A Light Six—But Powerful

Make no mistake about the new Paige Light Six. While light in weight, low in price—$1095—and built for five passenger service, it has characteristic Paige Power—Power to do and dare any demand or road condition that confronts it—Power that flows flexibly from the famous Paige six-cylinder engine. The Paige Light Six never falters. Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, Detroit, Mich.

Reserve Settlers Protest

Poplar, Mont., Nov. 3.—Government methods adopted for the settlement of the Fort Peck Indian reservation are a failure, according to resolutions adopted by the Fort Peck Settlement association, composed of settlers on the lands and business men in the towns on the reservation. Numerous restrictions and stringent regulations are assigned by the members of the association as the cause of the failure.

Meetings to protest and demand a change will be called in all the important towns on the reservation before the opening of congress, Dec. 1. Among other things indicating the extent of the government's failure is a statement that only 500 entrymen have filed on the lands of the reservation out of a possible 6,000.

Settlers Organize.

Leaders of the association assert that Fort Peck lands are unexcelled in point of fertility and that the lack of settlers is due wholly to the inability of the average homesteader to live up to the regulations prescribed by the government. In resolutions adopted at the Poplar meeting, and which will be presented to the secretary of the interior, and to the Montana delegation in congress, the settlers declare the government's attempt to settle the lands has been a "pronounced failure", and plead for changes in the laws which will permit the lands to be quickly settled and cultivated.

Remedies Proposed.

The resolutions also declare that the hardships imposed upon settlers has caused many to seek other lands, less fertile, in other parts of the United States and Canada, where homesteading is made easy.

The payments demanded by the government are said to be so great that settlers cannot meet them and at the same time support their families and improve their farms.

The settlers would have the present appraisal of lands abandoned and a new appraisal made, and they would have the payments extend over a period of ten years and allow all settlers living on the reservation who have filed on only 160 acres, to file on another quarter section.

Williston, Nov. 1.—Manager W. S. Arthur of the Williston irrigation project has been advised by the reclamation service that rental charges for water furnished in 1914 must be collected before the commission will consider the continuation of the local project. In 1914 water was sold at the rate of $1 an acre-foot. One-half of this sum was collected at the beginning of the season and the second half was to be paid at its close. As water was not pumped for irrigation this season few of the farmers on the project have paid the second instalment.

MR. FARMER

Are you contemplating having an auction sale? If you are, it would pay you to have your bills printed here and an advertisement run in the Chronicle. You could reach more people, especially more farmers, than you would by advertising in the two other papers in this city. When you hold an auction sale you would like to let the farmers know about it. The best way to do this is by advertising in the Chronicle. Bear this in mind when you hold that auction sale.
