CLASS MEETINGS FOR NEXT WEEK

Arrangements for Annual Class Rush Will be Made Also.

Class elections at the state university will be held during the next week. The students have been so busy the past few days that they have not had time to think about such things. The matter will meet in Merrifield hall at 4:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon. The other classes will meet also during the week, the time not having been set yet.

Another affair of considerable interest at the institution will be the holding of the annual class rush for freshmen and sophomores. The date for this has not been settled yet. The matter will be put into the hands of the upper classmen entirely and they will meet next week to make plans for the rush.

In order to prevent the usual class fights, the rush is arranged for each year for the purpose of determining the class supremacy. Each class is permitted to select about thirty or forty men to participate in the rush. They are then lined up on the football field for the rush. Each class has about two men holding onto a cane, which is used in the rush. The freshmen are placed on one side of the cane, about 150 feet away, and the sophomores are stationed on the opposite side at the same distance. The referee gives the signal and the rush is on. The class having the most hands on the cane when time is called wins the rush. The class winning two out of three rushes is declared the winner.

Officers will be elected by the senior class of the state university at a meeting to be held at 4:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon.

Laugh With Us

When one of the popular teachers in the west side schools had to deal with a boy who played "hooky" to school to play ball? He asked, "Yesum," replied the lad promptly. "Some of 'em gets to be good players and pitch in the big leagues."

A young fellow called on a dealer in dogs one day and said: "I'm looking for a certain kind of dog, but I don't know the name of it." "Can't you describe it?" asked the dealer. "I have nearly all kinds for sale."

"Well," said the young man thoughtfully, "I want a kind of dog so high and so long, as he designated the size. 'It's a kind of greyhound, an' yet it ain't a greyhound, either, because its tail is shorter than any of th' greyhounds' an' his nose is shorter, an' he ain't so slim round th' body. Do you keep any such dogs?"

"No, I do not," replied the dog man. "I drown 'em."

"What you want to do is to have that mudhole in the road fixed," said the visitor.

"That goes to show," replied Farmer Corntassel, "how little you reformers understand local conditions. I've put a sign paid off a mortgage with the money I made haulin' automobiles out of that mudhole."

"Nagle—I hear there was a disturbance at a meeting last night."

"Flummery—'E heard wrong, thin; for whin McGowan hit th' chairman in th' eye we threw him out of th' windy an' that stopped all trouble. Oh, no; everything was harmonious an' quiet."

"Friend—'So you're going to make it hot for that fellow who held up the bank, shot the cashier and got away with the ten thousand?'"

"Banker—'Yes, indeed. He was entirely too fresh. There's a decent way to do that, you know. If he wanted to get the money, why didn't he come into the bank and work his way up the way the rest of us did.'—Pluck.

A young man who had recently assumed the membership of a popular typewriting concern in a certain city decided to visit several of his new customers and obtain their opinion of the machine that he might show the company just how he was succeeding.

"How do you like your new typewriter?" he asked the first customer he visited.

"It's immense!" enthusiastically replied the man. "Really, I wonder how I ever got along without it."

"That's fine," said the young fellow, much pleased. "Would you be willing to give me a little testimonial to that effect?"

"Why, certainly I will," said the man, taking a seat at the machine. "I'll do it gladly."

And, rolling up his sleeves, he pounded out the following: "This device has done a marvellous Back-Action type writer for three months and I do not hesitate to recommend it for it. During the time been in our possession, it has made me a fortune in the Savings of time and labor."

At the recent session of the Tramways association of Great Britain in Newcastle, one of the speakers suggested the introduction of rubber or some other silent material for tires on street cars.

The speaker contended that a properly designed tire for street cars would exceed the life of tires on motor buses and motor wagons, on which a life of 20,000 miles and over was common; that the wear and tear on the rails would be reduced; that the cost of maintenance would be largely eliminated; and that the corrugation problem would be solved.

The question of doing away with noise and vibration, it was contended, was a strong argument in favor of rubber tires. A higher rate of speed could also be obtained which the speaker placed at twenty miles an hour.

Roberts of Kandahar. (Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

Bobs leans over his garden gate and sees the host sweep by; Bright the colors that fly aloft and thrill the dining eye; Weak the sinews and weak the heart and blurred the martial view; High the bugles and drums resound, but Bobs is eighty-two.

Faint the visions the old chief sees, visions of wild forays; Nights of peril and sleepless care, visions of battle and glory; Kandahar and the Afric veil, where'er the sword he drew; High the bugles and drums resound, but Bobs is eighty-two.

CANADIANS MAKE READY RESPONSE

Rev. Alfred Hall, Who is Visiting Here, Says They Answered Call Rapidly.

ALL SPEAK OF LONG STRUGGLE

Make No Allusions of War Being Short—Enroute to the West.

Rev. Alfred Hall, senior chaplain for the British and Foreign Sailors' society, arrived in the city last evening for several days' visit with Dr. C. E. Coles, pastor of Mendonhall Memorial Presbyterian church. Mr. Hall spent the past nine years in Canada, and has just come from the Dominion.

As a result of the European war, business depression is universal. Mr. Hall says. Money is tight, and according to the financial men of that country, it will continue to be so long after the war is ended.

Mr. Hall is particularly pleased with the manner in which the Canadians responded to the call for help.

"All Canada whole-heartedly took part in the preparations for the war," he said. "It is very gratifying to see the way the Canadians are sharing the responsibility. Their response has awakened most cordial responses in England."

In speaking of the effect upon business conditions, Mr. Hall declares the war has caused a general depression and depression. Real estate values have gone down, and, in some cases, factories and stores have closed.

The closing of the Harris factory in Toronto, one of the most famous of Canadian manufacturing plants, was one of the most serious aspects of the situation in eastern Canada, he declares. The closing of factories, however, has not been general.

In speaking of the possibility of a long-drawn-out war, Mr. Hall declared he was not in a position to judge. Canadians, he said, are guided by the expressions of Premier Asquith, Lord Kitchener and other government authorities. All of their allusions, he says, have been regarding a long struggle. In his recent speech, Premier Asquith referred to the Twenty-years' war, and declared that the English people would have to shoulder the responsibility of the present struggle in the same spirit that characterized their work in that historical conflict.

Mr. Hall will occupy the pulpit of the First Baptist church in Grand Forks tomorrow. He leaves the first of the week to attend public celebrations in Regina, Edmonton and other western Canadian places.

Mr. Hall was commissioner of the late Lord Strathcona to the universities, colleges and schools in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. David Yeddeau of Winnipeg, who have been visiting at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. White, near Fisher, have returned to their home in the Canadian city.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wavra and Miss Joseph Wavra Tabor visitors the first of the week.

The doctor told him he needed carbohydrates, which he had not had all, something nitroceous? The doctor mentioned a long list for him to eat. He staggered out and wobbled into a Penn avenue restaurant.

"How about beefsteak?" he asked the waiter. "Is that nitroceous?" The waiter didn't know.

"Are fried potatoes rich in carbohydrates or not?"

The waiter couldn't say.

"Well, I'll fix it," declared the poor man in despair. "Bring me a large plate of hash."
