tell them how down in Missouri the old farmer brings up a bushel basket full of apples out of the cellar and sits on the porch on a winter night and how all the children till they can hold no more. Oh, Missouri is the only place to live in to get the full enjoyment of all that God has given man on earth to enjoy and to get out of life all the pleasure there is in it, and, too, among an educated, refined, moral people, whose renown for hospitality is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific and runs from the head of the Mississippi to the Gulf of Mexico. Well, the dread, longest, loneliest day of all the seven to a traveling man among strangers has come; and I've used part of it in imposing on you and your readers in the many states into which the LEADER goes. Will try and sleep off the rest of the day. Yours, J. V. WILLIAMS.

REED SAYS HE WILL STAY IN RACE.

From St. Louis Chronicle.

FAVETTE, Mo., April 23. Editor the Chronicle: I shall stay in this race until nomination is made. Kindly correct withdrawal report.

JAMES A. REED.

Mayor James Reed, of Kansas City, wired the above to The Chronicle Friday.

Although Mr. Reed states that he will not withdraw until a nomination is made, men in Kansas City, who have been assisting him in the management of his campaign, state that Saturday, May 7, will see the close of his active fight for delegates and from that date on he will be but nominally a candidate if he does not actually withdraw.

HOW UNCLE SAM MAKES MONEY.

An actual unit in practical operation is one of the "live" exhibits in the United States Government Building in the eastern section of the World's Fair grounds. To be sure, this mint does not turn out actual coin of the realm, but it does cast World's Fair souvenirs just the size of certain coins. The visitor may see them made and will learn exactly how Uncle Sam makes his money. This is the first time that an actual mint was ever shown at any Exposition. After the fair this mint machinery will be taken to Denver, Colo., and will convert the products of the western gold and silver mines into coin.

W. H. FRENCH, WHO HAS JUST RETURNED FROM HOT SPRINGS, SAYS MESSRS. ROBERTSON AND CRAW ARE GETTING ALONG NICELY AND WILL BE HOME NEXT WEEK.

SURPRISE WEDDING.

Judge A. H. Waller Does The Proper Thing.

From the Moberly Democrat. Alexander H. Waller, circuit judge of the Ninth judicial district, prominent throughout the State as the most known matrimonial lawyer and the highest matrimonial catch, a man whose time has been largely spent untangling knotty problems of law, fighting political battles and fishing on the Sol, has at last permitted the tiny rod of love to send a piercing shaft into his matrimonial heart, and on Tuesday May 10th, will be united in the holy bonds of wedlock to Miss Annie James, a leader in Moberly society circles and a lady of culture and refinement.

Their plans have been kept a profound secret and this announcement will come like a clap of thunder from a clear sky.

There is a rumor in circulation this afternoon that the Judge and his promised bride, hearing that their plans have been divulged, have taken steps to checkmate the same, and are to wed to-night. This is merely a rumor, however, and can not be traced to any authentic source. It is more than probable that their first plans will be adhered to and that the ceremony will be performed on May 10 as announced above.

NINE INCHES OF RAIN.

Galveston Visited by Torrent of Rain—City Was Flooded.

GALVESTON, TEX., April 22.—Galveston experienced the heaviest rain-storm in its history this afternoon, when 9.25 inches fell within three hours, commencing at 2 p. m. and continuing in heavy downpour until 5 p. m. In one hour, from 3:30 to 4:30 p. m., nearly 4½ inches of precipitation was recorded, or, to be exact, 4.47 inches.

In some portions of the city the water was nearly 2 feet deep. In the paved business districts it attained a depth of 6 inches to 2 feet, according to the street gauge.

The next greatest rain record for Galveston was 14.10 inches in twenty-four hours, on October 7 and 8, 1901. Reports received at the weather bureau office to-night show excessive rains over the entire state, especially the drought-stricken portions of west Texas, which will be beneficial to crops.

Married Wednesday Night.

The bride is a charming young woman and has many friends here.

Mrs. J. H. Field is home from St. Louis.
