

Supplement, Willmar Tribune.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3RD, 1895.

Chickens! Chickens!!

Several of our sportsmen are accused of not attending church Sunday.

The Brownie Entertainment, so long postponed, will be given Friday and Saturday evenings at the rink.

Next week is State Fair week. A large number of our farmers will swell the population in the tented city on the fairgrounds.

W. A. Sperry is the duly authorized representative of the Thomas Kane School Furnishing Co. Wait for him. Correspondence solicited.

Louis Fridlund left to day for Sherburne, Martin County, this state, having some business to transact there. He will stay away about a week.

The lightning struck Cornelius Knutson's house in Colfax last Friday. The inmates were stupefied and much damage was done to the house.—New London Times

The Belgrade Sun has been moved back to Melrose. The prospects of getting the railroad yards at the latter place evidently restored Bro. Cambell's confidence in the town and caused him to abandon Belgrade.

The Willmar Seminary is doing a lot of splendid advertising this fall and we predict that the enrolment will be larger than ever during the coming school year. The catalogue, which was mailed to all local papers of this vicinity, has received a lot of favorable comment.

The Willmar creamery is now in charge of Mr. Gy Chenoweth, a butter-maker from Hawarden, Iowa. Mr. Christenson, who had charge before, left to take care of some urgent matters on his farm near Georgeville on the 20th. Mr. P. P. Eddy had charge of the plant for a few days until Mr. Chenoweth arrived.

Geer & Batterberry, house movers, are at work in town.

A little unexpected rush of advertising crowded us a little in getting out our local pages this week.

Miss Inga Kapperud, the 18 year old daughter of Eric Kapperud of West lake, is dangerously ill with brain fever and no hopes are entertained of her recovery.

L. M. Ayer, Sec. P. P. State League, has called a meeting of Peoples' Party men who attend the Fair, at his office in the Century building, Minneapolis, on the morning of the 12th.

The picnic at Jonas Monson's, Kandiyohi, was attended by a crowd which has been variously estimated to have numbered from 500 to 1000 people. It was of course a success in every respect.

The scene back of Glarum's Hotel after the fire is a desolate one. Smoke has been curling from the ruins of the barn all week. Hanscom has commenced to rebuild his barn. Several new shingled roofs near by mark where the destructive heat did its work. Mr. Glarum has not decided as yet whether he will re-build or not on the large scale of the burned barn.

The Willmar School opens next Monday. The same teachers that were employed last year have been engaged for the coming year. The following, we believe, compose the faculty:

J. P. Odell, Principal.
Mrs. Ida Patton.
Marie K. Jorgenson.
Mamie O'Brien.
Anna Hunter.
Grace Booth.
Emma Haines.
Grace Wilcox.
Alice Hennings.
Emma Maloy.
Miss Fancher.
Gertrude Gould.
Mrs. Blanche Hand.
