THE fellow who runs the Missouri hen racket in the editorial columns of the Springfield Republican, ought to get a little spring chicken out of it.

PERRY BELMONT says he never said it, and that he is still opposed to Bryan and Bryanism. He says he can never approve the financial views of the noted Nebraskan.

ALTMELD and Bryan are at odds, and it is announced that both will go to Kentucky, Altmeld to speak against and Bryan for Goebel. Bryan's willingness to relegate "16 to 1" to the rear is given as the cause of the rupture.

Now that a natural cave filled with honey has been discovered on the property of the St. Louis club people game preserve in the southern part of this county it is useless longer to deny that this is the original "promised land," a land "flowing with milk and honey." We will own right up to it.

CARL BROWN proposes to repeat the Coxy movement of 1894 by going to Washington with an army and a petition to Congress demanding the passage of an anti-trust law. If Brown gets through the Kansas corn fields in time, we would advise him to follow the example of Coxy by taking advantage of the mineral boom of Southwest Mo.

THE only really serious crop shortage this year is the shortage in the crop of freight cars necessary to move the products of western fields and factories to the markets of the world. Such is the form taken by the "blue ruin" predicted to follow in the wake of protection and 100-cent dollars. We can stand another pull from the same bottle thank you.

EMILE ZOLA has written a burning criticism of the Dreyfus verdict, in which he declares the end is not yet. I may take tears and it may take blood, he says, but justice will yet be done, and he holds himself in readiness to shed his own life current, if need be, to secure that result. Zola wields a wonderful pen, and has the courage of his utterances. He does not hesitate to back his words by his signature. He is an honor to his age, and to any country. In his bravery for the right he has shown himself kindred to heroic blood of every clime and all ages.

NOTHING is more common these days than anti-trust conferences. Nothing is more certain than that the manufacture of goods on a gigantic scale is the true and scientific way to produce articles economically. If the trust would be satisfied with a reasonable profit there would, on the whole, be less reason for complaint than for satisfaction. The trouble arises from the percentage of hogishness which enters into human nature. To be profitable trust stocks must produce dividends; to produce dividends on watered stocks requires large profits; large profits involve advancing prices, even though the cost of production has been cheapened. The remedy lies in rigid laws governing the issue of stocks and prohibiting all measures to restrict production or restrain trade. Later, when the "hog" shall have been eliminated from human nature, all such laws may be repealed.

AUGUST BELMONT, of New York, banker, in view of the alleged interview with his brother, O. P. Belmont, in London, in which the latter was made to approve Bryanism and predict a Bryan victory in 1900, says: "So much has been published and said in our name of late, wholly foreign to our own political creed and that of our father, whose opinions in his day Democrats respected and refer to in unmistakable terms of approval, and which we profess to hold alone to represent, that I take this occasion to repudiate for both of us, once and for all, any affiliation with the demagogues and Populists who are trying to rule and ruin our party in 1896." We desire it to be understood that this paper does not, and never shall, call a man a demagogue because he holds opposing political views. The language above is that of a life-long Democrat who inherited his politics from a father whose Democracy has never for a single moment been questioned. "Demagogue" is a hard word, but it isn't ours.

Washington Letter.
(From our own Correspondent.)

The chief interest in the national reception to Admiral Dewey in this city, will center round the illuminated parade on the evening of October 2, and the presentation of the sword voted by Congress to the hero of Manila, on the afternoon of the next day. A large amount has been raised by popular subscription and arrangements have been made that will render the occasion unique among the many receptions to distinguished men which Washington has witnessed in the past.

The Olympia, with Admiral Dewey on board will arrive at New York from Gibraltar on Thursday, September 28. The ceremonies in New York will occupy Friday and Saturday, September 29 and 30. On Sunday evening, October 1, the special train from Washington conveying the reception committee will reach New York and the party will spend Sunday night there. The special train will start from New York on its return trip on Monday, with Admiral Dewey and the detachment of sailors from the Olympia on board, so as to arrive at the Pennsylvania depot in Washington between seven and eight o'clock on Monday evening, October 2.

A number of requests have been sent in from committees in Elizabeth, Trenton, Philadelphia, Chester, Wilmington, Baltimore and other towns along the route, asking that arrangements be made for short stops of the triumphal train, in order to give the citizens an opportunity to greet the great sea captain. But it is unlikely that any of these requests will be acceded to, as to do so would much protract the time of the journey, and the Admiral's state of health renders him unfit to endure such a continuous strain.

As the train pulls into the Pennsylvania depot in Washington, the roar of artillery will signal the arrival of the distinguished guest, and Pennsylvania avenue will burst into a blaze of light from the Capitol to the Treasury department. As at present planned, the state, war and navy buildings, the peace monument, the Hancock statue, the fountain at the corner of Ninth street, the reservation at the corner of Thirteenth street, and the dome of the Capitol will be outlined with fairy lamps. Pennsylvania avenue itself will appear as a long arch of parti-colored fires, red fire being burned at 200 places along the route, while 12,000 batteries on each side of the street throw streams of tri-colored stars in such a way as to form arches of fire.

As Admiral Dewey emerges from the Pennsylvania depot at Sixth street, escorted by the reception committee, he will enter his carriage and take his place at the head of the parade. The Olympia's men, headed by the United States marine band, will take position immediately behind him, and the procession will start westward up Pennsylvania avenue to the Treasury building. Here the Admiral will leave his carriage, and take his position on the reviewing stand, past which the procession will file. Besides the military and naval organizations of the District of Columbia, the militia from a number of the surrounding states will be in line, and there will be a magnificent showing made by the secret societies, and other local organizations. The illumination of the avenue will last for the two hours that the parade is estimated to take in passing the reviewing stand. General Miles will be the Grand Marshal of the parade.

Next day, Tuesday, October 3, the magnificent sword of honor voted by Congress will be presented to Admiral Dewey by Secretary Long of the Navy department. The presentation will take place at the east front of the Capitol, late in the afternoon, upon a stand to be erected extending out from the east steps. This stand will purposely be small, accommodating no more than 200 members of Admiral Dewey's party and the invited guests. President McKinley will sit beside the hero of Manila upon the stand, while the cabinet of officials and other distinguished persons will occupy places about him.

But though the stand has purposely been kept small, the interesting ceremony to be performed upon it is likely to be witnessed by a larger crowd than has ever assembled in that huge plaza before, even at the most largely attended Presidential inauguration. A railroad rate from all points to Washington of one and one-third fare for the round trip is assured, while tickets will be good for long enough time to allow a stay of four or five days in Washington. The Sword of Honor to be presented to Admiral Dewey was voted by Congress last summer, and has been made at a cost of $10,000 by Tiffany of New York. With the exception of the steel blade, and the body of the scabbard, the material used is 22 carat gold. On the pomel is carved the word "Olympia," with the sign of the zodiac for December, the lucky month in which Dewey was born. Around these is a wreath of oak leaves. Below this is the coat of arms of the United States, and of Dewey's native state, Vermont, with its state motto, "Freedom and Unity." The guard is beautifully wrought in the shape of an eagle with outspread wings. On the front of the scabbard are the initials "G.D." and under them "U.S.N." On the blade of the sword is engraved the inscription: "The gift of the Nation to Rear Admiral George Dewey, U. S. N., in memory of the victory at Manila Bay, May 1, 1898."

There is considerable excitement over the mineral prospects that have lately been uncovered in the south-east part of Taney county. There seems to be no doubt that mineral in rich and paying quantities exist here. The public school in district No. 63 Taney county is progressing fine under the supervision of Richard Lawrence of Brown Branch. Mr. Lawrence was employed by the board of directors at $18 per month, and although the wages are low he is giving general satisfaction as a teacher, in fact he is teaching a better school than other teachers have done for more money. We do not believe it is the high priced teacher that is the best qualified. NICK. [This case must be an exception, as a rule remunerative wages produce the best results. Teachers can't afford to work for the wages above mentioned.—Ed.]

In the United States the drug store seems to be the one place in which Americans get something for nothing; postage stamps at government rates and free directories are the universal rule. Some New York druggists have decided to institute a reform in the matter of the directory at least, and have placed the book in an open box so that it can be reached by the dropping of a penny in the slot. The entry of the coin releases the spring, the lid may then be lifted and the book consulted. Many city druggists do not go to the expense of purchasing a new directory every year, but with the aid of a device of this kind it is probable that new directories would be forthcoming every year, and the proceeds might be devoted to charity and the druggist relieved of the "free directory" nuisance.—Scientific American.

Pithy, Pointed and Pertinent.
As a talking-match, without prizes, that Chicago conference on trusts was a great success; so far as any benefit to the country is concerned, it was a failure.

A few peanut politicians are making a fool attempt to get President McKinley mixed up in a Chicago labor organization squabble.

If O. H. P. Belmont has really given $25,000 to the Bryan campaign fund, his friends should lose no time in steering him into the presence of an expert on brain diseases.

When it comes to being real "funny" the circus clown isn't in the same class with Johnnie McLean, whose pockets bulge with corporation profits, when he poses before the Ohio voters as an opponent of trusts.

Twenty-four governors and their staffs are slated to participate in Washington's welcome to Dewey, as well as the President and the entire Cabinet.

While there is no naval regulation against the writing and publishing of poetry by young officers, we should not advise any officer to expect to increase his chances for promotion by turning poet.

No more impracticable suggestion has been made than that President McKinley should intercede to prevent war between Great Britain and the Transvaal Republic.

The Dreyfus excitement was very short-lived in this country, which is another proof of the common sense of Americans.
