Dick Pugh, who has edited the Nome Tribune for some years, has sold out to V. McGilvry, who published the first issue under the new management last week.

Mr. Townley has taken five books on physical culture to jail with him and says that he has been run down the past five years and is all shot to pieces, but now that he has a little spare time or his hands he will put a lot of that time in getting in shape physically.

Mr. Nestos is the recipient of many little parties in his behalf in various parts of the state, and tonight is to be the guest of the Fargo people. In all the speeches he has made since election he makes it very plain that he will carry out the wishes of the voters as he sees it.

Since a few Dunn county radicals want the newly elected officials of the state stopped from taking their offices, Mr. Lemke has made it known that he does not think that there were enough petitioners signed on the recall for him to come out with any such silly statement as that.

There is a disposition on the part of a few radical leaguers to throw out the hint that the independents have been elected to office and that there is no more money in sight and no les taxes.

Mrs. Esther Liederbach, writing in the Courier-News this morning sends up a wail like the last sad notes of a dying swan. She says that the defeat of the nonpartisans last Friday week was not a Waterloo but a Bunker Hill.

Obert A. Olson, former state treasurer, says that many nonpartisans and others are writing letters to him asking for the formation of another or third political party to put candidates in the field next June composed of voters who want to get out of the league and the I. V. A.

publican party but with the help of the loyal democrats of the state a few days ago it was recovered. There should only be two parties the democrats and republican, and if the radicals put in another ticket the two old parties can preserve their organization at the primaries and if they feel like it fuse in the fall to beat the enemy.

William Bradley, a farmer living west of Montpelier in Stutsman county, and Thomas Pendray, of Jamestown, who ran for congress against Mr. Young two years ago, mistake the day of leaguers and non-leaguers as a sort of bury the hatchet stunt.

There will be a program at the State Teachers College on Friday morning commencing at 10:45 to properly observe Armistice Day. The program will be practically as follows: 10:45—Reading of President Harding's proclamation.

NORTH DAKOTA'S WARNING TO DEMAGOGUES

North Dakota has demonstrated anew the truth of the claim that the sure cure for demagoguery in politics is the demagogue in power.

The man in politics and public life who seeks to array class against class, who appeals to envy and hatred of wealth and promises the people that he is going to strip the rich man to clothe the poor, is manifestly dishonest in his professions of special interest in the "common people" and can be depended upon to swindle and exploit the public once he is given the opportunity.

And that sort of demagoguery has even ceased to be popular, indeed it is becoming odious. The people are tasting the bitter fruits of such demagoguery at this time in political and economic chaos.

If ever there was a time when it would be not only honest but profitable for men in public life to consider public questions on their merits, rather than by the usual standards of political demagoguery, that time is now.

And for this let us, as Americans concerned for the future of this republic, be duly thankful. The most dangerous menace to popular government is the politician whose position on public questions represents an abandonment of conviction, of genuine devotion to the public good, and is based only upon a cunning purpose to be fool and mislead and then to exploit the people.—National Republican.

A. N. ROWLEY WRITES FORUM

A. N. Rowley, formerly of Valley City, who was with the Stern Candy Co., writes the Fargo Forum as follows:

Five years and one week ago today, Arthur Townley brought forth upon this prairie "The Dawn of a New Day," deceived in socialism and dedicated to the proposition that all farmers should divide equal.

It is altogether proper that we should do this, but we cannot buy more gasoline, we cannot buy Lemke more homes, nor can we invest in Florida lands.

Former Resident of North Dakota, Chicago, Nov. 2.

Fourth week end, payday, enough in itself, but two of us fared better. The superintendent and his wife with his secretary took us in her Evinrude to the head of Trout Lake.

The following week end was spent at Virginia attending the District Teachers' Association. The meetings were held in their splendid high school building. While there we went thru one of the largest saw mills in the United States.

Week end number six was canoeing weather, so seven of us took three canoes and paddled across to an Indian trail. We saw a number of huts and at one place we saw the Indians smoking fish in a sort of tepee made of birchbark.

But the last week end was perhaps the most thrilling of all. The superintendent, his wife and little boy, secretary and four of us girls started out at six o'clock Friday night for the superintendent's cottage on the farther side of the big bay.

We landed on the nearest shore and by some good fortune we landed safely, built a fire, warmed up, and explored with flash light what we found to be an island with a very rocky shore.

Tower is one of the oldest ore mines. While it may be old and, as some call it, a "Sleepy Hollow" town there is so much of interest around it that we enjoy being here.

By proclamation of President Harding Armistice Day for this year only will be a legal holiday. In accordance with this proclamation there will be no Times-Record issued next Friday, the force desisting from their labors in order to help properly celebrate the greatest of all days in our American life.

As teachers we shall often become discouraged but do not let your discouragement overcome you. Think of the child as a spark of Divinity which you are to help unfold from within. Do not forget the responsibility you owe to the children of the state and consider your profession a sacred one and not a stepping stone to something else.

Remember above date, that examination on this trip will be free and that his treatment is different. Address: 336 Boston Block, Minneapolis, Minn.

GAVE TALK ON "THE MASTER TEACHER"

Mr. A. F. Benson, principal of the Charles M. Baldwin Junior High School, of Minneapolis, gave a very interesting talk to the students and faculty during chapel last Friday morning on "The Master Teacher."

The Master Teacher was born among the common people, in the poorest possible conditions and He rose thru individual effort. Up until the time He was thirty years old we hear of Him only once, when He was found in the temple and of the last three years that He lived not more than thirty days have been recorded.

The preparation of the Master Teacher lasted for thirty years. If we in our profession are to become efficient, we must have preparation such that will enable us to do the highest type of work possible.

We must not overlook the value of individualism. The Master Teacher could reach down into the heart of every individual and find there a nugget of good. Personality may be defined as that indefinite something which draws as a magnet the best or the worst of us.

By proclamation of President Harding Armistice Day for this year only will be a legal holiday. In accordance with this proclamation there will be no Times-Record issued next Friday, the force desisting from their labors in order to help properly celebrate the greatest of all days in our American life.

It is hoped the rest of the business men of the city will fall in line to help celebrate the occasion. The American Legion boys are putting on a dance in the high school auditorium that night and it is expected that there will be a great crowd present.
