

To Vote On Natural Resources Combination Question

The Chamber of Commerce has been asked to express itself as to whether or not combinations to conserve natural resources shall be permitted.

Source of Raw Materials, Fuel

As explained by T. E. Hayward secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, is asked to vote for or against the report of a special committee of the National Chamber which recommends that there shall be remedial legislation to permit cooperative agreements under federal supervision in those industries which involve primary natural resources.

It is argued that there has long been need for a definite national policy for the utilization and conservation of the natural resources to which manufacturers must look for raw materials or fuel.

Public Interest First Consideration

The committee endeavors to show how the public interest may be safeguarded and promoted. As things stand today it is said, it is being left to take care of itself.

Fatalities Due to Industrial Accidents

There is a plea for increased safety for workmen. Over 4000 deaths occur in the metal mining, coal mining and lumber industries each year.

Both Sides of Question Presented.

This is the seventeenth referendum sent by the National Chamber with the purpose of ascertaining for the benefit of congress and the President, business opinion prevailing throughout the country on topics of national and immediate importance.

North Dakota Special Has Big Day

Chicago, December 9—Running on a special schedule, whisked along by a special engine, the North Dakota special train bore down upon Chicago's great farm machine factories yesterday.

The train was filled with representatives headed by Governor Elect Lyman Frazier. Lieutenant Governor Elect A. T. Kraable, E. F. Ladd, president of the North Dakota Agricultural College, and many other eminent people.

When the North Dakota special was switched from the Union Yards, where it has been standing for the Stock Show, to the plants of the International Harvester Company, cross lines belonging to a dozen railroads were thrown open for it.

More than five hundred North Dakotans poured out of the special and made a flying trip through McCormick Works, the largest farm machine factory in the world, where two completely manufactured and tested machines are produced every minute.

The long line of visitors wound also through the McCormick Twine Mill, twine maker for the world. After the dash at sightseeing, the North Dakotans pitched camp in the McCormick Club House for a chicken dinner, music, speeches, and good cheer.

Cyrus H. McCormick himself was there to express the I. H. C. welcome, and in a spirit of humor told the North Dakotans why they had come.

"You are not willing to take our agents' word for it," he said, "that I. H. C. machines are all right but you have to come down here to see for yourselves. That's just like North Dakota."

Governor Elect Frazier responded amid cheers to Mr. McCormick's welcome. He said the North Dakota Special, being seventy-five per cent farmers, was typical of his state.

He let it be known that he himself had never got out of touch with the farm. He declared he had begun using McCormick binders early in life and that he had driven one through every harvest since.

J. B. Bacon, proprietor of the Grand Forks Herald, was called to his feet by stormy demands for "Jerry." Large corporations are an untold benefit to the country. We should watch them, but they are a great benefit. This was the gist of Mr. Bacon's speech.

A man in the audience rose and called for John G. Haney, whereupon a great storm of applause broke loose. "Honest John Haney," as they called him, is in charge of the I. H. C. demonstration farm at Grand Forks.

"We know he is a farmer because he looks like one," said Professor F. R. Crane, agriculturist for the Great Northern Railroad, the man who managed the special.

John Haney told the audience that all he had to say to them was what he had often said to them before on the subject of corn, alfalfa and livestock.

Professor P. G. Holden, the famous corn expert, head of all agricultural extension work for the Harvester Company, paid a tribute to North Dakota for the progress she has made in farming.

Professor Holden recalled the time when North Dakota was one of the backward agricultural states. He has watched her come out of that class and take her place among the most progressive states in the Union.

This great special train was visible proof of the spirit of North Dakota, for what other state could undertake and succeed in such a project?

North Dakota farmers enjoyed seeing how their tractors and binders and twine are made. They were surprised to see how vast and how efficient a modern farm machine factory is. "If Cyrus

Hall McCormick, elder, himself, 'couldn't be back today' said one of the farmers: "he would be as surprised as we are."

Professor F. R. Crane was the toastmaster and a good one.

The Harvester Company was delighted to have the North Dakotans as its guests. The highest executive officers in the International organization were present to give welcome to the visitors from the North.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

SENIOR NOTES.

The Senior High School girls tried out their skill against the Junior High School team last Thursday. A fine game resulted in which the lower institution carried the day with a score of 3 to 0.

The board of Education, the past week improved the lighting facilities in the Assembly very materially with drop cord lights and new reflectors. The students sure appreciate the change.

Owing to contemplated changes in the heating plant, the Christmas vacation will be two weeks to allow for time in which to make changes.

An urgent need by the Beach Public Schools; A real live working Parent Teachers Association.

The pupils of the 1st and 2nd grade in the New High School building are preparing a Christmas program.

Mr. Algie Arnold visited school Friday, listening to class recitations and looking over the heating plant.

Special classes on Saturday afternoon for a few weeks will be held for pupils who are behind in their Geometry work.

Mr. Conover has an especial liking for chicken pie, much to his surprise when he came to school the other morning he found a delicious chicken pie reposing peacefully on his desk.

The basket ball game played between our High school boys and the Dickinson High School resulted in a score of 6 to 70 in favor of the latter team.

Our boys were playing under difficulties, the train was so late they had to eat a hurried supper and practice after the majority of the crowd had arrived. One thing is greatly in favor of our boys though, they did not make a foul all the time they were playing.

We hope that when Dickinson comes up here we can hold our own.

Griffin and Adams are here counseling as to the change to be made during the Christmas vacation.

Rev. Stanford B. Binkley of the Congregational church spoke to the school Wednesday morning on "Enthusiasm."

FRESHMEN NOTES.

Celebrate Silver Wedding Anniversary

The Twenty-fifth Anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Timm of Alpha Happy Occasion.

A large number of the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. William Timm gathered at their home at Horse Shoe Bend Ranch, located south of Alpha on the Little Missouri river, to celebrate the happy couple's twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

Twenty-five years ago the 9th of December Mr. and Mrs. Timm were united in marriage near Holcomb, Ill. They removed to Minnesota shortly and after living there some time took up their residence on one of the most picturesque spots of the Little Missouri river, where they are now engaged in farming and ranching.

Saturday, December 9th, was an ideal day for the celebration of this happy event. A most bounteous dinner was served, to which all did ample justice.

Mr. and Mrs. Timm were the recipients of many valuable presents in silver, among which we make mention of the very beautiful dinner set given them by their children.

Mr. A. Wietjes, a brother of Mrs. Timm, came from Pipestone, Minn., to be present at this joyful occasion.

Many of the guests, after spending a delightful time in visiting with their friends and being entertained with musical selections, returned to their homes voting many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Timm for their loyal entertainment.

Those of the guests who enjoy tripping "the light fantastic toe" repaired to the Alpha hall where a dance was given in further honor of this happy event.

Needless to say the past twenty-five years have rested lightly upon the worthy couple, judging from the way they danced to the lively strains if the music furnished by the Alpha orchestra.

For you will find it does not pay, (By Greeny Freshman).

Clandi Bast dropped his studies in the Freshmen year on account of having sold the farm.
