

RAILROAD BOARD HERE THURSDAY

Traffic Committee of Local Club to Discuss Matters of "Importance."

SPECIAL MEETING ARRANGED TODAY

It Will Follow Hearings at Minot and Devils Lake This Week.

The North Dakota railroad and warehouse commission will meet in Grand Forks Thursday, December 3, at which time several important railroad matters pertaining to Grand Forks will be discussed.

The traffic committee of the Commercial club invited the commissioners to meet here Thursday, and the latter accepted.

The commission meets at Minot tomorrow and Devils Lake Wednesday. A number of complaints regarding the change in main line and branch passenger service are to be heard at each meeting.

The traffic committee announced today that "matters of importance to Grand Forks" would be presented to the commissioners Thursday. This is the only announcement they were ready to make.

Ready to Make Protest. At Minot tomorrow the rail board will find citizens quite ready and anxious to make protest at injustices which they claim the proposed Great Northern change on the Maxbass and the Berthold lines will inflict.

Devils Lake likely will bring up the question of night service, and the cities along the Lakota-Sioux line will be ready to protest the proposal to put a mixed train on that branch.

"LILAC HEDGE" QUARTET TO DISBAND "CLASS" OF VOCALISTS IS REASON

The "Lilac Hedge" quartet, of state-wide fame, will make its final appearance before disbanding at the annual colt show to be held Tuesday at Inakster, where it will divide honors with Governor L. B. Hanna, and other notables.

This famous organization, which was launched more than a year ago, will be defunct after tomorrow. The reason for its premature demise, according to Don V. Moore, one of the members, is the fact that the bunch of singers of which it is made up, are all too "classy."

"As a matter of fact we are all soloists," said Mr. Moore today. "It's a waste of good material to have us doing quartet work, so we've decided to disband."

The quartet consisted of Ernest Montgomery, T. B. Elton, Don V. Moore and N. B. Black.

AGED MAN FOUND HANGING TO TREE

Paul Ringen Ends His Life in Grove Near Northwood Saturday.

MONEY TROUBLES CAUSED SUICIDE

Borrowed Halter With Which Rash Act Was Later Committed.

Paul Ringen, aged 65, formerly of Larimore and Arvilla, ended his life last Saturday night by hanging himself to a tree on the farm of Hans Tandberg, six miles east of Northwood.

The body was discovered by Mr. Tandberg Sunday morning. Life had been extinct for several hours.

Dependancy over his financial affairs is believed to have been the cause of the aged man's rash act. He had been discharged from the county poor farm at Arvilla only a few days previously.

He is reported to have borrowed the halter, with which he hung himself, from Nels Tandberg on Thanksgiving day. Mr. Tandberg had no suspicion, however, of the use to which he intended to put it.

Coroner W. H. Witherstine, who was summoned to Northwood Sunday pronounced the case one of suicide. No inquest will be held.

Ringen, appears to have been placed in the Arvilla institution by his three sons who are said to reside in Larimore. While there he was known as Paul Gilbertson. The sons are said to be known as Michael, Ole and Silver Paulson.

Objected to County Aid. According to Michael Reidy, superintendent of the poor farm, the aged man objected to being kept there at the county's expense, and last Wednesday persuaded Mr. Reidy to release him, saying that he had friends living near Northwood.

On his arrival at Northwood, Ringen attempted, it appears, to obtain money by taking up a subscription for his county's expense, but without meeting with great success.

This is supposed to have preyed on his mind to such an extent that he finally decided to end his life, and borrowed the halter from Tandberg for that purpose.

When the body was found, only a knife, handkerchief, and a few other trifles were discovered in the pockets. Coroner Witherstine is attempting to get into communication with the relatives of the deceased to ascertain if they desire to take charge of the body.

WOUND FATAL YOUNG MULLALLY

Victim of Accidental Shooting Died at Hospital Sunday Afternoon.

LIVED FOR WEEK AFTER ACCIDENT

No Inquest Will be Held—Funeral Plans are Still Incomplete.

John Mullally, aged 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Mullally, Manvel avenue, died at 5:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon at St. Michael's hospital from wounds sustained a week previously when he was accidentally shot by Ralph Couits, one of his playmates.

No arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral which will probably be held next Thursday, according to the father of the unfortunate boy.

Mrs. Mullally, who is a widow, a result of the shock of her son's death but is expected to recover.

After investigating the case today, Dr. W. H. Witherstine, county coroner, said that no formal inquest would be held, as there appeared to be no doubt that the shooting was entirely accidental, and that no one could be blamed.

The shooting occurred Sunday, November 22, at the English coulee near the state university, where young Mullally, Couits and a number of other boys were playing.

One of the youngsters brought a 22 caliber rifle to the scene. Some cartridges were obtained and the weapon was loaded. When an effort was made to discharge the weapon, however, it appeared that the cartridges were faulty and would not explode.

Young Couits, it seems, then tried to unload the rifle. In doing so, however, he accidentally let the hammer fall, and the weapon was discharged, the bullet entering the body of the Mullally youngster, and piercing the bowels.

The injured boy was rushed to St. Michael's hospital, where he lingered for a week, at times appearing to gain strength to such an extent that hopes of his recovery were entertained. The end came last Sunday afternoon, however.

Mother at Son's Side. Mrs. Mullally refused to leave her son's bedside, and remained with him during the entire period of his confinement at the hospital.

Besides his parents the boy is survived by two brothers both residing in this city. His father is an engineer employed by the Great Northern railway.

"There is no doubt that the affair was entirely an accident," said Coroner Witherstine today. "It should be remembered, however, as a warning to parents not to allow their children to play with firearms, if greater care were exercised along this line, there would be fewer such accidents."

Twisted Dog Tail. His Honor, the Judge, is Asked to Take the Kink Out of This One. (Atlantic City Cor. New York World.) Which is a hound dog more likely to inherit, the kink in a peculiar kink in his tail? This was put up to Judge Smithers. After listening to testimony four hours, his answer was "Doggone if I know," or words to that effect.

Thomas Hudson, of Pleasantville, and Elmer Sooy, of this city, appeared in court, both claiming a hound pup. Hudson's clinching argument was the old yellow blotches that decorated the pup's left side. He produced a hound pup, which was the daddy, showing similar markings. Sooy pointed out a freak kink in the pup's tail and trotted forth another dog with a kink in its tail, naming it the true papa.

Asked how the supposed father had acquired the peculiar twist in his tail, Sooy testified that a train had run over it.

NEXT LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR OF NEW YORK BEGAN AS BLACKSMITH

Syracuse, Nov. 30.—Edward Schoeneck, next lieutenant governor of New York, started life as a blacksmith, became a stenographer to get a legal education and later became a lawyer. Though still on the sunny side of forty he has served two years as ward supervisor, four as member of assembly and four as mayor of Syracuse. His father, Henry Schoeneck, came to this country as a young man and opened a blacksmith shop. He quit it to serve as a soldier, and on his return found his business pretty well gone. There was a large family of boys, and as they became old enough each in turn went into the shop.

Edward was initiated at the forge at 14 and for ten years worked there, first as a helper of his father and after his father's death as a journeyman with his older brothers of the family. While he worked at the forge he continued the study at home of the common branches of literature.

He was 18 he decided to become a lawyer. He first mastered stenography and got employment in a mercantile house and then awaited his opportunity. He found it in the law office of White, Cheney & Shinnaman. Later he went through Syracuse law school, and earned some money before he immediately began practice.

His First Office. The year he entered the law school he was elected supervisor of his ward. At the close of the term as supervisor he was elected to the assembly. He was then only 23 years old. When Wadsworth became speaker in 1908 Schoeneck was one of the little group that moved up from the back rows into the "seats of the mighty" and became one of the forces in the reorganization of the assembly under Wadsworth's general direction. When it was done he announced that he proposed to stay home the next year and the speaker's solicitation went back. He remained only one year, however. Then he resumed his law practice but in 1909 the republican party in Syracuse was in a desperate situation. The democrats were preparing to nominate George W. Driscoll, former mayor of the city, for congressman from this district, for mayor. The republicans had had the majority for eight years and there were two important movements breeding which threatened trouble.

There wasn't a republican candidate

WAR OVER ETHER. A controversy over the value of ether has developed as a sequel to the celebration of ether day at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Dr. John W. Finney, one of the medical luminaries in the country, said in his address:

"Among all the many agencies used for relieving pain, ether is easily the first and, all things considered, has for general use no real rival. The beneficial effect of ether is most felt in the large group of cases in which

Homeopathy, on the other hand, appeals to those who desire the best treatment. It treats the individual, cures him in his entirety, removes those states in the system that allow diseases to develop and when this is done, the results of disease, the tumors, gall-stones, adenoids, ulcers, etc., disappear.

Homeopathic treatment is CURATIVE treatment.

PHAMPHLET FAILS TO PAY ITS WAY

Political Publicity Venture of the State Shows a Heavy Loss.

Bismarck, N. D., Nov. 30.—When the expense of getting out the publicity pamphlet at the last primary election was compared with the receipts from the candidates it was discovered that there was a deficit of $2,641.93. The printing, postage and miscellaneous expense was $7,157.09 and the receipts from all sources was only $4,515.16.

In his annual report Secretary of State Thomas Hall recommends some changes if the idea of a publicity pamphlet is to be continued in future years. On suggestion made in that there should be a rearrangement of rates, according to the salary paid the position to which the candidate aspires. For instance, at the present time a candidate for the supreme bench whose salary is $5,000 a year for a term of six years pays only the same amount $100 per page, as do several of the state officers whose salary is only $3,000 per year for a period of two years, and Mr. Hall thinks that if these matters were taken care of in a more equal manner there would be more candidates using the publication, and that it would more nearly pay for itself.

In one part of his report Mr. Hall says: "The 1914 pamphlet was not as large as that of 1912 but it is probable that some of that deficiency was due to the fact that 1914 was not a presidential year, that there were no judges of the district court to elect and its efficiency as a medium of publicity was more questioned than in 1912."

The secretary of state is also of the opinion that the pamphlet should be published so as to be in the hands of the voters of the state—at least a month earlier than is required now. Twenty days is the time set by law at present and there are many people in the state who do not thus have time to give it proper consideration. In concluding the report on the matter of the publicity pamphlet Mr. Hall says: "To summarize, we suggest, that the conflict between Chap. 129, 1911 S. L., and section 5 Chap. 218, 1911 S. L. be cured. That county auditors be required to supply lists of voters in such form as to be available for use in mailing machines and that they be excused from giving party registration on the lists. That rates for publication be changed to a basis of circulation, and that the date of publication be set forward not less than one month and possibly two months."

HOODOO ENGINE
Kenmare, N. D., Nov. 30.—A very unfortunate accident occurred at Adams in the Soo yards when Brakeman Holmgren slipped between the platform and the engine, breaking his left leg and otherwise was badly injured. He was rushed to the Warren hospital for treatment, accompanied by Dr. Nelson of Adams. This engine seems to be ill-fated as it is the same one which crashed into a caboose on the tracks there a year ago this summer, instantly snuffing out the lives of two men who were asleep in the caboose. It was the engine which two years ago pulled the freight that was wrecked west of Adams when D. Roiden of Oslo was killed. It also ran over a man in Winnipeg, cutting him into several pieces.
