STRIKING PLEA BY CASEMENT

Convicted Irish Baronet Defends Himself on Charge of Treason.

London, June 30.—One of the most remarkable addresses ever heard in an English court room was that delivered by Sir Roger Casement following his conviction of a charge of treason.

There were numerous striking sentences in Sir Roger's speech. "There is an objection, possibly not god in law, but surely good on moral grounds," he said, "that the application to me here of this old English statute, 565 years old, that seeks to deprive an Irishman today of his life and his honor, not for adhering to the king's enemies, but for adhering to his own people."

"When this statute was passed in 1351, what was the state of men's minds on the question of a far higher allegiance, that of man and his God to his kingdom. The law of that day did not permit him to forsake his church or deny his God save with his life. He hereafter had the same doom as the traitor. Today a man may forswear God and his heavenly ruler without fear or penalty, earlier statutes having gone the way of Nero's edicts against the Christians; but that constitutional phantom, the king, can still dig up from the dungeon and torture chambers of the Dark Ages a law that takes a man's life and limb for an exercise of his conscience.

"If true religion rests on love, it is equally true that loyalty rests on love. The law of the living present but by the fears of the dead past; not by the civilization of the twentieth century, but by the brutality of the Fourteenth; not even by statute framed in the language of the land that tries me, but emitted in the language of an enemy land; so antiquated is the law that must be sought today to slay an Irishman whose offense is that he puts Ireland first."

Letters Received. While the engineer was testifying, Orpet sat looking at letters coming from strangers in all parts of the country, expressing sympathy.

Winnipeg, Man., June 30.—It was announced that Sid Rodmond Roblin, former premier of Manitoba, and two of his cabinet, J. H. Howden, attorney general, and G. R. Coldwell, minister of education, who are accused of conspiracy to defraud the province in connection with the parliament buildings' case, will be placed on trial July 18.

Senator's statement to the jury, vigorously attacked the testimony of V. W. Horwood, provincial architect, regarding alleged manipulations of plans and the amount of money raised for the purpose of raising a caucus and with a view to keep the provincial conservative party in power.

Since they were formally accused of conspiracy the former government officials have been at liberty under bail of $50,000 each.

Parental Concurrence. "My boy Josh has got me kind o' worried," said Farmer Cornstoss. "Ain't he behaving?" asked the neighbor. "I hadn't thought about that. What I'm wonderin' is whether I kin spruce up an' be the kind of a father he thinks he's entitled to."

Got Both Jobs. Head of Business—What position do you desire in our establishment, sir? College Graduate—Oh, something like confidential adviser or general manager. Head of Business—Good! You may have both jobs. I will make you an office boy. A Great Loss. "So your car was stolen?" "Yes." "I would worry; perhaps it will be recovered." "I'm not worrying about the car; that was insured. But I had six gallons of gasoline in the tank and I can't afford to stand that loss."

It is unwise to allow prejudice to enter the place where wisdom belongs.

East Grand Forks BOYS BREAK LOCK TO STEAL RIFLE Yesterday afternoon the shed of the Olson-Gilman Co., sign painters, who are working on the Chas. Ryan farm near this city, was entered by the lock being forced open, and a rifle and some cartridges were taken by the intruders. Chief Hurst of the police force was informed of the loss this morning, and after an interview with some of the boys of the city he located the rifle and it was turned over to him. An act of this kind is an offense of very serious nature, and although no action has as yet been taken, it is the intention of the police to commence action later. Many boys are sent to the reform school for offenses of this kind. One Arrest Last Evening. A man giving the name of Robert Burns was arrested on the streets yesterday afternoon on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Listad and family returned last evening from Scobey, Mont., where they have been visiting at the home of Mrs. A. O. Listad. Mayor Going Fishing. Mayor C. J. Kelleher intends to leave for Perham, Minn., for a few days of vacation joy fishing. It Isn't There. "Do you believe that music has a refining influence?" "Oh, yes," replied the man of esthetic tastes, "but I fall to see what uplift it has when a vaudeville performer plays a piano with his foot." Poor Dubwuite. "Why the pained expression?" "Dubwuite has been trying to tell me a funny story." "Had you heard it before?" "I don't know. He forgot how it ended." JUST SO. As we journey through life let us live by the way. "Oh, yes," a good word. But a lot of us chaps, it's important to say. Have to board. (Louisville Courier-Journal.) An eastern paper says this is one time for slackers. The remark seems to be true.
