UNITED STATES INVESTIGATES CHARGE THAT SOUTH AMERICAN NATIONS FAIL TO OBSERVE NEUTRALITY LAWS

Washington, Nov. 15.—United States diplomacy has undertaken to straighten out the South American neutrality tangle of the British and French governments, and notwithstanding the reported reluctance on the part of the administration to assume at this moment any further responsibilities under the Monroe doctrine, Secretary of State William J. Bryan wired instructions to the American diplomatic representatives in Ecuador and Colombia to investigate the charges made by the European powers that the South American nations were the scene of unneutral operations.

Ministers to Investigate. The action marks the first step the government has taken since the opening of the European war toward the enforcement of neutrality in the western hemisphere, outside the United States. The American ministers are not to take up the subject with the Ecuadorian and Colombian governments, as was requested by Great Britain and France. They are to make inquiries on the subject, but in an endeavor to ascertain what basis exists in fact for the allegations of the two European governments.

Action Surprises Washington. As recently disclosed, the charges were made that radio stations in the two countries were being used for the assistance of the German squadron operating in the Pacific, and that the Gallapagos islands, a group lying off the entrance to the Panama canal, belonging to Ecuador, were being used for bases of supply and operations by the German warships.

Chile Safeguards Neutrality. The Chilean government has sent statements explaining fully all the steps taken to preserve Chilean neutrality, and they have been communicated to the state department and the public. A further step in warding off any aspersions of the neutrality of Chile was made known in the announcement that no code messages or messages dealing with the movements or operations of belligerent warships will be accepted for Chile.

LAW MEN AT BIG BANQUET

Students and Members of Faculty in Department Entertained by Freshmen Tonight.

The big law school banquet will be given at 8 o'clock this evening at the Hotel Dakota, the first year students having made plans to entertain the upper classmen and the members of the faculty. An elaborate banquet will be prepared and a fine program of toasts will be given.

Harrison Brown, president of the first year class, will preside this evening at the banquet. Walter Schloesser, "king" of the law school, will speak on "Foreign Relations." John Graham, "queen" of the law school, will speak on "The Royal Family." Attorney J. F. T. O'Connor will talk on "The Past of the Law School." Dean George F. Wells will speak on "The Reformation." President E. L. McVey was invited to speak also, but he will not be here this evening.

Council Meeting. There will be a regular meeting of the men's interfraternity council at the state university Tuesday evening. Only matters of a routine nature will be taken up at that time.

Postponed Concert. The twilight concert by the Haydon String Quartet will be given Tuesday afternoon, November 24, instead of tomorrow. The concert is to be given

SECRETARY BRYAN, HOWEVER, DECIDED THAT THE STEPS REQUESTED SHOULD BE TAKEN.

Secretary Bryan, however, decided that the steps requested should be taken. This action, it was predicted here, would mark an important point in the development of the responsibilities which the United States accepts as a result of the Monroe doctrine.

In many quarters it was declared to be an unwise step on the part of the government, as tending to place the United States more and more in a position of standing responsible to Europe for the actions of the nations of South and Central America.

Steps Avoided in Part. Feeling their own freedom of action in South and Central America restricted by the Monroe doctrine, the European nations have repeatedly sought to place upon the United States the responsibility for correcting errors in the ways of the Latin-American governments, a responsibility which this government has just as often sought to avoid.

It is pointed out by some that the favorable response to the request of Great Britain and France may in the future serve as a precedent upon which similar requests will be based by European nations having trouble with Latin-American countries.

South American Denials Expected. There is no expectation here that Ecuador and Colombia will be pleased at the action of the United States. Denials that there is any ground for the charges of violations of their neutrality are looked for.

In the last few days, there have been many evidences that the governments on the west coast of South America are becoming sensitive on the subject of neutrality. The Chilean government has sent statements explaining fully all the steps taken to preserve Chilean neutrality, and they have been communicated to the state department and the public.

VETERAN IS DEAD

Major F. H. Foote Passes Away at Denver, Nov. 15.—A telegram was received by H. C. Plumley telling of the death of Major Frank M. Foote of Denver. Major Foote is well known by many of the local Spanish war veterans, who express great regret at his death.

Major Foote commanded the Wyoming troops in the Philippine islands, and the North Dakota men belonged to the same brigade.

Major Foote returned from Germany August 1, 1902, and was prevented from closing up a business deal which was the reason for his trip. Cancer of the stomach, which had troubled him somewhat in the past, became so serious that he was unable to leave Denver for his home at Evanston, Wyo. Physicians held out little hope for recovery, and his death has been expected for some weeks.

He was a member of the supreme council of the Scottish Rite, and represented Wyoming, Utah and Idaho. During the Indian trouble some twenty years ago at Jackson's Hole, Wyo., Major Foote commanded the state militia. He was 66 years of age.

TURKS CLAIMING SUCCESS IN WORK

London, Nov. 15.—The correspondent at Constantinople of Reuter's Telegram company, forwarding a dispatch by way of Berlin says: "Turkish troops have occupied Kotor (a town with a population of 8,000) in the Persian province of Azerbaijan, which has been in the hands of the Russians. Russian troops fled. British troops have landed near Pao, on the coast of the province of Basra in the Persian gulf. While landing the British were attacked and lost sixty men."

BEFORE HIS TIME

A New York salesman tells of a stay made by him at a western hotel where he observed an old-fashioned roller towel. "Say," asked the Gothamite of a man in the wash room, "don't the owner of this hotel know that it's against the law of the state of Illinois to use roller towels now?" "He knows it right enough," said the man addressed, "but that law wasn't passed when this towel was put up."

OHIO'S GOVERNOR-ELECT, BORN IN HUMBLE FARM HOME, HAS WHITE HOUSE FOR GOAL

Frank Willis and his birthplace near Lewis Center, Delaware county, O.

"The second McKinley," as his friends call him, Frank B. Willis, congressman and governor-elect of Ohio, is a product of the farm. While not yet selected to the honor that Linus, the white bull, had to pay his way through school and college. Already he is being groomed by an important element in the Republican party as the G. O. P. nominee for president in 1916.

East Grand Forks BROTHER OF DR. COLES PROMOTED General Sir John French advances him for Distinguished Service on Battlefield.

Dr. C. E. Coles, pastor of Mendenhall Memorial Presbyterian church, today received a letter from his father, who lives in London. Aside from a brief comment on war conditions, the letter contained news of two of Dr. Coles' brothers, who are in the front line of the army of the allies, now engaged in a titanic conflict with the German forces.

One brother, T. W. Coles, recently was promoted for "distinguished service on the field." The promotion was made by General Sir John French, in charge of the English army. J. W. Coles also is with General French's forces.

H. J. Coles, who resided in western Canada, was in England with the Canadian army when the letter was written, but by this time probably has left for the continent.

Very little information has come from the two men at the front. In fact, the only word the anxious family has received is contained in the official post cards prepared by the army authorities.

The news of the promotion of T. W. Coles was received at the war office in London.

The last cards received, which were forwarded in the letter to Dr. Coles, contained only the scant information that both brothers were doing well.

Dr. Coles' father declares that there is a "good spirit" of determination among the English. The feeling, of course, is that Germany is wrong in the war, and that England will persist in the war till the Teutonic forces are conquered.

SPLENDID LECTURE TONIGHT

Following Great Men Through Greece—The Subject—100 Views Will Be Screened.

This evening one of the lectures of the high school course, given under the arrangement with the University of Minnesota extension division, will be given at the auditorium of the Central high.

The lecture will be illustrated by 100 stereoscopic views of Greece, the title of the lecture being "Following Great Men Through Greece."

Dr. Coles' father declares that there is a "good spirit" of determination among the English. The feeling, of course, is that Germany is wrong in the war, and that England will persist in the war till the Teutonic forces are conquered.

"On one occasion," says Mr. Montgomery, "when he was superintending the arrangements of some performers who were representing allegorical characters, the author of the piece was present and was offering some suggestions. "Here in front," said the author, "I will put the nine muses." "Nine muses!" cried the manager contemptuously. "Nine muses would look fine in that great space, wouldn't they? We will have thirty-six muses instead!"—Lippincott's.
