

LINDE ENJOINS TWO ROADS FROM CARRYING LIQUORS

Bismarck, July 16.—Attorney General H. J. Linde secured injunctions against the Soo Railway company and the Great Northern Railway company on actions brought by the state of North Dakota to enjoin such railway companies from receiving, carrying and delivering intoxicating liquors for illegal use within the state of North Dakota. These two actions complete a series of four cases started by the attorney general against the Northern Pacific, Milwaukee, Soo and Great Northern Railway companies. These cases are started in the eleventh district before Judge Frank E. Fisk.

Judge Fisk issued a temporary injunction in each case and ordered the Soo Railway company to show cause on the 26th day of July and the Great Northern Railway company on the 27th day of July, why such injunctions should not remain in force during the pending of these actions.

The facts upon which these two actions were started were secured by Attorney General Linde at the freight offices of the Soo and Great Northern Railway companies at Minot, and indicate that a vast quantity of liquor had been shipped into the city of Minot to a comparatively few persons.

In the Soo case it appears that for a period of about 16 months 40 men received, through the Soo Railway company at the city of Minot, over 13,000 cases of beer, or an average of 20 cases of beer apiece for a month. Certain individuals, like K. Atkins received 435 cases of beer in 14 months; D. Elkins 439; J. Emmet 416; F. P. Greene 416; F. Jameson 417; D. Kinslow 445; L. MaGee 438; J. O'Brien 421; B. Schlen 461. In addition it appears that in the Great Northern case a comparatively small number of men received from January, 1914, to April, 1915, over 13,000 cases of beer; 798 quarter kegs of whiskey and 182 boxes of whiskey. A Fitzpatrick received for the period of 15 months, 146 cases of whiskey. One R. Abbey in nine months received 78 cases of whiskey. J. O'Brien in 12 months received 80 cases of whiskey.

It further appears from evidence in the possession of Attorney General Linde that many of the names used are wholly fictitious and that the great bulk of the deliveries of whiskey and beer were made through certain draymen in the city of Minot. It further appears from affidavits in the possession of Mr. Linde and which are attached to the moving papers in these actions that great quantities of intoxicating liquor are brought into the city of Minot over these railroad companies and are sold in said city in violation of law, and such sales are so open and
