COUNCIL TO MEET MONDAY
Question of Fixing Election Date for City Charter is Before Them, But They May Not Act.

The East Grand Forks council will meet in regular session Monday night, when, it is expected, several important matters will be taken up. The proposition of fixing a date for voting on the proposed city charter is before the council, but whether or not any action will be taken Monday night is not known.

When the question first was submitted Mayor O'Leary called a special meeting of the council to act upon it, but only three members reported and consequently nothing could be done.

"Gets-It" for Corns Sure as Sunrise

New Plan. Corns Shriveled, Vanish

Until "GETS-IT" was born nobody was ever sure of getting rid of a corn. Corn treatments nearly all contained the same ingredients, only some were liquid, some plasters, some "wrappers" and some in salve form. Now comes "GETS-IT" with a newly discovered formula—the corn cure on a new principle—a simple plan that never fails. This is why "GETS-IT" has grown in three years to be the biggest-selling corn cure the world has ever known.

There's nothing to press down on the corn, no more digging or cutting. There's nothing to pull the corn or cause pain. Put two drops of "GETS-IT" on in two seconds. That's all. For any corn, callus, wart or bunton. "GETS-IT" is sold by druggists everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent direct to you, 50c a bottle, by mail.

MAN SUICIDES ON THE ANDERSON FARM TODAY

COULD NOT MARRY GIRL HE WANTED

Ole Christoferson Asked to Wed 18-Year-Old Daughter of Farmer.

THREATENED TO KILL SELF EARLY IN FALL

"Here Goes Nothing" Were the Words He Uttered Before Shooting Self.

Because Ole Anderson, a prominent farmer living about six miles north of town, refused to let Ole Christoferson of Jamestown, N. D., marry his 18-year-old daughter, Annie, Christoferson this afternoon committed suicide. The suicide occurred at the Anderson farm, where Christoferson has been employed since April 1, about 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Christoferson blamed Mrs. Anderson for the hitch in his matrimonial plan. While Mrs. Anderson was washing the dishes, Christoferson pulled out a revolver and calmly loaded it before her, after which he walked to the back door and shot himself through the temple. He died instantly.

"Here goes nothing," were the words he uttered just before shooting himself.

Threatened to Suicide Before. Shortly after dinner, Christoferson threatened to kill himself, but at the time he failed to carry out his plans. Later Mrs. Anderson induced him to give up his revolver and she secreted it behind a bureau. Christoferson discovered it there this morning.

Yesterday Christoferson went to Mr. Anderson and asked again to marry Annie. Mr. Anderson refused and Christoferson went away.

Wanted to Go to Crookston. Thinking that he could induce Mr. Anderson to change his mind, Christoferson last night packed his grip to be ready to leave this morning. During the course of the morning, he appeared before both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and asked them to let him take their daughter to Crookston, where they could be married. He asked the couple to accompany them. Both refused.

Shortly after dinner, while Mrs. Anderson was busy washing the dishes, Christoferson appeared in the kitchen. He commenced blaming her for the failure of his scheme to marry the daughter. Mrs. Anderson said very little to him. Finally he went to his grip, which was standing in a corner of the kitchen, and commenced unpacking it. When he came to a pair of trousers he pulled out a cartridge and inserted it in his revolver.

He then walked to the kitchen door, and declaring that "here goes nothing," lifted the gun to his temple and fired.

Asked Number of Times for Girl. Christoferson made repeated requests during the week for the hand of Miss Anderson's hand in marriage. Each time Mr. Anderson told him the girl was too young to marry.

Corner Nelson of Crookston was notified and he will arrive in the city on the Northern Pacific train late this afternoon.

Christoferson has a brother John residing in Jamestown, N. D. The suicide was 28 years old.

RETURNS IN POLK ARE SURPRISING

Lee Carried County by 300—Usual Republican Majority is at Least 2,500.

Polk county voters sprang a surprise in the election this fall, when they showed a decided leaning toward the "wet" column. The county went for W. E. Lee for governor, but the usual republican majority of 2,500 was cut down to 300.

Instead of sending all county option men to the state legislature as last year, the county sends but one. John Saugstad, the county option candidate for the senate, was defeated by R. T. Buckler. The latter's majority was 79.

Boyd and Morken are the two representatives from this county. The former is an anti-county option man. Last year, both representatives were for county option.

Polk county long has been a hot-bed of county optionists, and the anti-wet people usually figured on carrying it. It was expected that the eastern half of the county would go strongly for Lee, but, judging from the figures given out at Crookston today, he lost practically 1,500 republican votes.

An idle rumor is about as busy as a mosquito that works overtime.
