

WHAT THEY ARE DOING IN SOCIETY

Interlude.

As a harp's strings quiver and in- tone to the touch of the human hand. So our spirits answer sweet, elate, To the touch from childhood land; To lose our sordid selves in surf That washes that land's shore, Is to come back cleansed and free of guile, Our better selves once more.

COTTAGE OWNERS ARE DISTURBED Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 14.—With the international waterways commission scheduled to meet in Winnipeg about February 1 to take up the question of establishing a permanent level for the water in the Lake of the Woods, along the boundary line between Manitoba and Ontario, cottage owners will hold a meeting here next week to determine what steps they shall take to present their case to the commission. Should a higher level be authorized, many cottage owners at the lake would sustain severe damages, and they are anxious that the commission do not take such steps. The lake level proposition is one that has created a deep stir throughout southern Manitoba and northern Minnesota, because a raise of the lake level would mean serious consequences for many land owners over a wide district. Sense of Compulsion. "He is never alone who is accompanied by noble thoughts." "Or by one calling for a substantial amount."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BRITISH TROOPS COST $75,000 TO PROBE FRAUD LOSE THEIR PUSH

This is Opinion Expressed by Prince Rupprecht When Interviewed. Berlin, Jan. 14.—(By Wireless to Sayville).—The Lokai Anzeiger, according to the Overseas News agency, publishes an interview with Prince Rupprecht, crown prince of Bavaria. The prince is quoted as saying regarding his troops: "I wish to say and repeat that with the troops all things can be attained. Nothing is too much for them, nothing too hard. Behind them are heavy days and they are now in the midst of heavy days. Our worst enemy is not the foe, but the weather and water. But they must also master this, as they have mastered everything. As for the British soldiers, they are no longer what they were. We see every day that their push is diminishing. Their lack of officers has caused a decrease in their fighting power." The prince had spoken about his own troops, says the interviewer, with his blue eyes radiant and his face resplendent with deep joy. Questioned about the probable consequences of compulsory military service in England, the crown prince said: "That will not change anything. Many months must pass until these men are even half way trained for war; that is, supposing that a force capable of training them exists, and they will never be first rate troops. Time is not merely an ally for our adversary, it is an ally also for us."

WILL BE GREAT CREDITOR NATION London, Jan. 14.—Sir Edward Carson, former attorney general, described the rise of the United States as a creditor nation in a vigorous speech in the house of commons as the debate was closing late last night. "There will be a great sifting, for a time all events of the world, the commercial power in the world," he said. "We shall have to contend with the great friendly nation in the west, which before the war was a debtor nation. After the war it probably will be the chief creditor nation of the world. There will be danger for a while that a great preponderance of gold and credit in that country will change to a large extent the working out of the great matter of exchange and the necessary accompaniments of the greatest clearing house in the world."
