The first team of the Reserves of the Normal school will both play games at outside towns tonight. The first team meets the Wahpeton Science team at Wahpeton tonight. The Reserves meet the Enderlin High school. From Wahpeton the first team goes to Moorhead, where they meet the Moorhead team Saturday evening. The Moorhead team is one of the strongest aggregations that the Valley City Normal will play this year, and are strong rivals for conference honors. The defeat of Jamestown by the Moorhead Normal on the Jamestown floor, makes prospects for a close game look good.

Chas. Ratzlaff, a prominent farmer near Cooperstown, was burned to death Wednesday, when the straw pile in which he was evidently sleeping caught on fire, perhaps from the sparks of his pipe. The body, which had been very badly burned, and having not much more than shoes left upon it, was found by a neighbor. The face had been badly burned and none of the hair on the head had been burned. A cap found a few feet from the body indicated that the head had had its protection until the clothing had been burned. The coroner's jury views the case as one of pure accident, and believes that Ratzlaff dozed off while sitting on the straw, and the fire from his pipe ignited the straw.

The friends of Mrs. D. A. McDonald, formerly Zela Dobbin of this city, and a sister of Mrs. L. A. Wood, will be sorry to hear of the death of Mr. McDonald, on the twenty-fifth of January, 1921. Each person was given an opportunity to guess after a purchase of coffee. Several other guesses were registered, but the three named above were the closest.

Joe Brady of this city passed away early Friday morning. The remains will be buried at Edgeley, N. D., and the Elks Lodge at Jamestown will have charge of the funeral. Mr. Brady has lived here for several years, and leaves a wife and two children. He formerly was in business in the city, but during the last two or three years has suffered from paralysis, which finally resulted in his death. The remains were taken to Jamestown Sunday evening, and the services were held at Jamestown this morning. Interment will be made at Edgeley tomorrow morning.

One of the most enjoyable receptions ever given in the Congregational church was enjoyed by about 150 people Friday evening. The guests were Rev. and Mrs. Nugent, who recently moved here from Kewanee, Ill., Rev. Nugent accepting the pastorate of the local Congregational church. Rev. Wilds of the Epworth M. E. church and Rev. Fox of the Episcopal church both gave short addresses of welcome. This was followed by a musical program consisting of violin solos by Knute Froyas and two vocal solos by Mrs. Froyas. Delicious refreshments were served, and a delightful time enjoyed by all present. Those who were present speak of the affair as one of the most successful and most enjoyable of any ever given in the church.

The Royal Neighbors held their regular meeting last Friday night in the K. P. hall with a large attendance which was very encouraging to the new officers, this being their first meeting. It was decided to change their meeting night to the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays of the month. Members please remember that the next meeting will be held on the first Tuesday of February at which time a large class will be initiated. After the business meeting the evening was turned over to the committee of entertainment for January. When the committee retired to make preparations there was an audible whisper throughout the audience of around 200, wondering what surprise was in store for them. They had only a short time to wait then 12 couples all dressed as they were dressed 25 years ago marched in and very gracefully danced the Virginia Reel. From then on most every one joined and tripped the light fantastic until both hands of the clock pointed upward, every one feeling betted for the evening's enjoyment and looking forward to the social meeting in February.

An educational campaign in behalf of crippled children has been started in the state by Mrs. Charles E. Jones of Lisbon, N. D. A report of the county nurse of Barnes county, reveals the fact that there are 100 crippled children uncared for, and 544 in LaMoure county. Mrs. Jones says she will be glad to give any one interested, particularly the American War Mothers, an outline of what is being done for crippled children, and how individual medical care can be secured, for until North Dakota makes provision, the individual case must be cared for.

Carrying out the decree of Judge Woodrough, of United States district court, the railroads operating in North Dakota have paid to the state treasurer, $1,233,880 for taxes. The case arose out of the increased valuation made by the state board of equalization on railroad property. In the decree Judge Woodrough held part of the increase valid, and part confiscatory. It was announced at the time that the railroads were satisfied with the decision and would pay the tax.

Clarence Eddy, the dean of American organists, who will play in the Congregational church on Tuesday, February 8, under the auspices of the Auxiliary Guild of the church, has had a most remarkable career. Mr. Eddy was born at Greenfield, Mass., and began studying the piano at the age of 11. His first organ lessons were taken from J. Gilbert Wilson two years later, after which he studied a year under Dudley Buck, at Hartford, Conn. For two years he officiated as organist at the Bethany church at Moseley, Vt., and then went to Berlin to study under August Haupt, organist and Albert Loeschhorn, pianist. After completing his studies abroad he made a very successful concert tour of Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Holland. He then returned to the United States and located in Chicago where he was organist at the First Congregational church for two years and later the First Presbyterian church for 17 years. In Chicago he gave upwards of 400 recitals, including a series of 100 programs without a single repetition. This last feat made him famous and his reputation grew rapidly. Mr. Eddy's repertoire comprises practically everything written for the organ as well as numerous manuscripts which have been dedicated to him. Mr. Eddy has published several works which are used extensively over the United States. He was made an honorary member of the Saint Cecilia Academy in Rome, following a recital given there.

Judge M. J. Englert heard a case from Cooperstown the early part of this week, involving the passing of some bank checks by a young lady who gave her name as Mae Dolen, and her place of residence at Boscobel, Wis. Miss Dolen has been in and near Cooperstown since October, and has engaged in the sale of goods through a house for which she canvassed. In the month named she forged a check given at a Cooperstown store, and just recently another check of like character at a Cooperstown bank. The last named check was a forgery, in which the woman used the name of Wm. Margach to the check. Judge Englert sentenced her to a term of one year in the penitentiary, and then granted a sentence with the understanding that the young lady would return to her home in Wisconsin and remain with her parents and honor and obey them.
