University Eleven is Given Little Credit by one Dopester—Jeff Tesreau is Sued—Hugh Fullerton is in Again.

(BY BEN.)
Give a corpulent gentleman—one of those geeks with the rotund veranda running around his belt—a resounding whack amidst hips, and he'll give you a demonstration of a man eating bear at its favorite pastime. Let a diminutive representative of the genus man walk up to 200 pounds of flesh and bones and bust it on the nasal excretion, and the said package of beef will rage with ire. Or watch an nth degree knowledge manager or highfalutin highbrow rave with peevishness when a verdant young know-nothing slips out of the tall grass and bathes himself in the spotlight of plying something.

All of which is a preamble to a yarn about a year and two football seasons. Saturday afternoon, the swarthy, husky and gory Flickertail gridiron students created as much consternation in the Minnesota football camp as a Zeppelin can round up in a French prayer meeting or on the Rue de Day. They nearly expunged the Gopher hopes before they got nicely out of their holes, and several times during the game they had the Sid-U-Mah contingent hitting the emotional thoroughfare of low speed and hollering Ski-du-Mutt.

Barring the fact that anything that creeps out of this far north is considered more or less in the light of a Joshua Perkins with the plucky of delirious urging him city-ward, that was quite a feat—or perchance, we should say defeat—for the Flickertails to perform.

For the most part, the twin city dope fraternity was liberal with the praise stuff and spread the honor over the corners as needed. But there was one paste ray habitue who must have been forced to pay his way into the game. He answers to the monicker of R. E. Phales, and in the Flickertails he Phaled and Re-Phaled to see what that was worth while. This Phales person, who writes for the Pioneer Press, said that the Flickertails lacked "both cohesive and individual strength." Then, he called attention to the fact that the U. N. D. had failed to adhere to the ball and found up by presenting a recapitulating enfilade of a more or less statistical nature. He declared that the Flickertails gained out of scrimmage during the game, or approximately twelve yards to a quarter. The detailed account of the play, as received here Saturday, and published in Minneapolis papers, gives Mr. Phales' statement the nay-nay. Lamping this same play-by-play account brings out the fact that the Flickertails made ten made ten, fifteen, twenty and even twenty-eight yard games at various occasions during the pastime.

But the Flickertails attacked a crew of mustard-pluckers on the old man's farm, and they should be roundly spanked for invading the sacred tent and throwing such a scare into their glorious midst.

Will Jeff Teasreau? Jeff Teasreau, the classy Giant hurler, has become enmeshed in the entanglements of court and love—not, of course, that the two are bed-fellows.

If one Clara Young of Perryville, Mo., has handed out the right dope, Jeff must be quite a bird at throwing love curves. And it appears that he had a nasty drop in his assortment of stuff.

Clara declares that Jeff once drafted her for life service, and for a while she hit a 300 clip for him. Then, a Helen E. Blake breezed along, and Clara went into the no-hit class.

Clara also says that Jefferson wrote her a few of those musty letters that are always served at divorce or breach-of-promise tables. She threatens to disclose them to the careful scrutiny of a legal scribe, and she expects that Jeff will be benched and fined a modest sum that is intended to plug the cruel rent the flinger made in her heart.

Announcement Extraordinary
I. M. A. Krab, frequent contributor to these columns, left Sunday night for Philadelphia to cover the world's series for Herald readers. Krab has been signed up for a daily letter about each game. He also will write a preliminary size-up of the situation in each city. He has been given introductions to Connie Mack and George Stallings. Krab has a decided leaning toward the Athletics but he has promised to write in an unbiased strain.

Hugh Fullerton to Bat
Hugh Fullerton has boarded his rocky dope wagon again, and for several days has been chasing along the rough thoroughfare toward the world's series. For while Fullerton got along fairly well, but he has drawn up at a shot-in-the-arm inn to spill a line of junk that is guaranteed to tickle the ribs of a gouty grouch.

As long as dopester sticks to the ordinary stunt of trying to tell why one team will romp over the other, he gets along nobly, but when he kicks in with the scores of each game and the runs that will be made against each pitcher he gives Old Man Credulity the kavo.

Help for Pulford
Judging from reports from Winnipeg, A. H. Pulford is going to get considerable support from the fans of that burg. E. B. Loucks, one of the baseball devotees, has written him a letter, in which he comments none too gently, on what he considers a "rank steal." Mr. Loucks hints at one or two things that are worth considering. He says that if the deal goes through, organized baseball will get death blow in Winnipeg. He also declares that "the lovers of fair play certainly will not give to these outsiders the backing which they would be willing to give to a directorate of Winnipeggers."

The Picketts are sitting on the sidelines anxiously awaiting an adjustment of this Northern league scrap.

When it is considered that the Picketts like to roll up scores of Epitaphs Unum, one ceases to wonder at their anxiety.

And then, one must remember that there are a number of agrarian players out in the wilds of the alfalfa fields. The only glimpse they got of high life was when the Picketts paid their railroad fare to this village, and since the Northern league alighted in ahead of them they have been dying of ennu—whatever that is.

The Chicago Tribune correspondent wired that "the Flickertails played Minnesota to a standstill in the last half."

Those people who have been called upon to back the wrong gusses with an outlay of mazzina will be around next week to mooch the price of a meal ticket.

DENVER DEFEATS INDIANAPOLIS MEN

Denver, Oct. 6.—The Denver Western league team won the third game of the inter-league series yesterday from the Indianapolis American association team, 11 to 5. The locals garnered fifteen hits, good for 24 bases. Coffey of Denver hit a home run in the seventh inning with two men on bases. Catcher Livingston injured his knee in the second inning and had to retire. William A. Sunday, the evangelist, assisted in umpiring the game.

FLICKERTAILS SHOWED BETTER FORM IN THEIR TACKLING, SAYS WRITER

E. R. Hoeking, sporting editor of The St. Paul Dispatch, declared in yesterday's edition that the Flickertails showed superior form in their tackling. He said: "No one who saw the Gophers in their first game against North Dakota Saturday night, failed to notice the superiority of the Flickertails in tackling. The tackling of Dr. Williams' men was as unimpressive as ever been seen on Northrop field. The season is young yet, and the Gophers will remedy this defect, of course, but there is room for a lot of improvement."

BURMEISTER DID NOT REACH FARGO

Northern President Fails to Fill Date With up the River Ball Fans.

President John Burmeister of the Northern league failed to attend a meeting at Fargo Monday evening, to which he had been invited, the purpose being to discuss plans for baseball next season. Burmeister expects to include Fargo and Grand Forks in the new circuit, and Fargo voters are to the effect that he very likely will come there at a later date to discuss the situation.

Fargo is desirous of being in the league, but isn't willing to pay the price Mike Cantillon has demanded for his Northern team—$2,500. They think Cantillon, whose offer also includes the uniforms and other baseball outfitting, puts too high a price on the uniforms—as they don't look upon the team as being worth more than 25 cents on the dollar, gauged from their showing in the season just ended.

Grand Forks still is undecided on the baseball question, and it probably will be several days before any definite steps are taken.

LEXINGTON MEET IS UNDER WAY

"Pop" Geers Drives Sparkle Watts to Victory in $5,000 Event.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 6.—The victory of Frank G. Jones' Sparkle Watts, driven by the veteran "Pop" Geers, in the $5,000 two-year-old trotting feature, was a feature of the program of the opening day of the grand circuit meeting on the grounds of the Kentucky Trotting Horse Breeders' association yesterday. After losing the first heat, Sparkle Watts, in the second heat, won in the third, and in the fourth, repeating in the third, a neck in front of Native Spirit.

Rhythmell, owned by Senator David Tod of Youngstown, Ohio, won the $3,000 Walnut Hall and $500 gold cup in straight heats and her best time, 2:14.4, was a new record for the race. Margaret Druggin, in the third heat, trotted faster than world's record for four-year-old fillies, going the mile in 2:04 1-2.

The 2:09 pace resulted in an easy straight heat victory for Jaystone, and the 2:09 trot was unfinished, Lizzie Brown, Oakdale and Tommy Horn taking a heat each.

GILL BEGINS WORK FOR HAMLINE GAME

Flickertails are Given Number of New Plays—Several of Regular not Out.

Coach Andy Gill and his Flickertails yesterday afternoon began preparations for the Hamline game, which will be played in St. Paul next Saturday. Several of the regulars were not in uniform yesterday, but they will be out in force this afternoon.

Jennison, who had his arm broken in Saturday's game, will not be able to play again this season. Nilles will play the rest of the season, but Coach Gill is hopeful that he will be able to play next Saturday.

Yesterday afternoon Gill gave the players several new plays and formations. These will be mastered this week for the Hamline game. Following a signal drill, he put the men through a short but strenuous scrimmage.

Reports from Hamline are to the effect that Coach Baird has a strong lineup for Saturday. He has one or two weak spots on the team, but indications are that he will have it covered up by Saturday.

Beef prices are going to be boosted up again, the packers say—and the packers know.

Many a blind man gives another credit for his own ideas because isn't sure of their merits.

SAY BURMEISTER ASKED TRANSFER

Winona Directors Claim he Wanted Franchise Switched to St. Boniface.

EXHIBIT TELEGRAMS FROM SECY. FARREL

Latter Wires Them that the Northern League President Made Request for Change

That President John Burmeister of the Northern league has requested the national baseball commission to transfer the Winona franchise in the old Northern, to St. Boniface, Man., is the contention of the owners of the Winona club, who declare they were apprised of the fact through a telegram from Secretary Farrell.

The Winona Republican-Herald says:

President John Burmeister has just shown the Winona baseball directors another side of his nature and in the last few days local magnates have been staggered by the colossal size of the Northern league executive. The first blow fell Saturday when the directors received a wire from Secretary Farrell of the national committee which reads as follows:

"Winona Baseball Club.—Letter just received requesting transfer Winona protection to St. Boniface."
—J. H. Farrell, Sec'y."

The above wire was the first inkling that anyone had requested the transfer of the Winona protection to St. Boniface. It was another sample of the underhand methods employed by the magnates who gathered in the secret meeting in Minneapolis, which resulted in the ousting of Winona and Owner Pulford of Winnipeg from the Northern. But President Burmeister acknowledged one thing when he asked for the transfer of the Winona protection to St. Boniface, and that was that Winona really owns something to transfer.

"No Northern."
This is another example of the crookedness on the part of the league executive. A few days ago he came out with the statement to the effect that there was no Northern league and that the matter is settled. It did not have a right or vote in the league. Now he is asking for the transfer of the protection to St. Boniface.

This first sample of Burmeister's nerve was not enough to floor the Winona officials and a few of them gathered for a short conference, as a result of which the following telegram was sent to Secretary Farrell:

"Who made request for transfer? Wire answer. We will consent to transfer of our franchise to St. Boniface provided ownership remains in name of Scott Laird, president Winona Baseball club."
The following telegram was received in answer to the above:

"President Burmeister requested transfer, consult him."
Trouble Forecasted.

That was the first act of the little drama in which President Burmeister as president of a non-existing league took the initiative. Winona officials, however, were not to be caught sleeping and before the matter is settled they promise to make things more than interesting for President Burmeister and the officials who gathered in Minneapolis last week.

How the league executive could ever expect to get away with anything so gigantic as his new air-castle is built on, cannot be understood down in this neck of the woods.

The following is a copy of another message sent to Secretary Farrell:

"Send us copy requesting transfer of our franchise to St. Boniface. Ask you defer action above matter pending preparation of our case after we receive copy of Burmeister's letter."

ONE of the surest ways to lose your ability to enjoy good tobacco is to continue smoking heavy cigars. The stronger pungence of the heavier, more oily leaf will in time "dead" your delicate sense of taste.

The man who smokes the mild Robert Burns gets the maximum of smoke enjoyment. The extreme mildness and smooth flavor of the Robert Burns keeps his taste-sense keen for its enjoyment.

Give up the heavier cigar for awhile and discover the added pleasure in the more delicate flavor of the Robert Burns.

As to shapes—there are many to make your choice easy. The new "Invincible" is proving one of the most popular Robert Burns Cigars ever introduced.

ARMY-NAVY GAME AGAIN TO FRONT

Controversy is Re-opened—Contest may not be Abandoned, as Suggested.

Washington, Oct. 6.—The controversy over the site of the annual army-navy football game which led Secretary Garrison to recommend that the game be abandoned, may be re-opened in an effort to decide upon a new plan agreeable to both factions.

Lieutenant Commander Fairfield of the naval academy will confer with Secretary Daniels on the subject to-day and later Mr. Daniels will discuss it with Secretary Garrison.

Secretary Garrison made public a telegram just received from Colonel Townsley, superintendent of the military academy:

"Any proposition relative to army and navy game differing from that made by you and the secretary of the navy," it says, "and that whatever before you from any source whatever is without my approval. The military academy and athletic council regard that proposition as the most just and fair yet made and stand by it unconditionally. This telegram is sent because of newspaper and other reports. I have also so informed the superintendent of the naval academy."

The suggestion referred to in Colonel Townsley's message was contained in a letter addressed to the two academies and signed by both secretaries. It proposed a ten-year agreement under which the institutions would alternate in selecting the place of the game, the naval academy to begin by saving where this year's contest should be played. The limitations would be any city not further north than New York or further south than Washington, the site selected to have a seating capacity of not less than 30,000. Each academy would receive not less than 10,000 seats in addition to not less than $7,000 of general receipts. All arrangements would be made by the secretary.

In presenting the plan the letter said in part:

"We are informed that for several years past the selection of a site for the annual football game between the two academies has been the subject of disagreement and discussion, and has annually been settled after prolonged negotiations. We feel that this is a most undesirable state of affairs. The whole country is naturally interested in these two national academies and whatever they do is the subject of comment and criticism. The public spectacle of an open disagreement is undesirable from every standpoint."

"We do not propose, because it cannot serve any good end to do so, to go into any matters of the past. What we do wish to do is to make a suggestion to you gentlemen which seems to us to be so fair and reasonable that you should consider it with the same acceptance in the confident assurance that by accepting it all possibilities of future disagreement in this respect will be removed."
