

Sarah Kaplan, as flower girl wore a pastel shaded evening dress. A basket suspended from a ribbon around her neck held roses and she scattered rose petals along the aisle.

The bride entered with her father L. Fred. She wore lovely brocaded cloth of silver gown, with Princess lace, hand-made silver flowers and love-knots the effective trimming. A side train on the left and a veil of illusion and Princess lace fell from a pearl and orange blossom coronet. Bride roses arranged in a lovely shower were carried. Rabbis Siegel and Levy performed the impressive ceremony.

A reception at the Progress Club followed the wedding. The club rooms were decorated in palms, smilax and baskets of roses.

The Raleigh caterer served punch from an electric punch bowl and Angel cakes embossed in the initials L and L were offered. The wedding cake was set on a cluny cloth over pink, and rose cups filled with confections were placed around it.

Congratulations, best wishes and good byes were intermingled and soon the popular bride and groom were departing for the Pacific Coast States.

An embroidered spring coat suit of navy blue and a becoming sailor with flower trimming was the bride's going-away costume.

The honeymoon will be spent in California and afterward Detroit will be their place of residence.

Silver Dorin cases were presented the bride's attendants and gold pencils the groom's attendants.

The bride has a host of Waco friends and well-wishers, and in her new home she will be welcomed by the groom's many friends. He trained here at Camp MacArthur, and then it was their romance began.

Dance for Wedding Party.

On Saturday evening the ushers of the Lieberman-Fred wedding entertained with a dance at the Progress club which included the wedding attendants, wedding guests, and other friends. A merry evening was spent.

Lunch and cake were served. The hosts were William Marks, Joe Roscoe, Abe Gollob, Isadore Fred, and Maurice Eisenberg.

A Heart Party.

Misses Sadie and Blooma Kaplan of North Fifth street entertained for Miss Libbie Cohen of Fort Worth, who is their guest, with a pretty party.

Hearts decorated the rooms and the pastime was "Hearts." Red satin heart-shaped boxes of candy were souvenirs for each guest. Throughout the rooms, tall crimson candles lighted the scene.

Mrs. A. Gilbert scored luckily and was given a Dresden powder box and Miss Esther Weber, for consolation, received a pretty pin tray.

A bridge luncheon set in an artistic embroidery design was given Miss Fred and a piece of lingerie was presented Miss Cohen. The heart motif was used in the two course luncheon. Heart-shaped pieces of pimento topped the chicken salad and for the sweet course a frozen pudding in heart-mold and cake were served. Miss Idella Adelman of San Antonio gave clever readings.

Those present were Misses Eva Gilbert, Leona Cohen, Esther Weber, all of Fort Worth; Misses Ida Adelman, Libbie Fred, Bess Freeman, Ida Rosenberg, Sadie Berkman, Rae Novich, Ruth Levinski, Naomi Katz, Leah

Friedman, Idella Adelman of San Antonio, Renny Sabel of New York; Mesdames Max Lieberman and Harry Kaplan of Detroit, Abe Gilbert of Fort Worth, J. D. Novich of New York, F. A. Elsbach of Chicago, Isadore Fred, Maurice Eisenberger and Jack Block.
