Bank Clearings—Bank clearings for the week ending Thursday in the city of Grand Forks amounted to $421,600. This is regarded as an excellent showing for the present season of the year.

SWEDISH STEAMER IS SUNK BY MINE London, March 13.—The Swedish steamer, Anna, struck a mine off Scarborough, on the east coast of England, this morning, and foundered. Two members of the crew were killed by the explosion. Eighteen were rescued by a passing steamer.

AMERICANS HELD AS COUNTERFEITERS Douglas, Ariz., March 12.—James Goodman, an American, two Spaniards and twenty-two Mexicans were under arrest here, charged with counterfeiting money. The charge was preferred by representatives of Governor Jose M. Maytorena of Sonora, who recently decreed that the penalty for counterfeiting should be death. Mexican officials declared more than $100,000 in counterfeit was taken from the prisoners.

Most of the currency used in Mexico is struck off ordinary printing presses and is easy to imitate. The reason Maytorena prescribed death for the offense of counterfeiting.

SOUTH DAKOTA HAS THE PRIZE MESSAGE Pierre, S. D., March 12.—A late bulletin of the Joseph Feis fund commission of Cincinnati, Ohio, says of the message of Governor Pierce of the 1915 legislature: "If a prize were offered for the most state-milk message this year from a governor to the legislature, the winner would be Governor Frank M. Byrne of South Dakota. This is because in his recommendations the governor follows reason and logic regardless of conventional views and prejudices. On the question of taxation, for instance, he boldly says what too many other officials will but timidly hint, if they speak at all."

THE RAGTIME MUSE. Lenten Tea. They shun the city, they do not dance, Bridge whist they never ask, And for the present they must be Diverted by the Lenten tea. They've bade farewell, they say, to gawds—I think they are a bunch of frauds, From observations that I've made The Lenten tea's a dress parade. My wife held one on Wednesday last. They talked, until I was aghast. Her husband's gown and Mildred's hat, And Sue's and Clara's this and that. And, oh! the tales they circulate! Not credited, but "simply great!" All sorts of scandal they rehash, And reputations rend and smash. Jones, whom I long have thought all right, They said had grabbed a widow's mill. Smith, though a model citizen, They ranked first among meanest men. Brown, they had heard, had robbed a bank; Johnson, they said, was "simply rank," I sat and wondered, for, you see, I wondered what they thought of me.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS. Blessed be the little flat in which there is no room for trouble. Ambition is all right if a man has energy to back it up. A self-made man is often the only one satisfied with his job. Fewer flowers to the dead and more flour to the needy living might help some.

East Grand Forks OPENING GUN FOR DRY POLK COUNTY Will be Fired at Fertile this Month—Petitions Being Circulated.

The opening gun for a dry Polk county will be fired at the meeting of the option league, which will be held in Fertile, March 22 and 23. According to reports received in the city, the optionists will decide upon some plan of action in the meantime, the work of circulating petitions for a county election is progressing rapidly.

Yesterday County Auditor Welts received a petition from Brandt township. The petition was signed by twelve freeholders. At the last election there were only nine votes cast in that township. The auditor returned the petition, as election petition must be presented in its entirety and not in installments.

Unofficial reports from the "wet" contingent are to the effect that they will make one attempt to delay dry action in any county. It is reported that the brewers will immediately ask for a restraining order in the first county in which an election is called for. They will attack the constitutionality of the law, it is said. Even though they are not successful in the supreme court, the case will serve to delay action throughout the state.

COUNTY DIVISION IS ONCE MORE AN ISSUE IN OPTION CAMPAIGN A bill providing for the division of Polk county has been introduced in the Minnesota state legislature by Representative Boyd of Crookston, according to word received here today.

It is understood that the bill would create a new county out of the eastern part of the present territory, the dividing line being located a short distance east of Crookston. If the bill is passed it is expected to have a decided bearing on the county option issue, as the larger portion of the strength of the "dry" element in the present Polk county is believed to lie in the portion which would be cut off.

LAUGH WITH US Several members of a woman's club were chatting with a little daughter of the club when she said: "I suppose you are a great help to your mamma," said one. "Oh, yes," replied the little miss, "but so is Ethel; but it is my turn to count the spoons today after the company is gone."

The life of a police record clerk is not devoid of smiles. For instance, this: "Hello." "Yes." "My neighbor had all his chickens stolen last night!" "How many?" "Oh, I don't know!" "Well, what were they in?" "Why, a mixed lot"—(on the telephone voice) "Say, Mame, what was it they had 'em in?"—Yes, a chicken coop painted white.

"Why, I just wanted to tell you, if the officers catch that chicken thief, give him my thanks!" "Dinnah, did you wash the fish before you baked it?" "Law, ma'am, what's de use of washin' er fish what's lived all his life in de water?"

A gentleman traveling on horseback not long ago came upon an Irishman who was fencing in a most barren and desolate piece of land. "What are you fencing in that lot for, Pat?" said he. "A herd of cows would starve to death on that land." "And are you fencing it?" "I'm fencing it to keep the poor bastards out of it!"

"I've just had a queer telegram from my daughter." "What's wrong with it?" "I don't know. Here it is. I'll read it to you: 'Zimersgollannovofskpittaway.'"

"What on earth do you suppose it means?" "Why, it either means that the wizard has been sent to the engagement to a Russian nobleman."

Unless a man can see a slight improvement in himself it's impossible to make him believe the world is growing better. When a girl is told she's as pretty as a picture come valentines don't count. One-half the world imagines that if the other half couldn't possibly worry along without it.

The mantle of charity covers a lot of amateur theatrical performances.

RELATIVE OF CAP. SCARLETT IS DEAD Noblewoman, With Remarkable Romance, Expires at Scotland Home.

Minot, N. D., March 13.—Colonel Scarlett, a letter from Inverness, Scotland, informing him of the death of Lady Abinger, the widow of General Scarlett, who led the Scots Greys in the decisive battle of Beladuna, in '54.

The "Scotman," a paper published in Edinburgh, says regarding the death of this lady, as follows: "Through the death of Lady Abinger, which occurred in London late on Saturday, February 27, a further link with a past generation in Lochaber has been severed. Helen Lady Abinger was among the first of the American ladies who contracted an alliance with the British peerage. During Queen Victoria's tour through the Highlands in 1873, Lord and Lady Abinger placed Inverloch Castle at Her Majesty's disposal, and her residence there for a week was responsible for many of the entries in her diary. The death of her husband twenty-five years ago and the premature death of her only son, east a shadow over the later years of Lady Abinger's life. Throughout her widowhood there has existed for her a deep feeling of respectful sympathy among the Clans of the Highlands.

Her Romance—There was a strong element of romance in the marriage of Lord and Lady Abinger. The baron (her husband), was a great polo player. It was at a match that he met his wife. It happened in this way: The day was warm, and a fly having stung Lord Abinger's pony caused it to rear and throw its rider. Lady Abinger, who was seated in the saddle, rendered first aid. When eventually Lord Abinger opened his eyes he saw bending over him a vision in white muslin and he said afterward that his fate was sealed then and there.

"What on earth is the matter?" he demanded. "Are you an angel who has missed your way?" returned the angel. "I washed the blood away. That is all."

Before a week was over Lord Abinger decided he was going to marry his beautiful amateur nurse and to his supreme advantage offered her his hand and heart.

The Honorable Ella Scarlett, the eldest daughter of Lady Abinger, was the first lady in the front rank of society to become a lady doctor and to study medicine, while scores of young English girls also followed the example set by Miss Scarlett, who is today one of the most flourishing of London M. D.'s and is a medical attendant on Queen Mary.

state capital burned we would have a loss of about $400,000. At present we carry $260,000 of insurance on the buildings and contents. If we were required to pay from the general fund of the state $260,000 as contemplated by this proposed law, it could totally disarrange the general fund and would make it impossible to carry out the appropriations made by the legislature for carrying on the business of the state. It costs about $1,200 a year for premiums to carry the $260,000 of insurance now carried on the capital and contents.

The capital, as is generally known, is not a fire proof structure, but very much so. In the event of a fire, it is impossible to save the building and but very little of its contents. The state library, which has cost about $100,000, is located in the upper part of the building and there would be no chance to save it.

As stated, the state pays $1,200 per year for insurance on the capital and contents. It would take over 200 years for the state, at $1,200 a year to get back the $260,000 that would be lost provided the state should not insure the capital and contents and should have a fire.

That which is true as to the capital is also true as to penitentiary, where very large amounts of insurance are carried, and to a large degree at every institution in the state. The bill provides that the insurance premiums that would be paid on policies that might be taken on the capital and contents did not carry insurance, shall be set aside in a fund to create a sinking fund to pay for the losses.

The state pays $90,000 a year in the way of premiums for insurance. It will take ten years without a loss to provide a fund of $200,000. The bill also provides that the insurance that is now on buildings shall be permitted to stand during the present life of the policies now in force, but that the shall not be renewed, but as stated, about fifty per cent of the insurance policies in force expire this year and next, and before the next legislative session the bill will be in force.

The bill also provides that the insurance public policy and that it is against in condition to carry such a large contingent liability as would be the case without a sinking fund to pay for the losses in case of fire, and that the proposed law is not for the best interests of the state, I withhold my approval.

The bill also provides that the settlements of cases for damages sustained through personal injuries. The proposed act provides that any settlement or damages or compensation of personal injuries shall be voidable at the option of the person injured if made within thirty days from the date of such injury; further, that the person injured, if he elects at any time within three months from the date of such injury, has a right to avoid such settlement by notice in writing to that effect, or by bringing action to recover damages therefor. To enact this proposed bill into law would mean practically that for three months no settlements could be made between the party injured and the person, firm or corporation who might be held responsible.

This act will apply to farmers who employ men to work among their horses, machinery and threshing machines, and will also apply to every firm and corporation doing business within the state where people might be injured. In case of a train going through the state, no binding settlement could be made, and yet people injured might be very widely scattered before the person injured, if he elects at any time within three months from the date of such injury, has a right to avoid such settlement by notice in writing to that effect, or by bringing action to recover damages therefor.

Millionaire's Son Out, One into Railroad

The recent meeting of the stockholders of the Missouri Pacific railroad in St. Louis marked a change in American railroad history which may have a wide influence. It saw the entrance into steam railroading of Nicholas F. Brady, who is believed to control the enormous fortunes of his late father, Anthony F. Brady, who was estimated when he died last year to be worth between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

George Jay Gould, eldest son of Jay Gould, had inherited the property, or the controlling interest from his father. For years he has managed it successfully. When he tried to make it a link with the Washburn and the Western Maryland to Baltimore, thus establishing a new transcontinental railroad, the great interest in control of the Pennsylvania, the New York Central and other systems went after him. They beat him, and then the Gould system began to crumble. At last the Missouri Pacific has been taken from the family, under the leadership of Kuhl, Loeb & Co., the great New York bankers.

Little is known of young Mr. Brady. He is yet under forty years of age. His father confined his operations to municipal public utilities, chiefly gas and street railroad companies. He was the greatest power in the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, the elevated railroad system there. But the entrance of the young man into steam railroading convinces many bankers that the Brady fortune is in actual control of the Missouri Pacific. It had been the custom of the Brady interests never to buy heavily into a corporation, unless they bought sufficient stock to control it.

TELEGRAPHIC TABS. Chicago—Chicago will permit its married teachers to bear children, on recommendations urged by Superintendent Ella Flagg Young are adopted. Mrs. Young insists that mothers make the best teachers.

Albany, N. Y.—Coney Islanders will not lose the pleasurable thrill of throwing baseballs at negro's heads. A bill to prohibit negroes as targets was defeated in the senate.

Cleveland, O.—The house of representatives killed the Niding boxing bill, which called for the creation of a state boxing commission.

St. Paul, Minn.—Mrs. Willard C. O'Leary is en route today to Abbeville, Ga., to claim an extensive estate, left her by Dr. Jay Shrader, an uncle she had never seen.

UNIVERSITY NEWS. The Senior Kirmess overshadows all other social events at the University of Washington for the coming week. It will be given Thursday evening, the week-end next week will be marked by a number of brilliant Greek letter dances and by the convocation of the Alpha Epsilon fraternity, which will be attended by 500 alumni from all parts of the country. Seventy university men and women will participate in the Kirmess, which will probably be the most brilliant event of its kind held on the campus. The money realized from the production and the candy sale to be held in conjunction with it will go toward furnishing the new woman's building which the university hopes to have within the next biennium. Senior women in caps and gowns will usher.

ST. PATRICK'S GARDEN. St. Patrick from his garden. Sent all the toads and snakes—His garden was all Ireland. The land of hills and lakes. I'm sure he meant to show us That our souls sweet gardens are—That they should be far purer Than a flower or a star.

For a snake may mar the flower. And a cloud the stars may dim. But our souls from toads and serpents May be freer, remembering him. —Ave Maria.

USED TO WAR. (Pittsburgh Post.) In the days of old Mahomet, folks would get a jar when they saw a blazing comet. Thought it presaged war. When they saw a comet glitter Through the dismal night, People everywhere would twitter In extreme affright. Scanty time to comet gazing, Folks these days allow. For a thousand comets blazing Couldn't scare us now.

HOW NEUTRALITY IS SHATTERED. (Philadelphia Ledger.) "Daughter of Satan!" he hissed. "I suppose I do look like the devil in last year's hat," she responded with diabolical wit. The man who doesn't secure the services of that great teacher, experience, may live to a green old age.
