

WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN SOCIETY

A Lofter Race Shall Rise. These things shall be: A lofter race than e'er the world hath known shall rise.

With flame of freedom in their souls And light of knowledge in their eyes.

They shall be gentle, brave and strong To spill no drop of blood, but dare

All that may plant man's lordship firm On earth, and fire, and sea, and air.

Nation with nation, land with land, Unarmed shall live with comrades free;

In every heart and brain shall throb The pulse of one fraternity.

New arts shall bloom of lofter mold, And mightier music thrill the skies, And every heart shall do its best, When all the earth is paradise.

There shall be no more sin, no shame, The flesh pain and passion slow may die;

For man shall be at one with God In bonds of firm necessity.

—John Addington Symonds.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlap were married in the city schools at Hillsboro, was married last week, at her home in Milbank, S. D., to Richard Besner of Napoleon, N. D. The following account of the wedding taken from the Minn. Advance, will be of interest to the friends of both young people in this state:

A most happy and delightfully appointed wedding was solemnized last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. W. Prevey, when her daughter, Lola, was married to Mr. Richard Besner, by the Rev. J. M. Tibbets.

The ceremony used was the impressive and beautiful double ring service of the Methodist Episcopal church, and there were some forty guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mills sang a duet, "I Love and Live for Thee," and Mrs. Mills played the wedding march during the service.

The bride was beautifully gowned in cream satin and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The young couple were attended by Miss Lucile and Mr. Clyde Prevey, sister and brother of the bride. Miss Lucile wore a pink chiffon and lace and carried a bouquet of white roses, the four standing under a bower of green and white, the color scheme of the parlor, while the dining room was pink and white.

Dainty refreshments in charge of Mrs. J. J. Nelson, assisted by Misses Hazel and Floesie Conright, and Wyant Wood, were served, the tables being beautifully decorated with sweet peas, which were profuse throughout the dining room.

Gifts of cut glass, silver and linen marked the respect in which the bride is held by her friends. She is a young lady of charming personality and has been a teacher for a number of years in the schools at Hillsboro. The groom is a very pleasant young man living at Napoleon, N. D., where he is engaged in a general store, and where they will make their home, after a short trip east.

Little Bedtime Stories

SAMMY JAY MAKES THINGS WORSE FOR BUSTER BEAR.

By Thornton W. Burgess. (Copyright, 1914, by J. G. Lloyd.)

"Thief, thief, thief!" "Thief, thief, thief!" Sammy Jay was screaming at the top of his lungs as he followed Buster Bear across the Old Pasture toward the Green Forest. Never had he screamed so loud and never had his voice sounded so excited. The little people of the Green Forest, the Green Meadows, and the Smiling Pool are so used to hearing Sammy cry thief that usually they think very little about it. But every blessed one who heard Sammy this morning stopped whatever he was doing and pricked up his ears to listen.

Sammy's cousin, Blacky the Crow, just happened to be flying along the edge of the Old Pasture, and the minute he heard Sammy's voice he turned and flew over to see what it was all about. Just as soon as he caught sight of Buster Bear running for the Green Forest as hard as ever he could he understood what had excited Sammy so. He was so surprised that he almost forgot to keep his wings moving. Buster Bear had what looked to Blacky very much like a tin pall hanging from his neck! No wonder Sammy was excited. Blacky beat his wings fiercely and started after Sammy.

And so they reached the edge of the Green Forest. Buster Bear running as hard as he could, and Sammy Jay flying just behind him and screaming "Thief, thief, thief!" at the top of his lungs, and behind him Blacky the Crow trying to catch up and calling as loud as he could, "Caw, caw, caw! Come on, everybody! Come on! Come on!"

Poor Buster. It was bad enough to be frightened to death as he had been up in the Old Pasture when the pall from which he had stolen the berries picked by Farmer Brown's Boy had slipped over his head just as Farmer Brown's Boy had yelled at him. Then to have the handle of the pall slip down around his neck so that he couldn't get rid of the pall, but had to take it with him as he ran was making a bad matter worse. Now to have all his neighbors of the Green Forest see him in such a fix and make fun of him was more than he could stand.

He felt hu-mil-ated. That is just another way of saying shamed. Yes, sir, Buster felt that with that pall hanging around his neck he was ashamed in the eyes of his neighbors and he wanted nothing so much as to get away by himself where no one could see him and there try to get rid of that dreadful pall. But Buster is so big that it is not easy for him to find a hiding place. So when he reached the Green Forest he kept a right on to the deepest, darkest, most lonesome part and crept under the thickest hemlock tree he could find.

But it was of no use. The sharp eyes of Sammy Jay and Blacky the Crow saw him. They saw him slip into the very tree under which he was hiding, and how they did scream! Pretty soon Old Mistah Buzzard came dropping down out of the blue, June sky and took a seat on a convenient dead tree where he could see all that went on. Old Mistah Buzzard began to grin as soon as he saw that tin pall hanging from Buster's neck. "That's a good one!" he chuckled. "That's a good one!" he chuckled. "That's a good one!" he chuckled.

Presently Buster heard light footsteps, and peering out he saw Billy Mink and Peter Rabbit and Jumper the Hare and Prickly Porky and Reddy Fox and Jimmy Skunk. Even when they saw that tin pall hanging from Buster's neck they were so excited that they were without being seen. Of course Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel were there. There they were in a great circle around him, each where he felt safe, but where he could see, and every one of them laughing and making fun of Buster.

"Thief, thief, thief!" screamed Sammy until his throat was sore. The worst of it was Buster knew that everybody knew that it was true. That awful pall was proof of it. "I wish I never had thought of berries," growled Buster to himself.

Next Story—Buster Bear Has a Fit of Temper.

BUSTER BEAR HAS A FIT OF TEMPER.

A temper is a bad, bad thing. When once it gets away. There's nothing quite at all like it. To spoil a pleasant day.

Buster Bear was in a terrible temper. Yes, sir, Buster Bear was having the worst fit of temper ever seen in the Green Forest. And the worst part of it all was that all his neighbors of the Green Forest and a whole lot from the Green Meadows and the Smiling Pool were there to see it. It is bad enough to give way to temper when you are all alone and there is no one to see you, but when you let temper get the best of you right where others see you, oh, dear, dear, it certainly is a sorry sight.
