

Bill Provides Increase of Extension Work

CONGRESSMAN GEO. M. YOUNG WORKED HARD IN FARMER'S BEHALF.

(Special to the Times-Record.) Washington, Jan. 20.—The Agricultural Extension bill providing federal aid for agricultural extension work in each state, passed the house today. Representative G. M. Young of North Dakota made an argument for the bill which met with hearty response.

Representative Young presented statistics showing the scope and success of the extension work carried on in North Dakota and praised the success of the North Dakota Better Farming association under the direction of Thomas P. Cooper.

Commenting upon the Agricultural Extension bill which is reported in a Courier-News dispatch to have passed the house of representatives yesterday, Director Thomas P. Cooper of the state experiment station declared that if the bill runs the gauntlet of the senate and becomes a law, it will mark the first big step toward which the federal government has taken to promote farm extension work.

"The bill provides," said Mr. Cooper, "that federal funds may be apportioned among the states in proportion to population, to aid in carrying the better farming movement directly to the people on the farms."

"In order to secure federal aid the state will have to appropriate money for the purpose at the same time. The federal aid will be sufficient to make it possible to carry on a large amount of extension work and will give a great impetus to the work now under way, if the bill becomes a law."

"North Dakota will profit to a large extent as will every other Northwest state and in fact every state in the union. The bill as shown is very liberal and permits of the use of the federal funds in a variety of ways. It is to be hoped that the senate will follow the house in passing the bill."

"I have been interested in the measure and have from time to time furnished information and statistics concerning our work in North Dakota to the representatives of the state in congress."

Co-operative Operation Under Federal Control

PLANS FOR SELLING OF FARM PRODUCTS DIRECT THROUGH EQUITY PLAN.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 19.—Washington dispatches tell of Senator Borah of Idaho introducing a bill in the United States senate to create a national clearing house for the grading and handling of grain and farm products.

The bill is along the lines advocated by the Equity Cooperation Exchange. It eliminates the middlemen and places the producers in touch with the consumer through a market system owned by the farmer under federal aid and supervision. The clearing house would be under the management of a board of 15 directors chosen by all sub-divisions of the country for terms of five years. The association would draw its real strength from county associations consisting of not less than 50 farmers each.

The system would go into operation as soon as 300 such county associations shall have been formed. The expense of the association will be borne by the federal government until it became self-supporting. The national association would be chartered for 99 years and would have power to enforce upon its component association. National and state laws as well as the regulations of the associations. These regulations of the associations would fix in detail provision for packing, purifying, grading, shipping, selling and delivering farm products.

To facilitate the work of the central body in distributing farm products the bill gives the board extraordinary powers. It could build, lease or purchase mills, gins, compress machines, factories, pre-cooling plants, ice factories, cold storage plants, printing presses, slaughter houses, driers, evaporators, office, telegraph and telephone and telegraph lines. The association with the consent of the federal government will be authorized to issue bonds. It could also create capital stock out of its surplus earnings and could lend money to members of the county association.

Senator Borah's bill, together with proposed tax on option trades, would, if enacted into law, practically put the present grain exchanges out of business. A heavy tax on option trade would effectively stop gambling in grain. The system proposed by Senator Borah recognizes the necessity of farmers having their own selling agencies and will give federal aid and support to such. The Equity Co-operative exchange is the only terminal grain selling agency in the United States owned and operated by farmers.
