

From Wednesday's Daily

Percy Ferguson, of Dazey was a guest of the Hotel Kindred this morning.

Chas. R. Farrell, one of our citizens from Dazey, was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

M. N. Wilberg, D. A. Wolsky and Oscar Aas, all of Nome were guests of the Rudolf Hotel last evening.

R. A. Perkins, of Rogers, was a business visitor in the city last night, being registered at the Hotel Rudolf.

Father Baker returned from Fargo this morning where he has been the past few days.

Mrs. Will Isham of Fargo is a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cheney of this city. Mrs. Isham is on her way to Los Angeles where she will reside for some time.

Aaron A. Liederbach of Fargo and Dunn Center, who is fast fading from public memory, is a Valley City visitor today.

John Aygarn, one of the prominent farmers from the Rogers district, autographed to the city yesterday afternoon, coming down to look after business matters.

Ludwig Olson, formerly of this city was up from Fargo yesterday looking after business matter. Ludwig is always glad to come up and spend a few hours with his friends in the city.

The Older Boys Conference, meeting in this city last week voted to hold their annual meeting in Jamestown next year and it is expected that fully twenty-five delegates from this city will attend.

The Degree of Honor Protective Association will meet in the Odd Fellows Hall Thursday evening, December 1 at 7:30. All members are requested to be present as there will be election of officers.

Prof. E. L. Scarlett of the manual training department in our local High school is confined in the detention hospital with an attack of scarlet fever. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

That noted writer and lecturer, Opie Read, arrived in the city this morning and will deliver his lecture "Human Nature and Politics" at the State Teachers College Auditorium this evening. He is famous as a lecturer and our readers will do well to attend this evening.

Feeling the need of slackening up a little in our work the editor of the Times-Record has secured Mr. Lynn Cowell to act in the capacity of assistant editor of the paper. If you have any news item of interest give it to Mr. Cowell and he will be glad to take care of it.

The Rotarians held their weekly luncheon at the Rudolf Hotel yesterday and report one of the best times so far enjoyed. Prof. J. B. Meyer of the State Teachers College was the speaker of the day and gave a very interesting paper on H. G. Wells, the noted English writer.

The eighth grade of the Wagner School, Miss Cook teacher, challenged the Cuba Non-Slackers in the four fundamentals of arithmetic. Due to the roads and inclement weather they were unable to come at the appointed time.

Fred P. Mann of Devils Lake was elected vice president of the Interstate Merchants Council which was organized in Chicago yesterday. This organization is representative of 29 states. This is a signal honor to be conferred upon Mr. Mann and one to which he is well entitled.

Dr. W. E. Turner, who is a native of the state and a graduate of the University of Illinois, class of 1918, has arrived in the city and will be in charge of the Featherstone Dental offices. Dr. Turner, besides being efficient in his profession, is an ex-service man and a member of the American Legion.

G. J. Heinze, editor of the Tower City Topics, dropped off No. 7 this morning to spend the day in our city. G. J. is a real hustler and is spending the day rustling some Christmas advertising from our local merchants for his paper.

John K. Thune, one of the pioneer farmers of Griggs county, living near Binford, N. D., accompanied by S. K. Alfstad, were Valley City visitors last night, leaving for home this morning on No. 7. Mr. Thune dropped around to the Times-Record office to see the editor. He stated that they were just returning from Bismarck where he had been to see a sister who is sick in the hospital in that city.

An all-state mythical football team selected by H. F. Horner of Fargo, places three former Valley City boys on the team, placing Houser, captain of the University team at left-tackle Avery of the University at left-guard and Arthur Busdicker of the University at right-end. Arthur Busdicker who is the best known among Valley City people of the trio, has been placed on the various all-state teams in basketball and football so often that it should be getting tiresome to him.

A. A. Boe, of Fingal, is in the city today. He informs us that he and Mrs. Boe have recently returned from a visit of several months duration to Norway and Sweden and are mighty glad to be back as the United States and particularly North Dakota, is the garden spot of the world. He is also very well pleased with the political house cleaning our state has recently experienced.

Ethel Clayton's new Paramount picture, "Sham" which is on view at the Grand theater tonight only, is a delightful picture. The beautiful comedienne has a role in which the manifold talents appear at their best. Clyde Fillmore is her leading man and heads an excellent supporting cast.

The members of the Eastern Star lodge entertained a few of their friends at a combined dancing and card party in the lodge rooms last evening. About twenty-four couples were entertained at whist during the evening and the balance of the guests enjoyed dancing, to the music furnished by Messrs. Thayer and Yule, after which a very pleasing lunch was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Harry Upton was presented with a prize, having made the highest score for the ladies while J. J. Grest succeeded in capturing the prize for the men. The ladies in charge are to be complimented upon the enjoyable parties they offer.

From Tuesday's Daily

A. A. Boe and wife, prominent citizens of Fingal, are spending the day in the city.

Mrs. C. F. Anderson, of Minneapolis, Minn., is a visitor to the city, arriving here last night.

Last night we had a rain and then it "froze" and this morning the streets and sidewalks are somewhat slippery.

Henry Kuder of Rogers leaves tonight for Pardeeville, Wisconsin, where he will spend the winter with a sister.

Mr. Louis Kubaik who spent Thanksgiving at Sheriff Larson's residence returned to his home in St. Paul Sunday evening on No. 4.

C. E. Burgess of Wimbledon was in the city last evening looking after business matters and visiting old friends. Charley is always glad to meet his old friends when in the city.

Mrs. Math Zimmer and son Pete returned to their home at Calio, N. D. yesterday after attending the funeral of the late John Kretschmer and visiting friends over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Waldorf left this morning for their home at Melrose, Minn., after attending the funeral of John Kretschmer and visiting over Sunday.

N. P. Hanson, the tailor, of Fargo is here today, looking after business matters. Mr. Hanson not only gets considerable business in the city, but he has many friends who are indeed pleased to see him and to know that he is doing fine at Fargo.

A young lady recently wrote an up-state paper asking if there were any editors in Heaven. The editor replied: There is but one editor in Heaven. How he got there is not positively known, but it is conjectured that he passed himself off for a minister and dropped in unsuspectingly. When the dodge was discovered, they searched the realms of felicity all their length and breadth for a lawyer to start ejection proceedings, but they couldn't find one, so, of course the editor holds the fort.

C. H. Frey, relief agent for the Northern Pacific railroad, is here checking out J. J. Chamberlain. Mr. Chamberlain is going to take a sixty days vacation and will leave for Portland about the first. We are glad J. J. is going to take a real vacation as he has been on this job for quite a spell and has only taken short lay-offs from duty. We shall miss him but we want to see him enjoy his trip and rest.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cox expect to move into the executive mansion at Bismarck in the near future. Gov. R. A. Nestos is a bachelor and he has persuaded Mrs. Cox to go to the capital and keep house for him and she will leave for Bismarck tomorrow, we are informed. Mr. Cox will remain here for a few days to clean up some business matters before going to Bismarck. The arrangement is a very good one and Gov. Nestos will have his house well looked after. Mr. Cox may later on be identified with the new administration.

Howard Clark returned yesterday from Bismarck where he had been looking after business matters and while in the Capitol City stopped over to get a glimpse at Marshal Foch who was there Sunday. Howard decided it would be a good plan to help celebrate the occasion so joined the Bismarck band and in that way was able to get a seat on the auditorium stage so as to get a good look at Foch. Mr. Clark reports the reception given the distinguished Frenchman a success in every detail and highly praises the American Legion for the manner in which they carried out the reception.

PRINTER WAS PEEVED Charley Harris, Fort Worth, Texas, printer, got slightly peeved at a letter from a doctor who wanted bids on several thousand letterheads, different sizes, different grades of paper and different colors and wanted the printing form held standing. So Charley took his typewriter in hand and wrote:

"Am in the market for bids on one operation for appendicitis. One, two or five incision—with or without ether—also with or without nurse. If appendix is found to be sound, want quotations to include putting same back and cancelling order. If removed successful bidder is expected to hold incision open for sixty days, as I expect to be in the market for gallstones at that time and want to save the extra cost of cutting."

Lutefisk Dinner, oh my what a glory. And oh, what an appetite we get, don't you know? Permit us to tell you a nice little story. About when to get it and where you can go. The day, to be sure, is the last of November. At twelve o'clock noon is the time of the day. The place, we assure, is not hard to remember. It is in the Swedish church parlors they say. Come then to church ye who work and who labor, And take in the greatest of lutefisk events. Tell the good news to your friends and your neighbor. The price will not scare you, its just fifty cents. From twelve o'clock noon, and all day please remember, The Swedish church parlors, the last of November.

DISTRICT COURT

Peter Neisius, convicted of moonshining in the district court and found guilty, was yesterday sentenced by Judge M. J. Englert to serve four months in the county jail and to pay a fine of $200.

August Rolfson, who pleaded guilty in district court to making stills for moonshining, has been dismissed on motion of the state attorney. It appears that Mr. Rolfson did not make any still or furnish any material for same. Parties brought in the stills and wanted some oldering done on the same, so that the court thought that the evidence against him was not sufficient to hold him and he was released from custody.

In the case of Anton Rismoon vs Axel Nelson, involving a lease on some land, the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $248 and interest from October 1 1920.

Today the following cases are docketed: C. M. Rosaan vs. Fred Ferguson. John A. Res vs. Allen S. Granger et al. Monitor Stove Co. vs. N. J. Nelson. Chicago Paint Works vs. Farmers Co-operative Mercantile Co.

PARENTS MAY ACT AS EDUCATOR OF CHILD

(By Nelia Gardner White) Did you ever watch pigeons circling about the pigeon house, and listen to their cooing before they settled down for the night? The flying in and out of the pigeons suggests "the glad outgoing—sweet homecoming" of childhood, around the mother's knee. Froebel recognized in this scene a symbol of life, a lesson for us, as mothers, which we cannot study too faithfully. The "outgoing" and the "homecoming," there is a world of meaning in each word. Do you send your child out each day, to school or to play, happily, trustingly, lovingly? Is he glad to go, but gladder still to return? What sort of a homecoming does he have? Aren't we, Mothers, too apt to make that homecoming full of scoldings for tardiness, or nagging over table-department, or rushing the children off to bed so we can have the evening to ourselves? Those things seem of small importance, but wouldn't it be of more lasting value to us and to our children if, instead we make of that homecoming a happy summary of the day's affairs?

These is no child who is not glad to tell what he has been doing all day. If he has been at school there are often little difficulties, little vexations that the teacher has not had time to satisfactorily explain or smooth out. A word or two from Mother may make it all clear and right. And if he has been at play there will be so many things to tell. It is while out at play that the child becomes acquainted with the fascinating realms of out-of-doors. Flowers, birds, trees, bees and butterflies,—he may become closer acquainted with them all through the retelling of his experiences among them. Wouldn't he be more interested in insect life if he knew the life history of the butterfly or of the ant with its almost human arrangement of its home and work? Wouldn't he find more satisfaction in the fields if he knew that there were weeds that ate bugs and some that lived on other plants. Like selfish folks? And wouldn't you like to have him so form the habit of telling you things that he goes on telling them, even after he passes out of childhood? Wouldn't you like to be the one he always comes back to for understanding and intelligent enlargement of his small ideas?

And isn't it in this deep abiding faith in Mother and Father, and in the intimate comradeship with the outside world, that the faith in the Infinite is born? Perhaps, in childhood, the connection between the Creator of the Universe and a white-fringed, golden-hearted daisy may not be overly clear, but if the connection is made at all, if the child sees the manifestation of the Divine in all the forces of nature, it will not be such a far cry to discovering such manifestations in his own soul. Then, as you help him to weave his daily experiences into a happy whole at the day's end, so may his larger experiences fashion themselves into a life pattern that he will not be ashamed to show to himself or his Creator at the "twilight hour" of life.

PUPILS GIVE "THE SOUL OF PRISCILLA"

The chapel exercises last Saturday morning were thoroughly enjoyed by the student body and the faculty when the Training School children under the direction of Miss Dorothy Waller presented the operetta, "The Soul of Priscilla." The story of the operetta in brief is as follows: Priscilla has slept in the picture for three hundred years, dreaming, all the time, of faraway days when she was a girl in Plymouth and of years to come when modern children would observe the feast of Thanksgiving and tell the old stories of primitive times. Columbia issues her usual Thanksgiving Proclamation, and then summons Priscilla to wake, and tell her own story. Priscilla wakes and tells her dreams. As each figure is mentioned it glides through with a bit of song or dance. The children deserve much praise for their splendid execution of parts. We shall be glad to see them again. Those who assisted were Miss Fanny C. Amidon who drilled the children for the singing in the lower grades. Miss Inez Noll was responsible for all the dances. Much credit is due the Training School teachers for helping in the costuming and in supplying other materials needed and also for keeping order during rehearsals. To the mothers who, in some cases, sat up o' nights to make some of the things worn, thanks are justly due. M. W.

Last week, Nov. 13 to 19, was Children's Book Week. The Training School librarian and the critic teachers tried to have every child read at least one book during the week. The average for the entire Training School was a book and a half per child. In the record below the first number stands for the "number of pupils enrolled," the second indicates the "number of books read" and the third number shows the "average for each child." Junior High School—52; 103; 1.98 Miss Norton's room—40; 74; 1.85 Miss Ware's room—46; 70; 1.52 Miss Gardner's room—40; 20; .50 Total, all rooms—178; 267; 1.5

WANT TO MINIMIZE HORRORS OF WAR

Washington, Nov. 23.—Out of the arms conference may come a proposal that the nation united to minimize the horrors of war if they can't entirely prevent it. The American advisory committee appointed by President Harding to assist the American delegation was today at work on various suggestions that may bring this question before the conference. Abolishment of submarines or limitation of their use, use of poisonous gases and chemicals in bombing cities and the development and use of new weapons were among the questions submitted to a sub-committee of the advisory committee. A suggestion was made unofficially and informally that at the conclusion of this program the arms conference might well consider the revision of the role of war so that if one does occur in the future it will be less horrible instead of more so. In this connection it was pointed out today by the American naval officials that development in air craft warfare construction of destructive bombs and other enginery of war are continuing on the basis of lessons learned in the last war and that even if armaments are limited the next war should one occur, might be more destructive than the last.
