

LIVE STOCK MEETING BEGAN THIS MORNING

NORTH DAKOTA ASSOCIATION IN SESSION

Hold Gathering in Connection With the Corn and Clover Convention.

FINE PROGRAM GIVEN TODAY

Business to be Transacted Tomorrow Night at Annual Banquet.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the North Dakota Association opened in this city this morning.

The annual business meeting of the association will be held tomorrow night following the banquet at the Hotel DuPont.

At the meeting this morning, W. B. Richards of Ellendale, N. D., gave an address on "Self-Feeder Method of Growing and Fattening Hogs."

H. G. Van Felt, editor of Kimball's Dairy Farm, of Williston, N. D., president of the association, has not reached the city yet.

The meeting this morning was unusually well attended, an evidence of the fact that live stock farming has become one of the most prominent industries of North Dakota.

Mr. White also devoted much time to the marketing of sheep. If the price remains the same the farmer sells as when he bought, a profit in dollars and cents is assured.

He recommended one kind of sheep for stubble grazing, although, if there is plenty of stubble, mixed herds do well.

Profit of $1,000. Mr. White also devoted much time to the marketing of sheep.

He spoke of the decrease in the sheep market, the falling off last year amounting to $5,000.

In concluding, he said: "When your sheep first arrive, fill them on hay and run them on the stubble."

NOTICEABLE CHANGE IN RELATIONS

General Feeling in Germany is That Crisis Has Been Modified.

NEWSPAPERS ARE KEEPING QUIET

Writer Doubts Whether Wilson Will Get Good Results From England.

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The feeling which has been prevalent in German circles that the crisis at hand in German-American relations, particularly in regard to the Lusitania case, has been moderated, if only in a slight degree, by the semi-official announcement regarding the forwarding to Ambassador von Bernstorff at Washington, of instructions which give hope of a definite settlement.

Little Comment. Newspapers have little to say regarding the situation. The chief editorial writer of the Kreuz Zeitung devotes a large part of his daily review to the dispassionate discussion of the German-American affairs, recognizing that Washington cannot be reproached for endeavoring to make the best of America's favorable position in regard to German and Great Britain by bringing pressure to bear upon both, playing one against another. It gives a warning, however, against the over-estimation of the importance of such "diplomatic gestures."

Writer in Doubt. The writer doubts whether President Wilson will "commit the foolish act" of entering the world war, despite his protests against the British interference with trade. "Therefore, the writer says, Germany must rely upon herself."

PLACE OF MEETING. A very heated discussion over the revision of prices among the members of the Mechanics Mutual Benefit association of North Dakota, was the feature of this morning's session of the association, held in the Commercial club rooms here.

The question of the adjustment of the prices of work done by mechanics and blacksmiths in North Dakota is the most vital question that ever confronted them, according to John LaFuer, a representative of the Kelly-How-Thompson Co., of Duluth in a short discussion.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting, a committee composed of five members of the association were appointed by J. W. Beuttner, of Norwich, N. D., retiring president of the association, to attend to the matter of adjusting the prices.

Today, however, several of the members of the organization felt that the members appointed would not be able to attend to their duties. Two of those appointed were absent from the city.

The president was requested at this morning's meeting to withdraw his appointments, and a motion was made to appoint three others.

Turmoil at once prevailed in the convention room. Opinions as to the advisability of the course varied, no definite action was taken until shortly before noon, when Mr. Beuttner was persuaded to withdraw his appointments, and J. C. Mirehouse, Langdon, secretary and treasurer of the association, Charles W. Beyers, of Ottineau, and John Bathgate of Grand Forks, were appointed as a committee of three to attend to the readjustment of the prices of work in the regular lines of blacksmithing.
