DROWNED.

John Hagerman Finds Death in a Pool of Water.

John Hagerman, of Whitefield, 66 years old, was found dead in a slough, about one-quarter mile north of Swilling's place last Friday morning, presumably having drowned in the shallow water. The old gentleman had been to the village the afternoon previous and is known to have imbibed quite freely from the cup which leads to ruin and death, and was not in the best condition to manage a team of horses on a drive of several miles in the shadows of night; in fact the stable boy, following the almost criminal custom of "helping people out of town" did see him safely out of town and then left him to his fate to reach home in safety or perish on the way. All would perhaps have been well but that his team made the fatal mistake, when about five miles from town, to take the winter road which leads over a low tract of land. Ordinarily this slough has been dry but the copious rains had filled the basin with water. The condition of the soil was also of a soft nature so that the team became mired when they struck it. Just what were the circumstances which led to the unfortunate man's death will never be known. Presumably he got out of his wagon to assist his horses and when finding himself unable to do anything started off to secure help, waded the wrong direction farther into the water, stumbled, fell, and was unable to get up. Or a more charitable construction would be that he struggled to free his horses until he himself was overcome. Let us not judge harshly. The Almighty, whose justice knows no shadow of turning, will know where the blame for the ruin of a weak mortal being lies. About 10 o'clock the following morning John Larson with his two sons, A. J. and Nels, were driving the main summer road to Willmar, when they spied a wagon standing a quarter of a mile from the road. On standing up in their vehicle they discovered a horse lying down. They immediately drove to the spot where they found the team mired in the mud, one dead and one still living. Seeing an object some distance farther out in the water they waded out and were horrified to find the body of Hagerman, their neighbor, lying face downward. They speedily brought the terrible news to the Hagerman home. The deceased leaves a wife and six children, the oldest boy, Anfin, having charge of the farm. The people of the neighborhood very deeply sympathize with the afflicted family. The interment of the remains took place at Svea, Saturday afternoon, Rev. J. O. Lundberg officiating.

"A Model Husband,"
Second in the series of lectures, will be given at the M. E. Church next Sabbath evening, May 17.
"Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance in the holy estate of matrimony? Wilt thou love her, in sickness and in health; and forsaking all other, keep thee only unto her, so long as ye both shall live?"
"I will."

The Road Across Foot Lake.

There was quiet a spirited contest before the County Commissioners last Friday in regard to the laying out and building of the proposed road across Foot Lake. The proceedings are under a law that was passed by the last legislature, providing for the cost of building roads by taxing the lands lying within one mile of the center of the proposed road on each side. The Commissioners laid out the road with the proviso that the cost should not exceed the estimate by the viewers. The main opposition to the road, aside from legal difficulties claimed to be inherent in the law, seems to be based on a prevalent opinion that the cost of the road will be much greater than estimated. This objection is in a measure overcome by the proviso of the Commissioners for dropping the object, in a case a contract can not be made for building it for the estimated cost. A road across Foot Lake is no doubt desirable, but considering the miserable condition of the main highways leading into town, many of our citizens question the wisdom of diverting about $500.00 per annum for many years to come from the road and bridge fund of the town for the purpose of this Foot Lake dump. Besides if a road was deemed absolutely necessary it might as well have been built in the regular way by the town supervisors, or as a county road if that should have been deemed best. We believe this project should have been brought before the people of the township for their decision, before it should have been undertaken. When the farmers of the town find out that the bulk of their road and bridge fund has been dumped into Foot Lake for 10 years to come the promoters of the project will probably wish they had nothing to do with it. Lots of those who signed the petition for the starting of this enterprise are now kicking themselves for their thoughtlessness, but it is of course too late.

Called to His Eternal Rest.

Charles A. Green, an old resident of Burbank township, ended his earthly career last Sunday morning at an age of 55 years, 9 mos., and 29 days. He was ill but two days, having been taken with inflammation of the bowels and stomach. His end was calm, however, and he quietly passed to his eternal home at 5 o'clock a. m.

The deceased was born in Vestgöta-land, Sweden, July 12, 1840; came to this country in 1862, and lived at Carver, Minn., until 1865, when he settled on the homestead where, he died, in the Township of Burbank of this county. He leaves his wife and eight children to mourn the loss of a faithful husband and loving father. The latter are the following: Mrs. C. A. Broman, of Kandiyohi; Mrs. C. A. Ohman, of Minneapolis; Frank Green, of Minneapolis; and Wesley, Phillip, Edgar, Willie and Henry Green, who live at home. His aged mother Mrs. Andrew Green, of New London, survives him, also a brother, Gust Green, of New London, and two sisters, Lusy and Emma Green, of Minneapolis. The deceased was an enthusiastic member of the Swedish Methodist church society and was an energetic worker.

The funeral occurs to-day at 10 o'clock, Rev. Wallquist of Kandiyohi officiating. The remains will be interred in the Methodist Cemetery.

"A Model Husband,"

GUSTAVUS VASA.
[The 400th anniversary of whose birth is celebrated by Swedes today, May 12, throughout the world. Vasa was the Moses who rallied his countrymen and drove their oppressors out of the country four centuries ago. Thus a patriot's name lives for ages, while the sordid glory of tyrants is as short-lived as themselves.]
