MUSICAL ACTIVITIES

CONTINUE THROUGHOUT THE SUMMER MONTHS

SPLENDID OFFERING BEING EN-

JOYED IN ALL PARTS OF THE COUNTRY.

The public interest in musical affairs continues without abatement during the summer season. The great artists continue to sing and play for the people, and while it is true that the artists are not present in person their renditions are none the less real as you hear them on the Victor or Victrol wherever people go for recreation during the summer months—the summer home, the clubhouse, the hotel, the yacht, the camp—Victrol music helps to make their vacation more enjoyable. There is new enjoyment just now because the new Victor Records for August have just been issued.

Caruso throws himself wholeheartedly into a rendition of a fascinating yet plaintive song, "Manella Mia," and sings it with a careless gaiety and with that indefinable touch of pathos which seems a part of Neapolitan songs. It is by no means a sombre one, however, as its breezy swing gives it quite an opposite character. The great tenor is also heard in another famous concerted number from Verdi's Masked Ball, the quartet from the first act, which is admirably given by Caruso, Hempel, de Seguro, Rothier, and the Metropolitan Opera Chorus. Titta Ruffo sings an air from Franchetti's Cristoforo Colombo, in which he sang the title role in its first American production last season. The number is the fine "Our Love is Like the Stars" and it is rendered with a glorious outpouring of the famous baritone's noble voice and much dramatic power.

Dinah Gilly, the noted Algerian baritone, is heard in a duet with Emmy Destinn. It is a fascinating folk-song of Bohemia, and as Bohemian is Mme. Destinn's native language, her interpretation is wholly delightful, and M. Gilly, who has had the advantage of the prima donna's coaching, ably assists her. Alma Gluck and Louise Homer present another of their superb duets, that grand old hymn "Rock of Ages." John McCormack's loveliest tones are in evidence in his effective rendering of Tosti's charming "Good-Bye," and Evan Williams sings the favorite "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" reverently and with admirable diction. Christine Miller, whose lovely contralto voice, appealing style of singing, and gracious personality have endeared her to many thousands of concertgoers throughout the country, is now a Victor artist. She presents for her first renditions, two darkey songs—the favorite "Old Black Joe," and "Come Out, Mr. Sunshine"—both given with admirable expression and a clearness of enunciation which is quite unusual and delightful.

Maud Powell gives two dainty numbers by Bach and Gluck—the Bourée in B minor, from the Second Sonata, one of Bach's most attractive and characteristic movements of the solo violin, and a lovely Gluck minuet, which has been one of the most popular numbers on Mme. Powell's recent program. The Tollefsen Trio (violin, cello, pianoforte) plays that little gem of melody, "At the Brook," which is very attractive in its trio form, and on the reverse side of the record the Florentine Quartet (violin, cello, flute, harp) presents the lovely Drigo "Serenade." Pietro Deiro, the world's greatest accordion player, gives two more standard numbers, the "Rigoletto Overture," which brings out beautifully the organ-like tones of his instrument. The Victor Military Band contributes eight splendid dance numbers which find high favor with the public—four Hesitations, and four One-Steps, two of the latter being sparkling medleys of popular hits.

The offerings of the Victor Light Opera Company comprise two attrac-

"DE SHEEPFOL."

De massa ob de sheepfol' Dat guards the sheepfol' bin, Look out in de gloomerin' meadows

Oh, den says de hirelin' shepa'd: "Dey's some, dey's black and thin, And some dey's po' ol' wedda's, But de res' dey's all brung in, But de res' dey's all brung in."

Den de massa ob de sheepfol' Dat guards the sheepfol' bin, Goes down in de gloomerin' meadows, What'r de long night rain begin.

So he le' down de ba's ob the sheepfol', Callin' sof', "Come in, come in;" Callin' sof', "Come in, come in."

Den up t'ro' de gloomerin' meadows, T'ro' de col' night rain and win', And up t'ro' de gloomerin' rain-puf

What'r de sleet fa' pic'cin' thin, De po' los' sheep ob de sheepfol' Dey all comes gadderin' in; De po' los' sheep ob de sheepfol' Dey all comes gadderin' in. —Sarah Pratt McLean Greene.

tive series of "gems"—one from the "Folies of 1914," the other from the delightful fantasy, "Iole." The ten melodious and catchy song hits presented by the Hiedelberg Quintet, the Peerless Quartet, and other favorite Victor singers, leave nothing to be desired and are sure to be appreciated by the lovers of popular songs.

The list of educational records is further enriched by the addition of eight new numbers, interesting to the little ones and splendidly rendered. Elsie Baker sings two favorite game songs, quaint conceits of the child world. Raymond Dixon sings two Irish songs, and "Over the Summer Sea" which is set to the melody of the familiar and beautiful "La donna e mobile." Reinold Werrenrath's ringing baritone is heard in "The Blacksmith," and Harry E. Humphrey tells interestingly that inimitable child fancy of James Whitcomb Riley, "The Bear Story, that Alex. Yist Maked Up His Own Self."

Those who have a Victor or Victrola in their homes will readily appreciate what all this new music means to their further enjoyment; and if those who don't possess one of these instruments will drop into any Victor dealer's they can hear some of this music and realize what splendid entertainment it offers to everyone.

WHITE CLOTHES HEALTHFUL.

Secretary of Kansas State Board Says Black Attire Means Discomfort. Topeka, Kan.—Dr. J. C. Crumblin, secretary of the state board of health, would make the main streets of all Kansas towns resemble the promenade of a tropical city.

He has addressed a circular to the men of Kansas asking them to discard their blue and black summer clothing for white. He wears white during the hot season and says it pays. Also, he would discard ice water as a menace to health.

"Women have learned the value of white dresses in the summer time," said Dr. Crumblin, "I can't understand why the men haven't learned the lesson long ago. Anything that resists heat in the summer makes for health. Black, blue or any other dark cloth is a heat absorbent and injurious.

"Our summer temperatures are as high and sometimes higher, than in the tropics. The fact that the air is dryer is all that saves us. White clothes in the tropics are not a whim of fashion. They are a tribute to necessity and health.

"The man in dark, heavy clothing always is rushing to the ice water," continued Dr. Crumblin. "And ten to one he will have a grouch on, while the cool man in white clothing is serene and even tempered. The ice water, dark clothing and the grouch are detrimental to public and private health."

Don't Be Suspicious

There seems to be a certain class that surmises if an article is sold cheap there must be something wrong. As a party said to me the other day, "You can't sell gasoline at 19c unless you mix it with water." I suppose he has the same suspicion that we have a contract with the Russel-Miller Milling Co. to prepare for us a sack of flour that weighs 90 lbs. instead of 98 lbs. As we sell Occident Flour for $2.65 per sack while others are asking $2.90 for the flour. This suspicious individual may think there is something wrong with granulated cane sugar for we are selling it for less than others are asking for it. Then there is another class that feel that they are under duty bound to trade with a certain friend of theirs no matter if they are obliged to pay 10 or 20 per cent more than they can buy the same grade and same article less. Then there is others who are indifferent and pay no attention to price or grade. Just go along slip shod and pay the price asked no matter how much less he can buy the same article elsewhere. If you will lay aside your suspicions and look into the matter of close buying. You will see at the end of the year that your expence account has been reduced. Don't let friendship interfere with close buying. Buy where you can get the best goods for the lowest prices, and benefit yourself and not your friend. We will save you money at A. H. Gray & Son. If you don't believe us, investigate and we will prove it to you,
