

The Daily Herald

THE TIMES-HERALD PUB. CO. PUBLISHERS AND PROPRIETORS.

Entered at Grand Forks, North Dakota postoffice as second-class matter.

Published every morning except Monday morning and every evening except Sunday evening.

All papers are continued until an explicit order to discontinue is received and until arrears are paid.

Subscribers desiring address changed must send former address as well as new one.

Subscription Rates: Morning or Evening Edition—One year by mail or carrier, $4.00.

Foreign Representatives: Carpenter-Scheerer Special Agency, Fifth Avenue, New York; Peoples Gas Bldg., Chicago.

FRIDAY EVENING, NOV. 26, 1915.

THE RED CROSS.

President Wilson's appeal for support for the Red Cross is timely. The need for the services of this magnificent institution was never before so great.

One of the features of the work of the Red Cross is its broad catholicity. It knows neither class nor race nor creed.

THE APPEAL TO THE STATES.

Chicago Herald: The attorney general of the United States has appealed to the various states to co-operate in efforts to punish those guilty of numerous attacks on American industries by means of incendiary fires, explosions, threats against employees and other acts of violence.

The appeal should be answered with promptness and energy. The states have their part, and a most important part, in punishing those guilty of the long series of criminal attacks on American industries.

It is easy to understand the reasons for the failure of the state governments to be as active as they might have been in these affairs.

It develops, however, that state assistance is needed not only to help run down the authors of these various crimes and conspiracies but also to inflict punishment on those who have violated no federal law. The states should awaken to the fact that state's rights means the right and the duty of co-operating with the federal government in a matter that touches alike the interests of nation and state.

A VERDICT STRANGELY INCONCLUSIVE.

New York Times: Probably the jury to whose members were submitted the questions raised by the death of Chicago's now somewhat too famous little "defective" was an incompetent to answer them as any jury that could have been selected.

At the "verdict" of these specialists shows how complicated the problem was, how could be said both for and against the course taken by Dr. Haiselden, how many solutions of the problem might have been accepted as correct.

They say, for instance, that "the physician's highest duty is to relieve suffering and to save or prolong life," and the enunciation of that great and simple principle, is, in essence, a condemnation of the physician who assumes to decide on his own judgment whether the saving or prolongation of a given life is worth while or justifiable.

As was to be expected, the verdict of this corner's jury has been as little effective in settling the case as has been the discussion of the case by laymen, in and out of the newspapers. It remains unsolved, because unsolvable.

THE GALLIOLI PROBLEM.

No intimation has been given by the British authorities as to whether or not it intended to withdraw the allied troops from the Gallipoli peninsula, where their efforts to pierce the Dardanelles have been so costly and so fruitless.

There are two sides to the question. It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

There is also to be considered the moral effect of withdrawal, and it is certain that this would be considerable. Still further, there are to be considered the very immediate and practical difficulties in the way of the actual work of withdrawal.

It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

It develops, however, that state assistance is needed not only to help run down the authors of these various crimes and conspiracies but also to inflict punishment on those who have

violated no federal law. The states should awaken to the fact that state's rights means the right and the duty of co-operating with the federal government in a matter that touches alike the interests of nation and state.

SCHOOL BUILDINGS BEING INSPECTED

Committee of Board Considering Fire Marshal's Report.

The buildings and grounds committee of the Board of Education of which Dr. McDonald is chairman is inspecting the school buildings of the state to determine what steps should be taken regarding the report and recommendations of State Fire Marshal A. H. Runge.

The report, which was submitted to the board several days ago, declares that there is not a "fire proof school building" in the state.

Mr. O. Thoreson said today that a meeting of the board will be held a few days, at which time the committee will make its report and steps will be taken to remedy any dangerous condition.

No Escapes at Roosevelt. The fire marshal's department made its inspection of local schools during the week of November 8. The report declares that the buildings are not provided with "panic door bolts," one-half of the exit doors are bolted in violation of the state law.

It also declares that in the Central, Washington and Winthrop schools, the way of approach to fire escapes and exits is not clear, there being obstructions in the nature of storm windows fastened on both inside and outside and also radiators. This also is in violation of the state law, the report declares.

Provision Against Fire Danger. The department has recommended that a brick or concrete wall or partition be built in the basement of the Wilder school in place of the wooden partition where the janitor stores the ashes.

Mr. Runge also called attention to the case of Paul Carpenter, a crippled boy ten years of age in the third grade of the Wilder school. He is practically helpless, the report says, and in case of fire it might be difficult for him to reach safety.

Mr. Runge called attention to a recent disastrous fire in a school building near Mt. Clemens, Michigan, which resulted in the death of a number of children.

There are two sides to the question. It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

There is also to be considered the moral effect of withdrawal, and it is certain that this would be considerable. Still further, there are to be considered the very immediate and practical difficulties in the way of the actual work of withdrawal.

It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

There is also to be considered the moral effect of withdrawal, and it is certain that this would be considerable. Still further, there are to be considered the very immediate and practical difficulties in the way of the actual work of withdrawal.

It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

There is also to be considered the moral effect of withdrawal, and it is certain that this would be considerable. Still further, there are to be considered the very immediate and practical difficulties in the way of the actual work of withdrawal.

It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

There is also to be considered the moral effect of withdrawal, and it is certain that this would be considerable. Still further, there are to be considered the very immediate and practical difficulties in the way of the actual work of withdrawal.

It is true that the abandonment of the peninsula would release a force of British and French of considerable size for work elsewhere.

East Grand Forks

CITY RECOVERING FROM THE CLOSING

Seven Former Saloon Buildings Have Been Re-opened.

Business is again picking up in East Grand Forks since the long established liquor business has been closed. Seven of the former saloons have reopened their doors and are serving soft drinks, "mal" and cigars.

The large territory surrounding East Grand Forks includes some of the richest land in Minnesota, and a large amount of trade is derived from this source.

Most of the restaurants are still open for business. Some of the eating places in the rear of saloons were closed with the saloons, but the rest are still running.

Charles Skagen of Mekinock pleaded guilty to the charge. He was given a suspended sentence of thirty days in the county jail, and told to leave the city. He became boisterous, however, and as a result will serve his sentence.

Antone Warner, arraigned on a drunkenness charge, pleaded not guilty to the offense. His case was set for tomorrow morning, and bail was fixed at $200.

Joe Crist, picked up near the city last week on an apparently demented condition, was recovered today and released from custody. It is supposed that he was a victim of delirium tremens.

E. G. F. SOCIAL NEWS

Mrs. Inger Forrestad, Park avenue, entertained the members of the Maccabean club and a company of friends at her home this afternoon complimentary to Mrs. William Boeger, Mrs. Ed. F. Fagnano and Mrs. Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zipoy, 524 North Third street, have as their guests for a few days their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Zipoy of Little Falls, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ebbinghausen, 404 North Fourth street, were among those who entertained at dinner yesterday afternoon. Dinner was served at 1:30 and the guests were Miss Ruth Crane and Miss Frances Stone of this city and Will Stone of Rice Lake, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Sullivan of the Corbin club entertained at Thanksgiving dinner yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thomas and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Roycraft of Grand Forks.

Miss Mary and Katherine Enright of Grand Forks spent yesterday with their parents, Mrs. Thomas Enright, near the city.

Miss Frances Stone of the city schools is enjoying a visit from her brother, Will Stone, of Rice Lake, Wis.

A French-American Magazine. The same French women who sent the collection of dolls and toys to America for exportation and sale, under the auspices of La Vie Feminine are publishing a monthly review for circulation in the United States.

South African University Plan. Capetown, Nov. 26.—The project for a great national South African university seems now in a fair way to be realized. More than $2,500,000 in bequests has for some time been awaiting the agreement of various boards and trustees upon questions of site and policy.

SAD FACED THINKERS. A patron of Mr. Dana's library observes that the people who browse in the fiction department look happy and peaceful and contented, while people who frequent the technical room look miserable. The phenomenon may be thus explained. The people in the technical room are doing a thinking, and thinking is the most violent work that the human being does.

JAMES EDWARDS'S BUCKLE. An intensive search for revolutionaries was conducted by the police in upper Manhattan and is proving fruitful, one of the most interesting of the recently found articles being a buckle with the inscription, "G. B. (George, Rex), 28th regiment." Roughly scratched on the reverse were the initials "J. E." Investigation has discovered the probable owner in the person of James Edward, a member of the 28th regiment of the new university. The necessary legislative approval for the project will be pushed through the approaching session of parliament.

BENNER & BEGG "The Store Accommodating" Bargain Basement FRIDAY SPECIALS. Caps, 25c; Remnants; Suits, $8.50; Coats, $4.75; Overshoes; Rubbers.

BITTER PROTEST AGAINST CENSORS. Nothing But Goodness in Everything Made With Calumet Baking Powder. Thousands of physicians and millions of housewives will swear to that.

HOLIDAYS BACK HOME. Spend Christmas and New Years with the old folks—amid old familiar scenes—renewing acquaintance with old friends. Low Round Trip Fares East.

Stinson, He Handles SCRANTON COAL. "The Coal That's All Coal". Make Your Dollars Have More Cents by Trading With Stinson.

4% Paid on Savings Interest Compounded Quarterly. Grand Forks Building & Loan Assn.

No Investment. Union Commercial College. Grand Forks, North Dakota.

MORTON PIONEER KILLED IN RUNAWAY. Mandan, N. D., Nov. 26.—Gustaf Irtich, aged 62 years, pioneer settler of the New Salem district, is dead as the result of injuries sustained when his team ran away.

LIVE WELL. Making a living is the problem that confronts every boy and girl. To pick out a career most suited to your tastes and abilities is what you should try to do.

FOR RENT. Space now occupied by barber shop at Brooks' billiard and bowling establishment, after December 1.

JOSEPH P. KARTES IS DEAD. Well to Do Bachelor Farmer Residing North Langdon Called After Long Illness.

THE IRISH GUARDS. Shoulder to shoulder, no sight is so brave as that of the Irish Guards.

STATUE MAY PROVE IMPORTANT FIND. Athens, Nov. 26.—A mutilated statue of Erros, discovered by French troops in the course of trenching exercises on the island of Lemnos, may prove to be a find of great importance.

SAD FACED THINKERS. A patron of Mr. Dana's library observes that the people who browse in the fiction department look happy and peaceful and contented, while people who frequent the technical room look miserable.

Nothing But Goodness in Everything Made With Calumet Baking Powder. Thousands of physicians and millions of housewives will swear to that.

SAVE A DIME A DAY. 4% FURS. For fine Repair Work send your Furs to S. FRIEDMAN.