PROFESSOR WISE WRIES BILLY

Dear Billy: I just received your letter of the 27th in which you say your friend wants come ad vice as to whether or not to build a granary. I think the principal trouble with your friend is that his head runs up to a peak. I'll venture to say that an alienist could show you seventy-six reasons why that young man has no business to farm by examining his head.

No my boy, a farm without a Granary is like a bank without a vault, a potato farmer without a potato cellar, or a girl without a date.

The word Granary has a pregnant ring to it. It suggests Fullness, Realization and Plenty. It recalls the biblical days when Egypt was the world's storehouse. In years of drought to the valley of the Nile came the caravans of proud nations to bear a famine stricken world the golden treasure that the Egyptians, with far-seeing thrift had made to grow where no grain had grown before. It brought golden shekels to the valley of the Nile.

Tell your friend to go to the Rogers-Jeffrey Lumber Company and see their Granary plan Number 10. The Q. G. method of selling Granaries is unique. They sell a Granary complete from the picture of the elevation; guaranteeing the lumber bill to build it and giving you a set of plans of the building free.

A Granary is like a bank, it pays interest and compounds it 24 hours per diem.

See Mr. Jeffrey at the Rogers-Jeffrey Lumber Company.

WAR WOULD COST $50,000,000 A DAY

Few Can Realize Enormity of European Crisis.

INVOLVES 15,000,000 TROOPS

Climax Outcome of Years of Animosity on Part of Austria Against Serbia—Triple Alliance and Triple Entente Are Thereby Involved—Assassination of Duke Excuse For Crisis.

New York.—Few Americans realize the enormity of the situation in Europe, brought about by the differences between Austria and Serbia. Few persons can conceive of the greatness of a war involving 15,000,000 troops and all of the strong navies of the world with the exception of the American, Japanese and one or two smaller countries. But should the worst result this is exactly what would happen.

The cost of such a war likewise would be more than the average person could fully realize. It has been estimated that it would be conducted at an aggregate cost of $50,000,000 a day, provided, of course, that all the powers participated. This would only include the expenses of conducting the warfare and would not include the loss sustained by relaxation in all business and commercial life of the continent.

The crisis is only an excuse for war after twenty-five years of jealous hatred between Austria and Serbia. It is a gigantic struggle between Slav and Teuton. The two countries have irritated each other for centuries. A war between these two countries is surely bloody and horrible, but nothing compared to the result of Germany and Italy upholding their ally, Austria, and opposing Serbia's friends, France, Russia and England.

It is the triple alliance against the triple entente. Russia, France and England compose the triple entente. This has been in existence for several years. Likewise the principals of the triple alliance have been in existence for years.

The tremendous increase of Russia saves the triple entente from being overwhelmed in numbers by the triple alliance. Germany alone has three-fourths as many inhabitants as Great Britain and France together, and Austria and Italy add roundly $6,000,000 to this number. The great population of Russia, however, brings the total strength of the triple entente to 253,000,000 against 152,000,000 for the triple alliance.

The assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife was the spark that has kindled into flame the long smoldering embers of Austrian and Serbian hatred. Shocking as that tragedy was it was, after all, but one incident in a long chapter of political reprisals which Austria has been quick to seize as an opportunity to vent the hatred of years on the little neighboring state, whose aggressions she can no longer ignore and whose pretensions she no longer dares to scorn. With this excuse Austria made demands which Serbia, by refusing, caused the world to shudder at the thought of all Europe in arms.

AXEL HUUS, LOCAL NIGHT ENGINE WATCHMAN CELEBRATES 10th ANNIVERSARY AS EMPLOYEE OF N. P. R. R.

"Well done, thou good and faithful servant," can aptly be said of Axel Huus, who on the 4th of this month celebrated his tenth anniversary as a night engine watchman in the local yards of the N. P. Mr. Huus is an exceptionally faithful and efficient workman in his particular line. During the ten years he has served the railway company in this capacity, he never heard complaint that the work wasn't satisfactory. The unanimous opinion of the engineers on the division is that Mr. Huus is the most capable, efficient

SOME BALL GAME.

In a one-sided game the Alta Jaybirds lambasted Sanborn and two umpires Sunday, 17 to 2, for the amateur championship of Barnes county and a $100 side bet. Taylor for Alta allowed only three hits, while the Alta boys walloped Olson, Neustal, Dahms and Omera at will, getting five home runs, three by McDonald and one each by Taylor and Bebee. Meldahl caught a perfect game for the winners, his pegging being marvelous, while Hills first base play was another feature. A large crowd witnessed the game.

PLAYGROUND NOTES.

Saturday, August 1st, which was the closing day for the playground activities this season, was marked by the final games of the tennis tournament singles. Sixteen boys entered the contest and all made a creditable showing.

Arthur Bowen and Edward Girard, who together won the championship in doubles earlier in the season, persistently defeated their opponents in the preliminary and semi-final games and faced each other for the final battle Saturday evening, Arthur winning the championship medal while Edward was awarded a silver medal for second place.

Even the extremely hot weather could not lessen the enthusiasm of the smaller children over their games, folk-dances and story hour. They were especially delighted with the story hours conducted by Mrs. Switzer and the Misses Carlson and Bailie during the last week.

Through the forfeiture of a game in baseball the Midget series was declared a victory for Beachem's nine.

and trustworthy in his line of work. The master mechanic of the division has repeatedly expressed his satisfaction of the work done by Mr. Huus and has said that he is the only man on that division of whom he has heard no complaint by the engineers on the road. The high esteem in which he is held by all was testified to a couple of years ago, when on his return after a visit to his native country, the entire corps of the engineers on the division petitioned the railway company to procure free passage for him from New York, which they succeeded in doing, and naturally Mr. Huus felt highly elated over the high esteem in which he is held by his fellow work men and superiors.
