ALLEGED BANDIT IS KNOWN HERE

Stanley Kuscaskia, Arrested in Duluth for Robbery, Well Known.

Stanley Kuscaskia, being held in the St. Louis county jail at Duluth on the charge of robbery in the first degree, is a well known character to the authorities of East Grand Forks.

While here, Kuscaskia appeared before Judge William Rasmussen three times on various charges, once for disorderly conduct, once in connection with the theft of $50 from a transient, and once on the charge of vagrancy.

A few weeks ago Kuscaskia held up a transient near the N. P. draw-bridge in Duluth, and at the point of a gun, took two checks for large amounts, and a small amount of silver from him.

Kuscaskia is about 33 years of age, and worked in the North Dakota harvest fields most of the summer and fall.

HARRIS ARRESTED FOR THEFT

Accused of Stealing An Auto Robe from James Gilmore—Held as Vagrant.

Harry Harris, a transient, who has worked for farmers in Polk county each year for the past five years, was arrested this morning on the charge of vagrancy.

Harris was arrested in a pawn shop in Grand Forks while trying to dispose of the robe.

It is not known as yet whether or not Harris will be held on a larceny charge.

ONLY TWO MEN IN COURT

Drunk Suffered from Attack of Delirium Tremens During the Night, But Recovers.

Only two prisoners appeared before Judge William Rasmussen this morning for trial, on minor charges.

George Bates, arrested last evening on the charge of drunkenness, suffered a severe attack of delirium tremens during the night, and had to be given medical aid.

Leslie Stewart, also arraigned on the charge of drunkenness, pleaded guilty to the offense and was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail.

MASK ROBBERS TAKE $1,600

McAlester, Okla., Nov. 19.—Two masked robbers yesterday held up C. J. Wagar, cashier of the First State bank at Adamson, Okla., obtained $1,600 and escaped.

The cashier and citizens in the bank at the time were locked in the vault.

LITTLE BENEFIT TO RED LAKE FALLS

Brewing Companies to Handle Business out of Duluth and the Twin Cities.

Red Lake Falls will reap no particular benefit from the closing of the saloons in East Grand Forks and Crookston, as a very small portion of the brewery business heretofore done in those two cities will be transferred to that city.

Most of the companies expect to take care of the business formerly handled out of East Grand Forks from their agencies in Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis.

With the closing of the saloons just a few days off, the brewing agencies in this city are prepared for the final business, and their affairs will be immediately transferred to the other points.

Shortly after Polk county was voted dry, it was generally accepted that many of the breweries would remove their branches to Red Lake Falls, but evidently they have made other plans.

Inadequate shipping facilities are largely responsible for the decision of the companies to avoid Red Lake Falls.

SCHOOL NURSE TO COME HERE

Plan Was Decided on at a Meeting of the School Board of East Grand Forks.

An experienced nurse is to be engaged to visit East Grand Forks and investigate the conditions in the schools and the homes. This was decided on at a meeting of the school board, and a request has been sent to the state board of health for a trained nurse.

Superintendent F. E. Lurton of the city schools is behind the movement. It is his belief that many contagious diseases have made much headway in the city, and that they ought to be investigated.

Each student in the schools will be examined, and may be given medical care if needed.

Efforts will also be made to check the advance of disease in the city and to compel the parents of the students to adopt sanitary conditions in the homes.

"FIRE", SHOUTED HILLSTROM, AS HE FACES SQUAD; PAYS DEATH PENALTY FOR MURDER

ing all prison officials to the scene. The prison physician endeavored with slight success to quiet him. It was decided not to interfere with him until necessary and he was not disturbed until the time arrived to take him to the scene of execution.

When the guard arrived for this purpose, Hillstrom fought them savagely with a broom handle, which he had broken in two, leaving a sharp point on one piece. The officers tried vainly to get him out of the cell without a disturbance. Deputy wardens received slight wounds from Hillstrom's weapon.

Fought Savagely. Hillstrom fought silently but savagely until Sheriff Corless, for whom he previously manifested high regard, arrived and appealed to the maddened man.

"Joe, this is all nonsense," said Corless. "What do you mean; you promised to die like a man." Hillstrom hesitated a moment, then yielded.

"Well, I'm through," he said. "But you can't blame a man for fighting for his life."

The blanket strips he had tied to the door were then cut, he was blindfolded, and led to execution, supported by two guards.

Murders in 1914. Joseph Hillstrom was convicted of the murder of John G. Morrison, a grocer of Salt Lake City, and his son, Arling, 17 years old, at Morrison's store in the southern portion of the city, about 9 o'clock on the evening of January 10, 1914.

The shooting was witnessed by Merlim Morrison, another son, 14

JOHN BURKE TO SPEAK AT EQUITY GATHERING IN ST. PAUL DEC. 7

St. Paul, Nov. 19.—John Burke, federal treasurer, today wired his acceptance of the invitation to speak at the Equity Exchange Grain Growers National convention to be held in St. Paul December 7 to 9. The exact date for Burke's address has not yet been decided.

years old. According to this boy's story, which was corroborated on many points by other evidence, two masked men entered the store with drawn pistols, and saying: "We've got you now" opened fire on Morrison, who fell mortally wounded with a bullet through his chest.

Armed with a .38-caliber revolver and a .45-caliber pistol, the men then ran to an ice box in the store, seized a .38-caliber revolver and fired. Before the boy could shoot again, he fell pierced by three bullets and died almost instantly.

The men then ran to the store, seized a .38-caliber revolver and fired. Before the boy could shoot again, he fell pierced by three bullets and died almost instantly.

Hillstrom Wounded. Hillstrom, also known as Joe Hill, was arrested three days after the shooting on information given by a doctor near Murray, Utah, two and a half miles south of the scene of the crime. Hillstrom staggered into the doctor's home two hours after the shooting, with a large bullet wound through his left lung.

He told the doctor he had been shot in a quarrel over a woman and that he was not nothing he said regarding his visit or wound. The doctor, not having heard of the murders, treated the wound and took Hillstrom to a house where he had been staying for several days.

News of the murders recalled the case to the doctor and he informed the officer that he had seen an automatic pistol, of the same caliber as the one found in the grocery after the shooting, in Hillstrom's pocket.

Blood was found at several places between the store and the home of the doctor and members of the family where Hillstrom lived said a companion had visited him late the night of the murders and that he had been in the area. This man was not apprehended and has not been heard of since.

Identification Complete. The Morrison boy, because of the marks on his face, the shooting and the particular description of Hillstrom as one of the assailants seen in bright moonlight near an electric arc lamp with snow on the ground, Hillstrom also was identified as a man who visited the doctor the afternoon of the murders and talked with Morrison.

Hillstrom's recovery from his wounds was rapid and complete. He has always maintained his innocence, but has never told where he was the night of the murders or who shot him. He created a scene at his trial by dramatically discharging his attorneys in open court, later giving as his reason their failure to "clear young Hillstrom" referring to the boy who witnessed the shooting.

He refused to go on the witness stand himself or to offer any evidence as to where he was or what he did the night of the murders. He was found guilty by the trial jury, the judgment was affirmed by the supreme court, and the board of pardons, after an exhaustive review of the case, declined to commute his sentence of death.

No Justice in Commutation. He was sentenced to be shot October 1 and was reprieved by Governor Spry September 30 at the request of President Wilson, who acted on a request of the Swedish minister. The case had previously been investigated by the Swedish minister by the Swedish vice consul for Utah, a well known attorney, who advised that his investigation developed nothing that would justify the granting of pardons in commutating the sentence.

Gives No Information. Hillstrom declined to make any statement before the board of pardons or to give it any information as to where he was or what he did the night of the homicides or the circumstances under which he did the night of the murders. He was found guilty by the trial jury, the judgment was affirmed by the supreme court, and the board of pardons, after an exhaustive review of the case, declined to commute his sentence of death.
