

THUEL BURNHAM COM- ING TO VALLEY CITY NEXT THURSDAY

MOST-TALKED-OF PIANIST IN PARIS BEFORE THE WAR TO APPEAR AT NORMAL.

He is an artist of remarkable powers.—London Era.

He added another great success to his already glorious career.—Gil Blas, Paris.

There are few pianists like him in the world today.—Artists' Gazetteer, New York.

THUEL BURNHAM

Most Talked of Pianist in Paris Before the War who appears in recital in the Normal School Auditorium, Thursday evening, December 10.

Such is the trend of the universal comment given Thuel Burnham, the remarkable young American pianist, who is to appear in the Normal school auditorium a week from next Thursday evening. Mr. Burnham appears here in response to the third attempt to engage him for an artists' course number, not so much for a piano program, as for the man himself, though he is assurance enough of all that could be desired of a pianist.

Although Mr. Burnham went to Europe fourteen years ago and until recently has since then made his home there, he is every bit American. He began playing the piano before he could read or write; improvised and played from ear many things that he heard his mother—who was a very accomplished pianist—play.

He began his public appearances while still a child and during his boy-hood was known all over the United States as a child prodigy of great brilliancy and promise. He made extensive concert tours in recital and was soloist at the Metropolitan Sunday night concerts and other big concerts.

During this period he was an assiduous and faithful pupil of Wm. Mason, of New York, in piano, and of E.
M. Bowman in theory.

He then went to Europe, where he made a brilliant and successful concert tour of England, becoming a great favorite in London, where there were extraordinary demonstrations of enthusiasm and popular favor at his concerts.

At this juncture of his notable career he went to the great Leschetizky in Vienna and three years' hard work.
At the end of this period, with his art ripened, his technique polished and perfected, his readings and artistic perceptions trained and developed, Burnham made a reappearance—a mature artist of great powers. His success was instantaneous and remarkable throughout the different capitals of Europe where he appeared.

He has been called the "most talked of pianist in Paris," where he has a tremendous following and his success has been sensational.

PURCHASED EXCHANGE.

NEWSY NORMAL NOTES

If reports from other points may be considered, the recital of Thuel Burnham, pianist, in the auditorium on Thursday of next week, will be one of the finest to be heard her this season. The commendations according Mr. Burnham wherever he appears is of the most elaborate nature.

Dr. Joseph H. Hill, formerly president of the State Normal school at Emporia, Kansas, now occupying the chair of education at Boston university, will be the "annual visitor" at the Normal school early in the winter term. Dr. Hill will address the students at the general exercises each morning and the faculty each afternoon.

Dr. Acher's advanced psychology class met at his home on Tuesday evening of last week to discuss some of the interesting phases of the subject studied. "Transference of Training" and the "Psychology of Play" were the topics of the evening. The gathering closed its meeting with several musical numbers and refreshments, served by Mrs. Acher.

Ex-State superintendent of Public Instruction Dr. Henry H. Pattengill, of Lansing, Mich., addressed the students and faculty at the general exercises last Saturday morning. Dr. Pattengill took for his subject "The Big Ditch," having spent a fortnight in the Panama Canal Zone recently. The address was replete with humor as Dr.
Pattengill's addresses usually are.

With the advent of winter, the hot noon-day lunch is again being served to students of the model school who are unable to go to their homes for dinner. The lunch is served under the direction of the domestic science department by the students of that department. For two cents a day each pupil is served with a dish of hot food to supplement the cold lunch brought from home. The food is prepared by one student, served by another, while a third conducts a story hour after the pupils have washed the dishes.

American School Peace League. These prizes consist of $75, $50, and $25 offered for the three best essays submitted on the subject of "The Opportunity and Duty of the Schools in the International Peace Movement." Essays are to be submitted to an European and an American board of judges and the contest is open to normal school seniors in all countries. The award of prizes will be made at the meeting of the league next July.

Prof. L. C. Call attended the meeting of faculty representatives of the
