

POLICE INVADE STREETOR PLACE

Occupant Does not Comply With Sunday Closing Rules and is Jailed.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—The police yesterday invaded, and, after the exchange of fifty or more shots, captured George Wellington Streetor, a resident of Lake Michigan, the filled-in land on the shores of Lake Michigan, where, until today, he has successfully defied Mayor Thompson's Sunday closing order.

Mrs. John Holst, the wife of one of Streetor's tenants was shot, 122 cases of beer were confiscated, six rifles, four revolvers and three boxes of ammunition were captured, one of the buildings in the stronghold of Streetorville demolished by a hook and ladder company of the invaders, and Streetor, his wife and fifteen others are under arrest.

Separate District.
The land claimed by Streetor is north of the harbor and in a fashionable lake shore residence district. Streetor and his wife came there years ago when their sailing vessel was wrecked on a bar. The sand has gradually filled in between the wreck and the shore until their claim comprises several blocks of very valuable territory. The city has never admitted Streetor's title. Streetor called the new made land the United States District of Lake Michigan, and has refused to recognize any authority but that of the United States.

Since the Sunday closing order has been effective, it is said, Streetor has done a thriving business in bottled beer. His shack, which he christened the "Oasis," is but a short distance from Lake Shore drive and easily accessible to automobile parties.

He was often summoned to court and numerous cases for selling liquor without a license are pending.

Last week a jury found him guilty on one charge but he took an appeal.

Many Invaders.
The main force of the invaders, consisting of 35 policemen, an ambulance, and reinforcements from the fire department were sent yesterday to a point within call but just out of range of observation. Eight strange detectives from far away stations went out to reconnoiter. They found the restaurant with a number of patrons, and after being served, one of them walked to the door and lifted his hat to a scout from the invaders.

Down the street, the patrol wagons and hospital corps got into motion and descended upon the building. Captain Streetor, hearing the commotion, seized a rifle and fired, according to the police, but was overpowered by the detectives from within the store.

Several rifle shots then came from adjoining buildings, the police say, and in answering rifle fire from the home of John Holst, the police are believed to have injured Mrs. Holst, but not seriously.

In Ice Box.
Patrons in the restaurant dropped from their chairs and sought to hide beneath tables and counters. Harry De Carmaker, a 17-year-old youth who lives with Streetor, was found in a refrigerator, shivering on a cake of ice, with a rifle guarding the supply of beer. He surrendered without a shot.

Only three women were among those arrested. Mrs. Streetor, Mrs. Holst and Mrs. Oscar Willey, who, with her husband, was seated at a table.

A FEMININE SOLUTION.
Mrs. Youngwed—Well, dear, I've found a fat and the cars go right past the door.
Youngwed—Won't the noise of the electric disturb your rest, my love?
Mrs. Youngwed—Oh, the landlord assured me that I wouldn't mind it after the first two nights, and you know, dear, we can sleep the first two nights at mother's.—(Boston Transcript)

FAKE ROMANCE MAY KILL GIRL

Daughter of Atlanta Clergyman Collapses after Claim- in "Dead Fiance."

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 15.—Miss Julia Choate Crumley, daughter of Rev. H. L. Crumley, a prominent Methodist minister, whose imaginary romance culminated in her buying the body of an unidentified man here from Chicago and arranging to bury it under the name of "Dr. Allyn Hensley of Quebec, Canada," her mythical fiance, has taken to her bed and may not live, it was learned here. She is under the care of specialists. Nurses are kept in constant attendance.

New Light Shed on Case.
The serious illness of Miss Crumley, who has carried on her imaginary romance for three years and who has from time to time unfolded various details of her "love affair" to her friends and relatives, came after the denouncement that followed the discovery the entire affair was fictitious and the body of the man she brought home to give an elaborate funeral was that of an unknown tramp. Meanwhile additional facts are coming to light.

Hallucination Explained.
The physicians state her act was due to an hallucination brought on by super-nervousness. She has made a frank confession of the whole affair to relatives but offers no explanation of her strange conduct.

Arrangements are under way to have the undertaking company of Chicago, from whom the body was secured, take it back, and it will be shipped within the next day or two.

First Intimation Given.
The first intimation of the family of Miss Crumley had that her return to Atlanta with the body. They had noticed that the telegrams she had sent from Chicago announced the death of her fiance as the result of injuries sustained in a railroad wreck were inconsistent and incoherent, but attributed this fact to her supposed great grief over her sweetheart's death.

Dates Fail to Cohere.
However, when she arrived with the body and produced a death certificate setting forth that "Dr. Allyn Hensley died October 31," they realized something was wrong as this date was several days in advance of the time the young woman had said her fiance had died.

When confronted with these discrepancies Miss Crumley broke down and confessed everything. She said she had secured the body and brought it home for burial as the best way of ending the awkward situation in which she had found herself with her wedding set for next Wednesday and elaborate arrangements made for the event.

Miss Crumley left Atlanta about two weeks ago for New York, where she said she was to take in charge the little 4-year-old daughter of her fiance who, she said, had been in an orphan's asylum. At her request a number of her girl friends had made up a wardrobe of beautiful clothes for the child.

Several days after arriving in New York Miss Crumley wired her relatives that she had been joined by an uncle and aunt of "Dr. Hensley," who brought the child to her and she had planned to return home by way of Denver.

Uses Money to Get Body.
The next news was a telegram from Chicago announcing "Dr. Hensley" had been injured in a wreck, but this was followed several hours later by another message stating he was dead and asking for $200. The money was wired to her and with it she secured the body and arranged for its shipment to Atlanta.

On one occasion she took a trip east, ostensibly to see her fiance, and wrote back she believed he was trying to kill her. She said in her letter that because of this suspicion she had broken off with him, but the very next letter said she had come to an understanding with "Dr. Hensley" and she felt sure he was devoted to her.

CHEER MEN BY WRITING LETTERS

"Godmothers" of Soldiers Help Them in Many Ways Says Paper.

Paris, Nov. 15.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The Godmother's certificate (certificat de marraine) is the latest distinction originating in the great war. It was invented by the spasmodic publication entitled "The Echo of the Huts"—a journal of the trenches and organ of the 21st Territorials. It reads as follows:

"I, the undersigned, certify that Madame (or Mademoiselle) has been my godmother during the war, since 1914."

Signed _____
A girl of any age, she has in some instances turned out to be a man. Her mission is to convey good cheer to some soldier at the front who has no family at home to look after him or who, through the vicissitudes of war, has been cut off from all communication with his relations. She writes to him and sends him such comforts as are practicable, and many that are not. She is generally French of course, but many English women and a hundred Virginian girls are said to have their godsons in the French army and are sending them enough letters to keep all the interpreters busy.

What the "pollu" thinks of his godmother may be learned from the "Echo of the Huts." It says: "Their attentions are constant and full of delicacy. They provide their godsons with a well-being, with a few luxuries that are not superfluous, and with some enchanting dreams that are not entirely useless either. As the soldiers of old combatted for their ladies, so the 'pollu' of today fights for his godmother. The godmother must be satisfied with her godson; in order that she be proud of him, that he be worthy of her, the 'pollu' performs heroic exploits."

"It cannot finish otherwise than in a contract in due and proper form. Therefore, to immortalize these patriotic unions, we have decided to create the 'godmother's certificate.'"

"Later on it will not, perhaps, be the least moving of the souvenirs of this war."

SHIPS USED TO KEEP PRISONERS

War is Story of Ignorance as far as Transport Service Goes says Editor.

London, Nov. 15.—"From the point of view of the shipping man, the whole history of the war as far as the transport service is concerned is a wicked story of ignorance, ineptitude and colossal waste," declares the editor of Syren and Shipping, the leading journal of the shipping trade. He adds:

"Costly and useful ships were used for months as prison ships. Superfluous ships like the Aquitania were employed on scouting missions, their magnificent passenger equipment gutted. Ships were allowed to load cargo or to book a full passenger list and then owners were informed that the admiralty required these boats."

An instance is given of a 7,000-ton boat which was all ready to sail with 200 passengers when it was taken over and sent empty to the west coast of South America, although it might have been loaded with coal and realized a small fortune. Another case is given of a 6,000-ton boat at Huelva about to load with a cargo of iron ore for England which was requisitioned suddenly and sent empty to the Pacific, although there should have been plenty of merchant ships available much nearer the desired destination.

"How long," asks the journal, "will these methods be tolerated. In the national interest, a committee of shipping men should have been selected to organize the admiralty chartering."

THE PRICE OF COAL

Little that is humorous attends the purchase of coal; yet one Cleveland man found at a coal yard in that city an individual who managed to infuse a degree of facetiousness into such a transaction.

ISLAND WITHOUT DRINKING WATER

London, Nov. 15.—When the first British naval forces landed at Lemnos, near the entrance of the Dardanelles, they were surprised to find that the island, which has an area of nearly 200 square miles and a population of 30,000, was practically destitute of drinking water, except for uncertain supplies from a few small springs. The allied troops were supplied with mineral water sent in shiploads through the generosity of a French woman in Marseilles.

The British authorities promptly sent to Canada for engineers, who are now engaged in sinking artesian wells which will guarantee the people of Lemnos a reliable and abundant water supply.

Here you have, in little space, a pretty clear idea of the Triangle and Metro entertainment.

For to most of us it is easy to imagine Dustin Farnum in the kind of a play he would like best to do. You feel the breath of the big outdoors at the thought of it.

Emmy Whelen, while new to a majority of us gives promise of being one of the greatest stars of the screen.

The name of Douglas Fairbanks says more to you who know the theatre than half a column of description. And the smile you smile as you say it to yourself is a good smile.

And so with Hitchcock. Funny as he is—it seemed that nothing could make him funnier—you see him breaking all the laws of gravitation as well as of gravity.

Here is an entertainment such as could not have been dreamed of until Triangle made it possible.

The only reason that such a program is possible for Grand Forks is that the larger cities pay the biggest part of its tremendous cost.

Prices in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago is 25 cents to $2.00. In Grand Forks the price is 15 cents.

Yet, surely, this makes it no less wonderful—no less entertaining to you.
