THE ENCYCLOPEDIA OF BUSINESS LAW and FORMS,

is a Complete Dictionary of Legal Knowledge, for Business Men, Mechanics, Landlords, Tenants, Workmen, Capitalists

And all Who Have Business Transactions of any Kind, as well as LAWYERS and CONVEYANCERS.

This volume has a fullness and completeness possessed by no other. Its law and its forms are modern. They apply to every State in the Union, to every form of society, and every phase of business. With this book at hand, you may readily and easily understand how to be your own LAWYER in all ordinary

BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS,

How to Write Contracts, Agreements, Deeds, Mortgages, Judgments, Leases, Wills, Etc., or act as Arbitrator, Administrator, Executor, Trustee, Magistrate, Supervisor, Constable, Etc.,

By its possession you may save hundreds of dollars. You avoid Law Suits. Libraries worth thousands of dollars incorporated into a single VOLUME, representing the study and decisions of the most able lawyers and supreme judicial authorities. Not simply one man's opinion, as in former law books, but a book of authorities, showing the very source of the Law. Over 15000 Law points answered in most complete and over 2000 Law Forms, unequalled in brevity, clearness and perfection.

Alphabetical Order,

It is a condensed Law Library in one volume, arranged alphabetically, so that whatever subject is wanted, can be found as easily as a word in the dictionary. Every man, from the Day-Laborer to the Millionaire may here find his rights and duties clearly defined, and acquire a thorough practical knowledge of business Law and Forms.

EVERY MAN

Has felt, at some time or other, the need of just such a book. Men in every capacity must have transactions of a legal nature. They enter numerous into every department of life. To be always ready and apt, to

MAKE EVERY TRANSACTION SURE,

to be counted a safe and expert business man, require precisely the knowledge provided by this book. It is the prudent man who avoids dangerous and troublesome matters by finding where they are before he is upon them, and the law being the record of these matters, points them out and warns the cautious and prudent against them. Only those who are IGNORANT of the Law fall victims; they sleep when they should be vigilant. Having this book will prevent many a dispute, settle many a controversy, and in a single instance may save you

TEN TIMES ITS COST.

In this book one is not left to the helpless work of copying a form he knows nothing about. He finds, in connection with each form, the principle—clearly and explicitly stated—upon which the form rests. Thus he is put on equal footing with the LAWYER in his office, and may exercise a judgment as independent and safe as if he paid one hundred dollars for it. The work is thoroughly reliable. Each statement made is based on actual decisions and the Highest Authorities known to and recognized by the law. It contains 702 double column pages, clear and beautiful type, handsomely and durably bound, and is the only book of its kind. No man's library is complete without a copy of this book. Sold only by

The concert by the Re-Echo Quartette at the Sw. Luth. church last night was attended by a fair sized audience. The singing and recitations were a rare treat. The gift and carefully trained young men are a credit to the institution of which they spoke and sang so lovingly. The Swedish Lutherans present could not be blamed if their hearts swelled with pride at seeing this fruit from their warmly cherished "college by the river, the Augustana 'College on the hill." THE TRIBUNE office acknowledges a pleasant call by Messrs. John A. Hessel and Erick Floreen of the company. The quartette sings at Litchfield to-night.

We believe our hunting laws favor the sportsmen a little too much. The farmer is required to notify the hunter that he doesn't want any hunting done on his land. In other words he will be obliged to keep on the lookout and approach every hunting party that comes to give them the necessary warning or otherwise go to the expense of posting notices in "conspicuous" places on his farm, in the former instance in most cases at the risk of disturbing the temper of the sportsman and in the latter case often to find the notices torn down. Why should not the farmer be entitled to the peaceable possession of his property? If anyone desires the privilege of hunting on his land would it be more than right that he be required to ask for it. Of course, a great many of the sportsmen are thorough gentlemen, but there is a class that have no respect for the rights of anyone.

GOLD-BUG ORGANISM.

H. S. Hilleboe, candidate for lieutenant governor on the Prohibition ticket at the last state election, was at the Brunswick last evening. Mr. Hilleboe retired early, but before going up to his room said that he believed the cause of Populism was waning and that there would be a smaller Populist party vote this coming campaign than ever before unless the two old parties took a straddle on the silver question, when the ardent advocates of free silver might seek relief in the ranks of the Prohibition or Populist party. Mr. Hilleboe thinks the flunk in the Populist party will be a good thing for the Prohibitionists, because it will throw more votes in the direction of the third party. Populists after advocating reform cannot consistently go back to the old parties and when they become dissatisfied with Populism they will want something more substantial.—Minneapolis Times.

 Editor Willmar Tribune:

Was surprised to find enclosed "clipping" in the Times to-day. The whole thing is a fabrication from beginning to end as far as the interview is concerned. Have not talked a word of politics to reporters or any one else here. My alleged thoughts as to "the flunk in the Populist party" are made for me by an imaginative reporter, and if other interviews are as unreliable as this one, it is better to read fiction in some other form than that of pseudo interviews in the Times.

H. S. HILLEBOE.

The above illustrates how the old gold bug party papers get their ideas about the political events of the day. Yes, the papers simply invent stories, and stuff the people, and that stuff we fools take for reliable information. Yes, this is how they learn that Populism is waning, that the silver craze is dying, etc., etc. What a despicable lying press we have!

POPULIST PICNIC.

There will be a Farmers' Alliance picnic and meeting at the home of Thos. Osmundson near Willmar, Friday, September 6, 1895. Hon. L. C. Long will be present and speak. Also Hon. N. Quam and others. Speaking will take place at 3 p. m. and 7 p. m. Come one and all.

NO HURRY IN NORWAY.

People Take Their Time There and Wonder at Yankee Victories.

These Norwegians are a wonderfully patient people, says a correspondent. They never hurry. Why should they? There is always time enough. We breakfast at 9 o'clock. Monsieur goes to business at 10 or so, and returns to his dinner, like all the rest of the Scandinavian world, at 2:30. We reach coffee and cigarettes at about 4, and then Monsieur goes back to his office, if he likes, for two or three hours. We sometimes see him again at supper at 8:30, but usually there is a game of whist, or a geographical society lecture, or a concert, or a friend's birthday fete (an occasion never overlooked by your true Norwegians), or some one has received a barrel of oysters, and would not, could not, dream of opening them without champagne and company—masculine company only. It seems to me that there are entirely too many purely male festivities here. In fact, the men say so themselves and that they would really enjoy many of the occasions much more if ladies were present. But "it is not the custom of the country" (a rock on which I am always foundering) to omit or to change in such matters. Monsieur only does as do all the other men of his age, which is elderly, and condition, which is solid.

There is a curious feeling concerning America over here in one way and another. Morgenbladet, the chief conservative paper, an organ locally of the first importance, keeps a sort of horror chamber of Americana. The reason is, I suppose, that in these very dark and troublous political times, when not only the union but the monarchy itself is threatened and tottering, the conservative interest thinks it dangerous to allow any virtue to appear in a republic, and especially in ours, the most flourishing, and therefore the most pernicious, example of that invention of evil bred.—San Francisco Examiner.

Animals in Litchfield's Earthquake.

An observer of animal life has collected (our Vienna correspondent says) a number of notes upon the behavior of animals during the earthquake at Litchfield. A railway guard observed that some minutes before the first shock was felt his owl, chained to a toolhouse, cried as if for help, and he was with it when the earthquake began. Some forest guards observed hares running, as if for their lives, up a hill before the first shock. Partridges flew a long distance. A gentleman who spent the night of Easter Sunday in a carriage saw the pigeons and hawks on a tower flying round it every time that a shock was near. Sparrows and redstarts also fluttered about and seemed to overcome their fear of men. The most excited of all were the horses. They trembled long before a shock occurred, and some fell on their knees and sides. The dogs howled the whole night. When a shock was near, their cries were so strange that they struck the ear as something not heard before.—London News.

Beat the Law.

Up at Hampden Park, in Springfield, when the Massachusetts anti-pool law was rigidly enforced a few years ago, Uncle Ed Morse and other pool sellers cleverly evaded it by putting up for sale at "auction" cards having printed on them the picture of a horse. "How much am I offered for this picture of Prince Wilkes?" was the query. "Sold for $100 to Mr. X. Prince Wilkes sold for $100, what do I hear for this picture of Patron?" It was easy enough. All the change was that the auctioneer had to say a few more words.—Hartford Times.
