The Gypsy Trail.
The white moth to the closing vine,
The bee to the opening clover,
And the gypsy blood to the gypsy
blood.
Ever the world over,
Ever the world over, lass,
Ever the trail held true
Over the world and under the world
And back at last to you.

Out of the luck of the goretin camp,
Out of the grim and the gray,
Morning awaits at the end of the
world—
Gypsy, come away!
Both to the road again; again
Out of a clean sea track
Follow the cross of the gypsy trail,
Over the world and back.

Follow the Romany pattern,
West to the sinking sun,
Till the junk sails lift through the homeless drift
And the east and the west are one,
Follow the Romany pattern,
East where the silence broods
By a purple wave on an opal beach
In the hush of the Mahim woods.

The wild hawk to the wind swept sky,
The deer to the wholesome world,
And the heart of a man to the heart
of a maid,
As it was in the days of old,
The heart of a man to the heart of a
maid,
Light of my tent, be fleet,
Morning awaits at the end of the
world,
And the world is at our feet.

ST. LOUIS GIRL PINS ROSE ON McCOMBS

Miss G. McCombs, a pretty St. Louis girl, was caught by the camera man pinning a rose on the lapel of William G. McCombs' coat. McCombs is chairman of the democratic national committee.

Baskets of pink and white peonies and palms were used as the background of the stage at the Guild hall this afternoon, when Mrs. F. Stokes entertained a company of 150 ladies from 3 to 4 o'clock at a musical as an honor to her guest, Mrs. E. H. Kammerly of Philadelphia, Pa. A large basket of purple and white blossoms was placed at the entrance and as the guests arrived they were shown to their places by Misses Jean Taylor, Elsie Brown, Ruth Carrothers and Elizabeth Kelly.

The program was presented by Marie Gjersten Fischer, conductor, Carlo Fischer, violoncellist and Miss Bertha Marron, accompanist, of St. Paul, and consisted of the following numbers: "Kol Nidre" (ancient Hebrew chant) for violoncello and piano... Bruch Spoke songs... Arthur Koerner Words by Rabindranath Tagore, (a) "Oh Mother, the Young Prince," (b) "Tell Me if all this is True," (c) "Why did the Lamp go Out," (d) "Death, Thy Servant is at my Door."

Solos for violoncello
(a) Song of India, Rimsky-Korsakov
(b) "Oriental," Caesar Cui

(a) Serenade... Block

(b) "Le Cygne" (Saint-Saens)
(c) "Ariquin" (scene from Suite— "The Masked Ball")... Popper
The dining room, where tea was served immediately after the program, was decorated in pink and white, and the appointments were carried out in the same tones. The electric globes were shaded in pink and the tables were centered with baskets of honey suckles and spiraea tied with fluffy bows of pink maline. Blossoms in French baskets banked the windows and hung from the ceiling and added to the attractiveness of the room. The ladies assisting in serving in the dining room were Mrs. Tracy Bangs, Mrs. George Dulis, Mrs. J. L. Wine, Mrs. J. G. Hamilton, Mrs. C. A. Greenleaf, Mrs. T. G. Olson, Mrs. H. G. Woutat, Mrs. J. R. Carley, Mrs. M. E. Stricker, Mrs. Charles Madison, Mrs. Harry Call, Mrs. G. M. Williamson, Mrs. Robert Green, Mrs. Fred Parsons, Mrs. G. H. Olmstead and Miss Cordelia Hultner.

OYSTERS WILL BE MADE MORE SANITARY

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—An investigation which the United States public health service is making of the coastal waters in which oysters are found along the shores of Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and Rhode Island will show the cause, the source and character of pollution of oysters. The public health service has equipped a steamer with a flowing laboratory to carry on this work according to Surgeon H. S. Cumming of the United States public health service in a paper read today before the American Medical association. The main sources of danger according to Surgeon Cumming are unsanitary conditions in shucking houses, the use of oysters from unknown sources and dredging of oysters from beds known to be polluted.

"All of these dangers may be removed by intelligent co-operation of federal, state and local health authorities," he said. "Conditions have already been markedly improved as compared with conditions of twenty years ago and the vast majority of oysters now marketed are safe. The development of modern methods of transportation and refrigeration has made it possible to ship shell fish to the most remote sections of the country. Modern transportation methods, by use of a flowing laboratory and the use of large sums in oyster production have greatly improved conditions.

URGES INSPECTION FOR ALL CLERKS

Detroit, Mich., June 16.—Grocery and market clerks and all other food handlers should be examined for traces of communicable disease said Dr. Donald B. Armstrong, an official of the New York association for improving the condition of the food. In a paper read before the American Medical association here today.

Dr. Armstrong discussed the sanitation of public places. He pointed out that while general sanitation in grocery stores and markets, including such things as clean floors and clean boxes, was important, the essential things to be looked after if disease was to be guarded against, were the problems of personal hygiene.

"It is urged that all protection should be the protection of food from dirty hands. This was emphasized as follows:

"Who handles your food? The housewives should buy from stores where the owner protects his customers from the three dangerous 'P's'—Filth, Flies and Filth. It is not the street dirt and ordinary dust that is so important. Rather, it is the dirt that gets on food from dirty hands and careless coughing and sneezing."

FINE SERVICES IN VALLEY CITY

Valley City, N. D., June 16.—An impressive ceremony was held in connection with the unveiling of the electric flag at the city hall which was a feature of the Flag day program.

A temporary stand was erected in front of the city hall, and here were stationed the speakers, members of the Grand Army of the Republic, State Commander Henry Beal, and the mayor.

After a short concert of patriotic airs by the municipal band, Alderman Hubitz made a few introductory remarks that were fitting to the occasion, and called upon Prof. Stevenson

INTENSE ITCHING OF RED BLOTCHES

On Hands, Went Up Arm to Shoulder, Then on Face, Awake Nights Scratching.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"At first I noticed little red blotches on my hands, and they went up my arm to shoulder and then on my face. My hands were rough and inflamed and the itching was so intense that I had to scratch which made them bleed. I used to be awake nights scratching all the time. I was not able to put my hands in water or do my work because it was so painful. My hands were disfigured something terrible. I heard of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I thought I would try them. Two boxes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Ointment—Saw healed me entirely." (Signed) Miss Bernadine Durbin, 2447 Auburn Ave., Chicago, Ill., July 14, 1915.

who gave a history of the flag. "America" was sung by the vast audience accompanied by the band.

The chairman then stated that while it had been impossible to secure the president of the United States for the occasion, they had secured the treasurer of the United States, and introduced Hon. John Burke. Mr. Burke gave one of his customary brilliant oratorical efforts. He warmly praised the civic pride and picturesque beauty of Valley City, and concluded with a fine tribute to the flag and Flag day. During his address North Dakota's ex-governor was frequently applauded.

Hon. A. F. Paulson, who had been chosen suffering from dangerous pneumonia and typhoid fever, could be weeded out. This should be considered the first line of offense, he said.

Immediately following the address the first gun of the salute was fired, and the large electric flag on the dome of the hall was unveiled by Commander Henry Beal.

The audience, accompanied by the band, rendered "The Star Spangled Banner" with much animation, and the beautiful and impressive exercises came to a close.
