

NEWS FROM DALLAS

Lipper-Baron Nuptials.

Morton Lipper and Miss Felice Baron daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. Baron, were married yesterday at 8 p. m. at the Columbian Club. Dr. David Leftowitz performed the ceremony.

The wedding took place in the ballroom under a canopy of smilax, roses and lights in the form of a large bell. As the wedding party stepped beneath the bell the ushers pulled satin ribbons which caused the bell to open, showering the party with rose petals. Behind the canopy was a heart of smilax and roses. The entire ballroom was decorated with palms, smilax, roses, orchids and sweet peas, carrying out the pastel shades.

Before the ceremony Miss Magdalene Lorch sang "Thou Art Like a Flower," and "Out of the Mist," accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fried at the violin and piano. Mr. and Mrs. Fried also played Lohengrin's Wedding March as a processional and Mendelssohn's march as a recessional.

The bridegroom and best man, his father, Harry Lipper of Philadelphia, took their places first beneath the canopy, followed by the ushers, Dr. Harry Jablow, Clarence Mallinson, Stanley Marcus and Reginald Goldsmith. The six bridesmaids and six bridesgroomsmen advanced in three groups of four, two bridesmaids in the center and an attendant on either side. All the bridesmaids wore organdy frocks over taffeta in rainbow hues. They carried hats as baskets, filled with sweet peas and daisies and tied with tulle. First came Miss Blanche Mittenenthal and Arthur Baron, Miss Reba Mallinson and Harry Mittenenthal, next came Miss Beatrice Wertheimer and Herbert Mallinson, Sophia Jolesch of Ennis and Aubrey Costa, and last Miss Corinne Cerf of Ennis and Fred L. Hirsch, Miss Ruth Stern and Louis Hexter. Mrs. Herbert Marcus was matron of honor. She wore a gown of white beaded net over silver lace and white taffeta and carried American Beauty roses. Miss Ruth Lipper, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a frock of orchid taffeta and blue organdy and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Little Misses Marjorie Litchenstein and Marie Therese Levi in dresses of white net over pink were the flower girls. They carried fancy baskets lined with pink georgette and filled with rose petals. The bride entered with her father. Her gown was of crystal beaded silk net over silver lace and white satin. The long train was entirely covered with real Duchess lace, which had been the bridegroom's mother's wedding veil. A full length tulle veil fell from her crystal beaded cap, which was caught with orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of Bride's roses and lilies of the valley. She also carried a real rose point lace and mother-of-pearl fan. Little Herbert Marcus Jr. and Myron Lea Lipsitz in white silk suits, were the train bearers.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the library. Then the guests proceeded to the dining room where a two-course buffet supper was served. The table decorations carried out the same pastel shades. After the supper the guests repaired to the ballroom, where dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Lipper left for the East to take the Thousand Islands trip. They will make their home in New York. The bride wore a blue tailieu suit, black hat and other accessories to match.
