Grandma, with the children playing. All unminuted of her years; Arrive with the springtime staying.

Grandma, in her armchair seated. Throne-like—yet where love may climb. "Just one more, please,"—hear entreaties.

See the children's children 'round her; Listen to the tales related; Eager, loving arms surround her—

With a halo that has crowned her Wrought of child-love's purest gold. Thus with little children playing.

Leaning o'er so many years; Sharing childhood's joys—betraying Only grief for childhood's tears; Hope serene, all doubts outweighing.

Loyal friend, true wife and mother— Crowning grace of womanhood— Ever willing to discover "Neath the surface, hidden good—

Slow to chide, or blame another, Helpfulness her daily mood. Bravely patient with the sorrows

Life has brought—each changing scene; Nobly met, unborn tomorrows Welcomed with a soul serene; Fortitude that humbly borrows

Abiding strength from the unseen. Springtime, summer, autumn blending In sweet, low harmony; Morning, noon and twilight landing

Grace to cheer life's mystery, Benedictus—without ending Crown her love and loyalty.

The near approach of the Lenten season, which begins Wednesday, March 8, means that the next two weeks will be filled with many social activities.

Bridge parties will be in the lead for the afternoon gatherings of the ladies for the coming week. Many of the evening's diversions there will be several dancing parties, both formal and informal.

The decorations will be kept with the season, and dancing will be enjoyed from 8 until 12. Supper will be served in the dining room of the temple from 11:30 until 1.

When Nature gives her signal that something is wrong it is apt to be with the food. The old Dame is always faithful and one should act at once. To put off the change is to risk that which will be irreparable.

"For years I could not safely eat any breakfast. I tried various kinds of breakfast food, but they were all soft, starchy masses which gave me distressing headaches. I drank strong coffee, too, which appeared to benefit me at the time, but added to the headaches afterward."

"A friend persuaded me to quit coffee and the starchy breakfast foods, and use Postum and Grape-Nuts instead. I shall never regret taking his advice."

"The change it worked in me is wonderful. I now have no more of the distressing headaches in my stomach after eating, and I don't have headaches. I have gained 12 pounds in weight and feel better in every way."

"Grape-Nuts makes a delicious as well as a nutritious dish; and I find that Postum agrees perfectly—never produces dyspepsia symptoms."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A special request they ask that the ladies of the city keep that afternoon open for them, as the cause for which they are giving the party is a good one, and they want the ladies of the city to attend. The entire proceeds will go to the Florence Crittendon home at Fargo, which is badly in need of money. Playing will start at 3 o'clock and prizes will be awarded to the holders of the high scores. Light refreshments will be served after the games.

The German club will have a cotillion in the dining room of the Hotel Dacotah on Friday evening and Mrs. B. S. Kinnam will be in charge of the party. The cotillion will start at 9 o'clock and will continue until the supper hour.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, William Wolfson of Minneapolis. The wedding gown was fashioned of white Duchess satin, with trimmings of chantly lace and pearls and made with a court train. Her flowers were a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. L. R. Essey of Lorain, O., was his brother's attendant.
