Biliousness and Constipation Cured.
If you are ever troubled with biliousness or constipation you will be interested in the statement of R. F. Erwin, Peru, Ind., 'year ago last winter I had an attack of indigestion followed by biliousness and constipation. Seeing Chamberlain's Tablets so highly recommended, I bought a bottle of them and they helped me right away.' For sale by Siegfried Pharmacy.

BILLY WISE SAYS:

A fellow come to me the other day and wanted to know the best way to start getting a farm like mine.

"Be a business man," says I, well-in all up.

Of course I've got some farm, I'll have to admit, with a line of steel fence posts and woven wire fence around it, a bungalow house with water in, a barn that can't be beat, a machine shed and chicken house. When I look it over, I've got to hand it to myself—and to Bertha.

"Yes, John," I says, "be a business man, save on things like machinery, which fall to pieces if not covered. Buy a Silo and raise corn. You know that corn fodder in a Silo preserves 95% on its food value as well as all on its bulk. Without a Silo, one third of it is wasted by tramping under foot and all of it loses its food properties."

"Yes, but a Silo costs something," says friend John.

"Of course it don't, you gock," says I, "a Silo is free. Why if you have 20 acres of corn, with fodder worth $4.00 per ton and you save one-third of the fodder because you have a Silo, how long do you figure it is before your silo is a Christmas gift?"

Why, say, John, to a man who has 10 cows and calves and feeds silage with as much care as he gives to a game of pool, a Silo is a present from Santa Claus, wrapped up and tied with blue baby ribbon, with a sprig of holly in the cupola and "Holiday Greetings" written on the package.

Why Santa Claus would owe you money in two years.

Say do you know John went and subscribed to four farm magazines to read up on Silos. See ROGERS-JEFFREY LUMBER CO., about one now.

Billy Wise.

The funeral of little Wilma Barnes, the little daughter of Mrs. Lillian Barnes was held on Sunday afternoon from the residence of Mrs. Mary Hood on North Fifth Avenue. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends, and the Rev. Willard Crosby Lyon officiated.

Dangers of a Cold.
Do you know that of all the minor ailments colds are by far the most dangerous? It is not colds themselves that you need to fear, but the serious diseases that they so often lead to. For that reason every cold should be gotten rid of with the least possible delay. To accomplish this you will find Chamberlain's Cough Remedy of great help to you. It loosens a cold, relieves the lungs, aids expectoration and enables the system to throw off the cold. For sale by Siegfried Pharmacy.
