Baking Helps

Learn to Regulate the Heat of Your Oven

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

There is just one way to make your cakes rise high and keep an even surface. Have your oven moderate at first, until the cake is fully risen; then increase the heat, so as to brown it over quickly. Extreme heat stiffens the dough. If you stiffen the outside of the cake before the rising is complete, you stop the rising process. Then the leavening gas, forming inside, will bulge up the center, where the dough is still soft, and spoil the shape of the cake.

NOTE—Biscuits or other pastries made from stiff dough, that are cut into shapes for the oven, bake in a hot oven. This is because the cut surfaces of the dough do not near over, but rather leave the pores open, allowing the leavening gas to escape and the heat to penetrate readily. Small ovens cool quickly; therefore they should be made several degrees hotter than a larger oven, and the less the door is opened the better. Do not attempt to bake bread and pastry together. Bread requires prolonged, moderate baking—pastry the reverse.

Have a strong undertest for baking powder preparations, especially baking powder. These are only a few of the many baking helps found in the K C Cook's Book—a copy of which may be secured by sending the colored certificate taken from a 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JAGGERS MFG. CO., Chicago.

WHEN you speak to your grocer tomorrow—just say, "SIMS"! It is the new wheat breakfast food with the delicious nut like flavor. Look for the little nut brown particles. They are roasted barley meal. Sims makes a full meal and gives the satisfied morning feeling with which to start the day. The leading hospitals of the Northwest which are recognized by physicians as the most efficient in the world, use Sims in their convalescent wards. Sims is a food made from the richest particles of the two most nutritious and health-building cereals—wheat and barley. When telephoning to your grocer to-morrow, don't forget to say, "SIMS"!

Delicious Raisin Bread

We have a new and better raisin bread now on sale. It is called "California Raisin Bread made with SUN-MAID RAISINS." The raisins are big, tender, meaty, luscious—with all the seeds extracted. Their flavor permeates the loaf. There's a revelation in bread like this—for those who have never tried it. And it's food that's both good and good for you. An economical food also because raisins are concentrated nutriment. Let the children have it. Here are the sweets they want, in the most healthful form, served in the way they like them. Get a loaf today.

California Raisin Bread Made With SUN-MAID RAISINS

You will like this Raisin Bread because it is made with the best raisins. Many pounds of the most delicate California white grapes are required to fill a pound carton with these raisins. We select the cream of the crop—grapes that never reach northern markets—and sun-dry them in the open vineyards. Three forms: Seeded (large plump raisins with seeds extracted); Seedless (made from seedless grapes); Cluster (choice specimen bunches on stems, not seeded). In the familiar pound cartons at all grocers. California Associated Raisin Co., Fresno, Cal. Membership, 4,000 Growers. Raisins are Nature's candy—good for Little Folks
