OVER 2,000 WILL ATTEND SESSIONS

U. S. Commissioner Claxton Booker T. Washington and Others to Speak.

IRVING BACHELLER ALSO ON PROGRAM

Group Meetings Will be one of Features—County Directors Coming.

The annual meeting of the North Dakota Education association, the largest convention in the state, will be held in Grand Forks, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week.

The principal speakers for the education association meeting are United States Commissioner of Education P. Claxton, Washington, D. C., Booker T. Washington, president of Tuskegee institute, Tuskegee, Ala., Irving Bachelier, New York, author, humorist and lecturer; Governor L. B. Hanna, Bismarck, N. D., C. C. Coffman, University of Minnesota; Hon. B. F. Spalding, Fargo; L. O. Middleton, Kansas City; W. L. Stockwell, Fargo; State Superintendent E. J. Taylor, Bismarck.

A feature of the convention will be the group meetings. The general association sessions will be held during the afternoon and evening and will all be held in the auditorium on North Fifth street. The group meetings will be held during the morning in the city hall, the Commercial club, the high school and other buildings provided for the occasion.

The different groups are: higher and professional education; second education; county superintendents; elementary education; rural school education; school administration; science and mathematics; history, civics and social science; industrial education; musical education; English; North Dakota peace league; principals of graded, consolidated and third class high schools and teachers; and officers of agricultural departments.

During the week, the alumni associations of the different educational institutions in the state will hold their respective meetings.

The Patrons Teachers' club of the Grand Forks schools will give a reception for the visitors, and there will be other entertainment features.

A. G. Crane, of the Minot normal, is president of the association and on the opening morning will give the president's annual address.

Mayor James A. Dinnie is to welcome the visitors and Superintendent E. J. Taylor will respond.

WALTER TRIPP HERE MONDAY

Famous Reader and Faculty Member of Emerson College to Appear at Woodworth Hall.

Walter Bradley Tripp of the Emerson College of Oratory of Boston, and one of the most famous dramatic readers in the country, will appear in Grand Forks Monday night under the auspices of the Sock and Buskin society.

He will read a dramatization of Dickens' "David Copperfield," which is considered one of his most famous entertainments.

The reading will be given in Woodworth hall.

COUNCIL WILL MEET MONDAY

Regular Monthly Meeting of City Dads to be Held—Board of Education on Tuesday.

The city council will meet in regular monthly session Monday night, but, according to indications, there will be nothing but routine business transacted.

Monday morning the board of health holds its regular meeting, and Tuesday night is the regular meeting for the board of education.

WONDERLAND TRAIL IS MOVED NORTH

Over 100 Good Roads Boosters Attended the Meeting Held Yesterday.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Forks County Wonderland Trail association yesterday afternoon at Larimore, at which over 100 good roads enthusiasts from all parts of the county attended, it was decided to move the Wonderland trail running along the Great Northern railway, track near the university, to one mile north of the present line. This will also affect the road from this city to Emmerado, a distance of 18 miles. It was also decided to change the trail at Larimore back to its original course.

A resolution was passed by the association asking the county commissioners to make the Wonderland trail a county road. In this way the responsibility of graveling the road would be taken from the various townships through which it passes and would be assumed by the county. A gas tractor and steel road drag with a man hired by the month all summer to keep the road in condition was also suggested. The road from Fargo to Peetham of this city were named as a committee to visit the commissioners at their next monthly meeting and present the resolution.

Frank Peetham, Dr. Henry Bruah, H. N. Wells, all of the Commercial club of this city, and County Commissioner Thomas Mooney, of Fargo, J. E. Myra of Emmerado, and Fred Haviland and L. A. Warnken, both of Grand Forks, were among those present at the meeting yesterday.

Churches of Grand Forks undoubtedly will be taxed to their capacity tomorrow, the occasion being "Go-to-Church" Sunday, which marks the close of the religious census.

Final plans for the day are being made this afternoon. The campaign is being wound up with advertisements published in The Herald, and preparations are being completed for special traffic facilities to and from the churches.

In accordance with arrangements made with the Grand Forks Street Railway company, special cars will be run before and after church service hours.

The pastor of each church also has made arrangements for a number of automobiles to carry the aged and infirm to the churches.

Special "go-to-church" services will be held both morning and night. Choir directors have prepared special musical programs and the pastors have prepared appropriate sermons, so that the members of each church are promised something special and interesting for both services.

SERENADE BY "VARSITY BAND"

"Rooters' Club Parades Streets Arousing Enthusiasm for South Dakota Game Today.

The university band, directed by W. W. Norton, paraded the streets early this afternoon arousing enthusiasm for the university-South Dakota state college football game, the last of the local season.

The band also serenaded The Herald, giving an excellent program in front of the building.

Local sermons were developed as unusually good musical organization.

LITTLE CHANGE IN LOU CONTEST

STANDING; HOUSE-TO-HOUSE WORK IS BEING DONE BY FEW IN RACE

Campaign ends Tuesday Night at 10 O'clock—Next Three Days Will be Hard Ones for Contestants—No Change in Value of the Coupon.

COUPONS REMAINS SAME. During the past two days there have been rumors to the effect that the value of the "Who Will Be Lou" coupons will be increased but these are absolutely unfounded. Each coupon is good for ten votes and will not be increased during the balance of the contest.

The standing of the contestants in the "Who Will Be Lou" contest today shows very little change, as the number of coupons received between the two counts was very small.

Miss Florence Spriggs still leads with 11,841 votes, Miss Alice Leonard is second with 10,921, and Miss Genevieve O'Keefe is third with 9,980.

It is expected, however, that the standing tomorrow morning will be quite different as the voting today has been unusually heavy.

The contest ends Tuesday night, and the next three days count largely in the final result. Several of the candidates are ready for a final dash that is intended to surprise each other and some interesting results are anticipated.

During the past two days, the race has waxed unusually warm. House-to-house canvasses have been made by a number of the young women, and reports have been received of coupon-clipping parties which have spent the whole day in soliciting votes.

The winner of the contest will play the chief role in the motion picture play which the Raths-Seavolt company is to make for The Herald and which will be shown at the Metropolitan theater for one week. She also will receive a beautiful $200 lavallier from A. A. Arhart.

C. P. Trepanier has offered a beautiful ivory set or a $25 camera to the winner of second place.

The standing of the contestants today is:

- Florence Spriggs.....11,841
- Alice Leonard.....10,921
- Genevieve O'Keefe.....9,980
- Evelyn Gorman.....9,875
- Mrs. E. C. Wheeler.....7,062

Thorwaldson; Grand Forks, Williamson for Haverson; touchdowns, Mokee, Einarson, Anderson, Referee, McDay, Umple, Lodmell, Lineman, Ellison, Time-keeper, Vollweiler.

MISS JEANNETTE KLING READS

Gives Interpretation of Leah Klesna, as One of Numbers in Local Lyceum Course.

Miss Jeannette Kling, dramatic reader, appeared at the auditorium last night as one of the talent of the University and Oratorio society lyceum course.

She gave a very acceptable interpretation of the famous play "Leah Klesna," which is one of the most sociological dramas of the day.

Miss Kling showed great versatility in interpreting the various characters.

FOREGOES THE BIG GAME

Ed. Schave, sporting editor of the St. Paul News, is in Grand Forks today, having declined to attend the afternoon's game at the university.

Mr. Schave is one of the best known of the twin city sporting writers, and chose to forego a trip to Chicago to cover the Illinois-Minnesota game to referee the two contests in this state.

BACHELLER TO SPEAK IN CITY

Famous Author Will Give Lecture in Grand Forks For Educators.

Irving Bachelier, famous author, humorist and lecturer, will appear at the auditorium Wednesday night under the auspices of the North Dakota Education association.

Mr. Bachelier will give his famous humorous and satirical lecture, "Keeping Up With Lisie," which is founded upon one of his most famous books.

"Ir" Bachelier is one of the most typical American writers and has to his credit such well known works as "Keeping Up With Lisie, Eben Holden, Dr. L. and Charge II."

Mr. Bachelier's address is distinctly the entertaining address of the convention.

N. D. BUILDING TO BE CLOSED

Lack of Funds Causes Early End of Work at Panama Exposition.

Owing to the fact that there is a lack of funds, the North Dakota-Panama-Pacific exposition commission has decided to close the Flickertail building on November 15.

According to word received from W. E. Holben, secretary of the commission, there are several reasons for not keeping the building open until December 4. The reasons Mr. Holben gives are:

The appropriation was too small to cover the natural expenses of the building, and therefore, what has been done has been done well, and it is policy to quit while the record is good.

It also is apparent that November, at least the last two weeks, will not show an average attendance.

All of the exhibits must be packed upon and shipped and this will take time, and the employees of the building must get back home to attend to their affairs before the first of January.

The original appropriation of $50,000 would have enabled the commission to keep the building open throughout the exposition, but this was reduced to $35,000. The commission has made an enviable record, however, with the money at its disposal.

GRAVE PERIL SEEN IN MEXICAN RAIDS

Bandits Sack Ranches, Wreck Trains, Murder and Rob Citizens; Death List is Now Beyond 200

Fort Worth, Tex., Oct. 29.—Seventy per cent of the population of the Texas territory "invaded" by the Mexican "army of liberation" is composed of Mexicans. The district affected, in which the recent raids and battles have occurred, equals in area the State of New York.

The southern part of Texas is more Mexico than United States, and for that reason any uprising among the Mexicans is considered a menace. The United States regular troops already on the ground to oppose an insurrection or attacks on Americans number but a handful compared to the Mexican population and the soldiers of fortune who crossed the line to start trouble.

It is estimated that 3,000 Mexican soldiers have come across the Rio Grande in the last two weeks. Judging the resistance offered to American troops, they were well supplied with arms and ammunition.

The affected section begins at Raymondville on the Brownsville railroad and extends as far as Brownsville. All the district west of Brownsville as far as Laredo also is involved. Many fights have been reported in Starr and Hidalgo counties.

Two Hundred Killed in Year. Although the total of persons killed in the battles in the Brownsville country numbers but twenty-three, it is conservatively estimated that all along the border from Brownsville to Nacoo Ariz, 200 have been killed during the last twelve months in raids and battles.

Unlike former Governor Colquhoun, cowboys, ranchers, United States troops and by stray bullets fired by Mexican civilians.

It was on account of these fatalities that General Scott was sent to confer with Villa and succeeded in declaring Nacoo neutral ground. The Americans at Nacoo were struck by bullets when opposing Mexican armies were firing at each other, the Arizona town immediately adjoining the Mexican town.

General Funston has about 16,000 soldiers under his command, most of whom are located in San Antonio, Texas City and El Paso. From Laredo to Brownsville and vicinity there are 3,000 regulars, and about 1,500 are stationed permanently at Brownsville.

At this time the Brownsville force has been decreased in order to maintain detachments in towns along the Brownsville road as far as Raymondville. Four companies were sent from Laredo, but as soon as they had gone Mexicans near Laredo began raiding, and there is no chance of more troops being drawn from that quarter.

Ferguson Will Call Out Militia. It is positively known that Governor Ferguson intends to call out the Texas national guard to maintain order at the border unless a large number of additional federal troops are sent there. This the government has practically refused to do. The report by General Ferguson that only a slight increase in the number was necessary.

Unlike former Governor Colquhoun, Ferguson is a man of great calmness and opposes using the national guard for every occasion, but now is fully aroused. Brownsville itself is expected to be an attack, despite assurances from the commander at Matamoros and the presence of at least 1,000 American troops.

Every citizen in Brownsville, reports from there say, sleeps with guns loaded at his pillow, ready for instant service. Many women and children have fled from the city.

Such conditions tend to lead the ignorant Mexicans of such localities to believe the territory rightfully belongs to Mexico and they point to the difference in population to prove it. Moreover, the majority of Mexicans came to the Texas towns to live because they knew they would be safe there.

DR. BOYLE SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION

Gives Highly Practical Address on "Educated Gullibility."

Dr. Boyle of the Economics department addressed the University convocation this morning on the subject, "Educated Gullibility." The talk was of a highly practical sort and was enlivened with touches of quiet humor.

It served to bring the attention of future investors the pitfalls of investment.

Dr. Boyle limited his discussion to teachers and preachers whom he considered fair examples of educated gullibility and cited numerous instances in which is own teacher and preacher friends had been defrauded of their hard-earned earnings.

On Famous Fraud. He dwelt at some length on the famous Julian Hawthorne fraud, the Cobalt Silver Mine and read some excerpts from his cleverly written advertising matter, laying special emphasis on Hawthorne's shrewd use of what would appear to be splendid authorities to back up his statements.

Dr. Boyle showed that investors frequently drag their friends into wild schemes by citing an instance of how an innocent Sunday school superintendent invested in a false gold mine and influenced all of his Sunday school teachers to follow his example.

As another striking instance of fraud he referred to the Children Endowment society which operated successfully among school teachers in this state a few years ago in which parents paying $3 a quarter for their children until they were of school age would receive 25c daily for each child during the child's school career. The company collected the annual $12 but failed to return the daily 25c.

Land Frauds. He also cited numerous instances of fraudulent land concerns which had come to his attention and pointed out the dangers accompanying land investments. In conclusion Dr. Boyle pointed out the fact that we should have stricter laws and protect our innocent investors and he advocated prospective investors to seek expert advice of bankers. Along the same line President McVey recommended investing in first, high type, bonds in preference.

The special music of the morning was two soprano solos, charmingly rendered by Miss Grace O'Gorman accompanied by Mr. Ernest Korke.

THOUGHT PRIESTS WERE POLICEMEN

The Pa. Man, Oct. 30.—It is learned that the two priests murdered by the Baker Lake Eskimos, were sent in as missionaries. The two prospectors were following a gold lode vein near the mouth of the Mackenzie river into the Eskimo tribe who, believing they were mounted police come to arrest two of their number suspected of the killing of the United States explorer, Radford and Street, immediately spared them.

One of the prospectors is called Coldwell and the other's name was not learned. The mine is situated about 200 miles inland from Baker Lake, where Inspector Bates, Sergeant Major Cochran, Corporal Conway and two constables of the mounted police, have pitched their tent in preparation for a winter's work. The police understand they will be killed if they venture inland, and Inspector Bates told Captain Lockhart, who was here yesterday on the way to Ottawa, he was ordered to see the man-killing Eskimos and that he proposed to do it peacefully if it could be done, but see them he would, despite the threats made against him.

The Eskimo tribe holds the same location as held at the time of the Americans' death, and reports say they are determined not to be driven away from their quarters from fear of the police. The police believe a clash between the police and Eskimo is sure to take place if Inspector Bates takes his men inland.

The peaceful Eskimos inhabiting the shores of Chesterfield inlet have told the police of the dangers to be met with on a journey northward, and they are helping in every way to make the work easier for the police. Not one of them, however, will volunteer to accompany the police on the trip and they prophesy sure death for the little band of mounted men.

palpu, the guide with Radford and Street, told Captain Lockhart that Street put up a great struggle for his life and with a body of men he was able to live from noon till sundown when an Eskimo squaw came out and cut his throat and pushed his body over a cliff.

Topalpu saved his life by marrying one of the women of the tribe, and eventually made his escape to the Hudson Bay coast. He refused point blank to serve as guide for Inspector Bates.

FARM PROPERTY MORE VALUABLE

Copenhagen, Denmark, Oct. 30.—Danish farm property has increased in value as a result of the European war until farm land is now being sold almost daily at a price 50 per cent higher than what they would have brought nine to twelve months ago. The appreciation of farm property is due, of course, to the unprecedented profits on agricultural products.

In the matter of horses, the scarcity is so serious that the government during the past six months has prohibited the exportation of them, and the farmers have been getting on in many instances with the small, but vigorous Icelandic horses, when they have been able to get them.

J. P. MORGAN IMPROVING

New York, Oct. 30.—J. P. Morgan spent a comfortable night following his operation upon him for appendicitis and his condition today is very satisfactory according to a bulletin issued by his physicians.
