UTILIZATING ADVANTAGES.

In its climate, its soil and its mineral wealth North Dakota has advantages which differ from those of other states, and which, in many particulars, surpass them. How are these being used today, and what are the prospects for the future? Are we keeping pace with the development of knowledge, or are we lagging? Under the pressure of necessity the nations of Europe are organizing, not merely their men in the field and their ships on the sea, but their entire resources, industrial, commercial and financial, for the successful prosecution of the war. In the United States the thoughts of the people have been turned toward the mobilization of their like resources for purposes of defense. Everywhere the collection of information and the application of the best known methods are regarded as of supreme importance.

May we of North Dakota not profitably apply in the activities of peace, in the making of better homes and the building of better communities some of the methods of efficiency which have been found so useful in relation to war and its possibilities? What are we doing that is worth while? What are our neighbors doing which may be emulated by us? Many among us have succeeded through the application of certain methods in agriculture, in commerce, in industry. Some of us have demonstrated by experiment that certain methods are not wise. Why not make this knowledge available to the public?

The Chronicle proposes an experience meeting. It invites contributions from its readers giving personal experience in any line of work tending to develop the possibilities of the state. It will welcome brief articles—preferably limited to 300 words—telling of good crops and how they were raised, of poor crops and what caused them, of experience in dairying, of improvements in school methods, of the handling of problems in local merchandising, in the organization of clubs and societies, in every line in which busy men and women are seeking for knowledge. All articles must be signed, through, at the request of the writers, names will be withheld. Such articles, of suitable length and properly written, will be published as space is available for them. All of us may benefit from the experience of others. Perhaps others may benefit from ours.

As a stimulus to scholarship two Honor Rolls will be maintained in the Senior High School this year. They will be designated Honor Roll A and Honor Roll B. A standing of 80 per cent in four branches will entitle a pupil to a membership in class B, while a standing of 90 per cent in four branches will give a pupil the distinction of Honor Roll A. From time to time the honors thus obtained will be published.

JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL.

The boys of the Junior High School have organized two basketball teams and are enjoying the use of the gymnasium. They plan to develop one good team at least which may hurry the High school team a little in practice.

Mr. Swan and Mr. McCarthy visited our schools Monday of this week. Incidentally Mr. McCarthy spoke to the pupils of the school on "Good Citizenship."

The athletic association of the Junior H. S. met last week and elected Edwin Weinreis as their president.

SENIOR NOTES.

Beatrice Sprague was absent Friday of last week.

The U. S. History class and English III and IV has subscribed for the Independent to supplement their work in their classes. It furnishes them plenty of material for arrangement on current topics.

The examinations have been coming thick for the past week and the pupils are beginning to wonder just how much they do know anyway.

A half credit is given the High School pupils who will spend one night a week in orchestra practice for the year.

The people who choose to take Bible study can do so by making arrangements with Mr. Lewis, and get the regular half credit.

About twenty pupils are now enrolled in the High School Orchestra recently organized. Mr. Conover has charge of the work and meets this organization once a week. Mr. Dotterweien, Mr. Hummel and Mr. Seabury are assisting. Special music has been sent for and when this is at hand work will begin in earnest.

During the past week the Board of Education have had telephones placed in two city school buildings. They are certainly welcome and much needed conveniences. School patrons are reminded, however that the telephone may be a positive nuisance to those in charge through trivial and unnecessary calls for the children. To this end no pupil or teacher will be called from their work during school hours. Messages may be left at the office if urgent or directions to call up at the next intermission.

This week Mr. Klumb began a series of extension lectures to farmers of the county. For some time past Mr. Klumb has been busy preparing a large number of slides for lantern use and has some very valuable material at hand. These lectures will be given in convenient school houses through the county. Every effort possible will be made to have these meetings well advertised and doubtless a large number will be reached and benefitted thereby. On Saturday, Oct. 28, a lecture will be given in the Haisman school of the Beach school district No. 3; Friday, Nov. 4, Hubbard school; Friday, Nov. 3, Alpha school.

It has been decided that the High School Orchestra hold meetings in the Junior High School.

The Sophomore-Freshmen reception will be given next Tuesday night in the gymnasium of the Junior High School.

The Sophomore class had a meeting on Thursday to make arrangements for the reception that will be given for the Freshmen on Tuesday evening.

John Sloss was absent from school Wednesday. He was very ill.

Grant Norem has promised the Sophomores that he will write the invitations to be given by them.

Miss Ziesneis has great trouble making her pupils remember to say "drove" instead of "chased."

DOROTHY GISH GOT HER LITTLE RED SCHOOLHOUSE

A search for a little red schoolhouse in Southern California was one of the patience-trying tasks that fell to the lot of the Franklin brothers, Triangle directors, when they came to the making of "The Little Schoolma'am," starring Dorothy Gish. Now, California is famous for having about every sort of thing a photoplay-maker might need, from medieval castles to Alaskan wildernesses. It is also famous for its schools. The first object of pride in almost every community is a handsome modern school building that dominates the architecture of the town. So the search for a little old-fashioned one of the sort we all remember was a matter of many days. But one was found—just one—and it was used for many of the play's most appealing scenes. Just one small detail of atmosphere, but—it had to be right.

DICKINSON ROOMING HOUSE OWNER CHARGED WITH SALE OF LIQUOR.

Dickinson, N. D., Oct. 26.—Orville Kilroy, proprietor of the St. Paul rooming house just west of the First National bank building, was placed under arrest by Deputy Sheriff Holst on a warrant charging the maintaining of a nuisance and the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. This place had been under the surveillance of the police for some time past.

Pending a preliminary hearing in justice court he was released under bonds of $500 by Police Magistrate Sterland. He obtained the necessary bonds, the surety being J. W. Folis.

First Number of Lyceum Course

Miss Hutchinson, who is to appear at the Beach opera house on Monday, October 30, is a university graduate with the additional degree of A. M. She has three degrees in Expression and has studied with most of the best known teachers of the art.

All of her teaching has been done in colleges and normal schools, the last four years of which was in the States Normal at Ellensburg, Washington.

At every school there were signal victories in inter-school debates and contests. She has been unusually successful in the staging of plays, many of which were dramatic works among the high class, including a number from Shakespearean productions. The castes, many times, included more than a hundred students.

Having this standard she believes that a reading is last of all "speaking a piece" for the purpose of entertainment, only. Each of her readings is a message as truly as any lecturer has to present.

"The Little School Ma'am"

the very latest TRIANGLE PLAY, takes you back to your boyhood days when bare-footed you tramped the lane to the little red school, or as a shy maid brought wild flowers to the village school teacher.

You'll enjoy this picture more than any you've seen in many a long day, for it brings back the spirit of youth—the days when there were no cares or worries.

You'll love the twenty little TRIANGLE kiddies at work and at play, and you'll love the sweet romance of the dainty village school ma'am—still young and pretty.
