

From Monday's Daily

J. E. Jones has returned from an extended visit in New York City.

Miles Cserebro of Shell Rock, Ia., is visiting at the home of A. C. Thorkelson.

Mrs. C. E. Thayer leaves today for Minnewaukan, N. D., to spend a week visiting relatives at that place.

Miss Maxine Lowry who is connected with the bank of Rogers spent Sunday in the city with her sister Bess.

Clement McCulloch left this morning for Oriska to spend a few days running the lumber yard there while the regular manager is absent.

Ralph McCready, agent for the Maxotires, has moved his location from the Oliver Mackey building to Ben Sykes garage where he will continue his business.

Prof. J. E. Switzer left last Friday for Wilmington, Pa., where Mrs. Switzer is. He expects to study at Clark University, Worcester, Mass., during the next year.

Miss Sophia Kramer returned from a month's trip to Yellowstone and Glacier National parks. She was a member of Prof. Switzer's party, who have all come back after a most pleasant trip.

Arthur Overbee returned to the city last evening from an extended vacation to his home in South Dakota. Mr. Overbee is a civil engineer and connected with the state highway commission at this place.

Prof. N. J. G. Wickey of the Teacher's College preached yesterday morning at the Congregational church, to a congregation which completely filled the auditorium. He is a very able speaker, and his sermon was much enjoyed.

Mrs. W. E. Moore who recently underwent an operation at Rochester, Minn., is now visiting at the home of H. P. Lamners near St. Paul. Mrs. Lamners will be remembered by friends in this city, as Miss Viola Carlson, formerly a Valley City girl.

The local gun club held its regular weekly shoot Sunday with a good number in attendance. A larger number are going up to the traps every week, which goes to show there is some competition up there. There will be another shoot held Wednesday evening.

Judge William DuVall is about to undergo an operation. The Times-Record force have prevailed upon him to take chloroform and get his whiskers amputated so this evening he will be given a dose of chloroform and Rev. Wilds will perform this serious operation.

Messrs. Jas. J. Earley and Walter Coop were the guests of Messrs. A. Patterson and A. B. DeNault on Sunday in a game of golf on the Jamestown course. The hosts are two of the best players in the Jamestown club. Our local players report a delightful time, but decline to make the score public.

The High School basket ball team of 1920-21 wishes to thank the Commercial Club for the handsome belts and buckles presented to each of the players. The boys appreciate the gifts for their beauty and usefulness and also as a remembrance of the splendid cooperation and backing which the Commercial club has given athletics.

While coming down the Faimce hill last evening, a traveling man had the misfortune of having his radiator break and the result was that he ran into the curbing on the north end of Ninth avenue. He stopped the car in time to avoid any accident and summoned a mechanic from a garage. His car was fixed and he went (merrily) on his way.

Miss Marie D. Wilds, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Wilds is attending the college encampment of the Y. W. C. A. at Lake Geneva, Wis. Miss Wilds is representing the Y. W. C. A. of the Teachers College. The term lasts about two weeks. She reports a very pleasant experience so far in meeting college girls from many sections of the country. The attendance is very large.

The union services of the Congregational and Methodist churches was held last evening in the Congregational church. Rev. J. S. Wilds preached a fine sermon. A very pleasant and fitting feature was the rising vote of appreciation given to Prof. Olsson, who was closing his term of service as organist. This vote was by members of both congregations, and was entirely appropriate, expressing the sense of all who have enjoyed Mr. Olsson's playing.

A large crowd attended the lecture given by Rev. L. G. Moultrie at the Chautauqua yesterday afternoon. Mr. Moultrie is a fine speaker and gave the public a good idea of just what is being done by America for the thousands who are suffering in the near east. Mr. Moultrie had charge of an orphanage in the Near East for some time and had a great deal of experience in the handling of many starving children. A large number of out of town folks came in to hear Mr. Moultrie.

Alex Sawdy, champion heavyweight wrestler of the northwest, will wrestle here Friday evening, Sept. 2. Mr. Sawdy will attempt to pin Jack Anderson, 160 pounds, of Valley City and Les. Groeger, 175 pounds, of Sioux City, twice each in one hour or forfeit the match. Sawdy is an ex-service man, serving overseas 22 months and is the winner of the American Legion wrestling tournament held last winter. A good wrestling match is assured for Valley City fans. Sawdy wrestles Oederman in Fargo next month.

Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Stokes of Keokuk, Ill., visited with Rev. and Mrs. Thos. E. Nugent on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Stokes have been on a vacation trip in the Puget Sound region, and were on their way home. Mr. Stokes is the general manager of the Boss Manufacturing Co., which makes many of the millions of fabric gloves used in this country. The corporation operates 22 factories scattered over several states. Mr. Stokes says the manufacturing business is not booming just at present, there being little demand beyond people's most urgent needs.

Prof. Hannes S. Olsson of the Teachers College music faculty has accepted a position as director of music of the public schools of Mason City, Iowa, and will leave soon to take up his work there. Prof. Olsson is one of our best liked citizens, and has hosts of friends here who will be sorry to know of his leaving. He has identified himself with the church life of the community, and has served both the Methodist and Congregational churches as organist. The members of both churches will regret that he is to leave us, for his playing has been most acceptable.

Mr. Pete Rasmusson and Miss Marie Altenburg, both of Sanborn, N. D., were married at the Norwegian Lutheran Parsonage, Saturday, August 27, Rev. V. F. Larson officiating. Mrs. Rasmusson is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Altenburg, of Sanborn. Mr. Rasmusson followed the colors during the World War. Since receiving his discharge the groom has been engaged in farming. This worthy couple will reside on the Mrs. M. Moe farm near Sanborn. A host of friends at Valley City and Sanborn extend congratulations and best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life.

C. A. Holley who is connected with the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis and who has made Valley City his home for the past two years, leaves for Oakes, N. D. today, where he will locate for the present. While in the city Mr. Holley has made many friends who will indeed regret to see him leave. Mr. Holley is the kind of man that gets along with every one always known to have a fine disposition, and ready to take part in anything that will be of any benefit to the general public. The Times-Record joins with many friends in wishing Mr. Holley the best of success at Oakes.

Manager Piller of the moving picture house has secured Chief Red Feather, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, known as "The Singing Indian of Oklahoma," who will appear at the Grand today and tomorrow. He is said to be the greatest singer of the Indian race, and he will be heard in some characteristic Indian songs and dances. He is a college bred Indian and speaks three languages. His entertainment is given in full costume and will be very interesting to all, especially to those who like the Indian atmosphere, and the unique ways of the American Red Man. A change of program occurs daily.

Rev. Thomas E. Nugent and son Robert, have returned from a ten day's trip to Saskatchewan, where they visited with O. Z. McGee, manager of a large farm near Redvers. They made the trip by auto, and found the roads both bad and good, having 140 miles of mud on the trip. Crops generally were about the same as around Valley City. The best yield of wheat was reported at Sherwood, N. D., where a man had threshed 22 bushels to the acre. The best rye yield was in Saskatchewan, about 50 miles north of the border, where a field threshed out 27 bushels per acre. One strip of territory was crossed where there was almost nothing—the country between Fessenden and Drake. Stock generally was in fine condition, and feed plentiful. Many fine fields of corn were seen, all of good quality. Business conditions in Canada were reported much easier than in the states. Wheat prices were higher, No. 1 Marquis bringing $1.92 on the Winnipeg market. Money was easier to get and people generally quite optimistic. One feature noted was the increase of the amount of stock on the farms and ranches, especially sheep. Most of the farmers are talking stock very strongly, and there is much interest in that kind of development.

Carl Pfaff, manager of the People's Co-operative Trading Co., machinery department, has now accumulated a new toy in the shape of a motor boat and on Sunday tried out the boat for the first time. Now Carl is well versed in running tractors International trucks, Studebaker cars and the like, but when it comes to running a motor boat, Carl is lost. In the first place the river is not wide enough, and then again the path is not laid out as it is on a well traveled road, and if there is a stump, or a bridge that Carl didn't hit yesterday afternoon he wants to know where it is. He says if the N. P. had cut the piling out from under the high bridge things would not have been so bad but when he got to the bridge all he could see was piling and of course he had to hit them. Then the bull heads in the river are not as well educated as they should be and insist on getting into the intake pipe and as any engine must have water to run, of course his engine not being able to get water got red hot and stopped. We understand that these are only a few of the minor trouble on his first trip and we understand that Mrs. Pfaff has decided she and the children will not venture on the river again until Carl takes a special pilot's examination. Carl today is looking for the guy that told him there was no trouble connected with running a motor boat.

A very pretty wedding took place Thursday, Aug. 27, at the Ernest Fritch farm west of town when Miss Nettie Tolstad of Dazey, N. D., sister of Mrs. Ernest Fritch, became the wife of Mr. John B. Climie of Cooperstown, N. P. Mrs. Bernice Shearer of Dazey, N. D. played the wedding march. The bridal pair was attended by Mrs. E. R. Dazey and Miss Olive Colville of Fargo. Rev. V. F. Larson read the marriage service. Mrs. Climie is the youngest daughter of Mr. Andrew Tolstad of Dazey. After finishing the public schools at Dazey the bride attended the University of North Dakota, for a period of two years. She has been a successful teacher in the public schools of the state also for a period of two years she has taught at Flasher and at Dazey, her home town. Mr. Climie hails from Cooperstown. At the early death of his parents Mr. Climie found a good home with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Brown of Cooperstown. The young couple after spending a short honeymoon at Shoreham, Minn., will reside at Dazey where the groom has a position with the Telephone company of that village. Present at the wedding were Mr. Andrew Tolstad and daughter, Edna, of Dazey; Miss Ella Tolstad of Valley City, the Lewis Brown family of Cooperstown and Mr. B. B. Brown, the aged grandfather of the groom, also of Cooperstown. Following the marriage service a delicious two course wedding dinner was served by the hostess, Mrs. Ernest Fritch.

Mr. Combs left the family at the lakes and went on to Cincinnati to attend a meeting of the American Bar Association. Mr. Combs being the delegate sent from North Dakota.

A party of men who were apparently holding a conversation concerning the threshing and other street talk, were almost thrown into a panic this morning when a wild colt came down the street at a terrific rate of speed almost running up on the sidewalk. With the exception of a few women letting out one of those loud shrieks such as only a woman can emit, the colt went on its way down the street.

The local police received a telegram from Washburn authorities this morning to be on the lookout for two men who are wanted for a murder at that place last night. One of the men is six foot tall, sandy brown hair, 30 years of age and about 170 pounds. Wore white felt hat, and dark striped overalls. The other is 5 feet 6 inches tall, dark complexion, eyes on left cheek. It is thought the murder was the result of a hold up at that place last night.

Chief Red Feather, the Indian who is appearing at the Grand this evening has a very interesting personal history. One day while he was a small boy playing around his home in Oklahoma, a stranger rode up and asked him for something to eat. The little fellow gave the stranger a good meal and was asked about his family. When the stranger finished his meal he asked if the boy would give him some food for some friends of his who were close to the cabin. The boy assented and went with the stranger to hiding place not far away where he found a band of men with their horses all saddled, but all at rest. They ate with great relish the food that was brought, and then one of them called the Indian lad and stuffed his pockets with money in large bills. They also gave him a letter to take to his folks saying that the boy must be sent to school. The leader in this unusual incident was none other than Jesse James, the famous bandit and bank robber. The boy was sent immediately to Philadelphia and entered in the schools there. Coming home for Christmas two years later he found $800 in bills tied to a twig on a bush near his cabin, from the same source. The letter is still preserved, and is a much valued document. The boy completed his schooling, and did not know until long afterwards who his benefactor was. The Chief will be heard again this evening the Grand and will sing three Indian songs: "Day by Day," "Gimme the Leavings," and "Indian Engagement Song."

Stories of Great Scouts By Elmo Scott Watson

SHARPE GROVER, "BEST SCOUT GOVERNMENT EVER HAD"

"The best scout the government ever had," said some of the army officers for whom Sharpe Grover scouted during the Indian wars in Kansas in 1867-68, and more than once he showed himself worthy of the title. He had married a Sioux woman, and lived with the tribe for years. He could speak their language and knew their ways. As a trailer and reader of signs, Grover was without a peer.

He could tell how long since the tracks had been made; whether they were by horses or ponies, shod or unshod; how many were ridden, how many were driven; whether it was a war party or one moving from one camp to another.

When the Sioux went on the war-path in 1866, Grover left them and joined the army as a scout for Custer. In August, 1868, with Billy Comstock, another noted scout, he visited the camp of Chief Turkey Leg of the Cheyennes, whose warriors were supposed to be friendly. One of the Indians, however, saw the fine pearl-handled revolver carried by Comstock and determined to have it. When the scouts left the camp seven Cheyennes rode away with them.

While engaged in friendly conversation, the Indians suddenly dropped to the rear and opened fire. Comstock was killed instantly and Grover badly wounded, but lying on the ground and making a desperate defense of Comstock's body, he fought off the Indians until nightfall and escaped.

The next month Grover joined Gen. G. A. Forsyth's band of scouts and was with them at the celebrated Beecher's Island fight. As Roman Nose's warriors shouted to each other, Grover understood everything they said, and told Forsyth what they were planning to do. After the biggest charge of the Sioux and Cheyennes had been turned back, Forsyth turned to Grover and said: "Can they do better than that, Grover?"

"I have been on the plains, man and boy, for 30 years, and I never saw such a charge before," was the scout's reply. "I think they have done their level best."

"All right, we're good for them, then," said Forsyth.

For years the fact that Grover was with Forsyth that day was kept from the Indians, for he was friendly with them, and they would have killed him without mercy, had they known. Later they did learn it and attempted several times to kill him, but he always escaped. Unfortunately Grover drank heavily, and a few years after the Beecher fight he was killed in a row at Pond City, near Fort Wallace, an inglorious end for so great a scout.

Left an Opening. "Opportunity is knocking at your door," said the Optimist.

"I hate the whole tribe of knockers," growled the Pessimist.

"That being the case," said the Optimist, preparing to duck, "it's quite obvious that you hate yourself."

Peters Shells WHEN the season opens and you are getting your equipment ready, give due consideration to the matter of ammunition. Your hunting equipment can be no better than the ammunition that is a part of it. The shell is the "last word" in every shot you make; but if it be faulty, your hunting expedition will be lacking in success and in enjoyment. PETERS SHELLS are famous for their uniform performance. Day after day you can count on them to produce results that you expect of good ammunition. Insist on the P brand. The ammunition end of your equipment will then be unexcelled. MANY HOMES BEING BUILT Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 30.—Sixty-two homes already occupied, 177 houses started and 194 loans passed is the record so far of the Winnipeg housing commission. The city pledges the credit of home builders. Loan companies have been reluctant to take unsecured loans for home building, so the city went into the housing shortage with a view to alleviating conditions.

MEXICAN BANDITS SOUGHT BY AMERICANS Ruby, Ariz., Aug. 30.—Failure of Mexican officials to capture and turn over to American authorities, the bandits who killed Frank Pearson and his wife and seriously injured Mrs. Pearson's sister, will, it is believed result in terror along the boarder. Threats of organized raiding parties have been made on the Mexican killers who are known here.

MINERS CONTINUE MARCH Madison, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Bands of armed miners are moving at intervals to Logan county determined to carry out their intended invasion, County Prosecutor Miller reported to state authorities today.

JAMESTOWN VS. V. C. GOLFERS Tomorrow at 1:30 at the new V. C. country club grounds occurs the return meeting with the Jamestown County Club golf players. By telephone today the Jamestown folks inform us that they are sending at least twenty-six players and their professional to the match and expect to return with the honors. There will be therefore at least thirteen foursomes or matches besides the professionals' match between our local professional, Joe Brophy and Anderson, the Jamestown pro, for which latter match there is provided a purse of $20.

Valley City players are requested to be at the grounds promptly at 1:30 and so far as opponents are on hand from Jamestown, they will be matched. The team matches will be medal play and the professional match will be match play and all players will be pertaining to that style of play. Members of the local club and their families are urgently requested to be present as spectators even if they are not matched and if they are willing to assist in the scoring, one scorer to each foursome.

At the finish of the match the Jamestown players will be entertained at a banquet at the Rudolf Hotel to which all members of the Valley City club are invited. Those wishing to attend should notify Mr. Burl Carr, the secretary, or the Rudolf Hotel by 10 a. m. Friday.
