Minneapolis Journal: A pretty wedding took place in Toledo, Ohio, Thursday morning when Miss Gertrude Gunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Gunn, was married to Dr. M. Russell Wilcox of Minneapolis. Rev. George T. Dowling read the service and the young couple left immediately after for Minneapolis. The bride wore her going-away gown of blue broadcloth and carried bride roses. Mrs. Wilcox is well known in Toledo society circles and Dr. Wilcox is a promising young physician and is demonstrator of physiology at the University. They will be at home after Oct. 15.

The Willmar steam laundry and bottling works are now nicely located in their new building on the corner of Litchfield avenue and 6th street. The building consists of a one story brick building with a full basement. The boiler and engine room and pop factory are located in the basement. An elevator carries goods up to a level with the box of the delivery wagon outside. The upper story is nicely arranged for a well appointed steam laundry. The city office is located in the south end of the building. The proprietors, Johnson Bros., are to be congratulated upon their enterprise and business push.

Litchfield (Minn.) News-Ledger, Dec. 9, 1897: The concert given at the Town hall in this city last Friday evening was one of the finest musical treats this city has enjoyed for many a day. The hall was filled until standing room was at a premium. The Litchfield Military band played a number of selections outside the hall and one inside and then Prof. Gravert and his noted violin made the old hall a sounding box of melody, harmony and sweet music. Although a young man, Prof. Gravert is already a master musician and shows that his soul is in his profession. He has a wonderfully delicate touch and power of musical expression that fully brings out the theme and harmony intended by the composers.

Miss Fenno was disagreeably surprised on her arrival here last Thursday to find that her large trunk was missing and in its place a smaller and cheaper trunk had been substituted. The loss is deeply felt by her, as she had all her clothing, her diploma and valuables stored in the trunk. The fact was at once reported to Agent DeLaHunt, who telegraphed the proper officials at St. Paul to trace the missing property. At this writing (Tuesday morning) the trunk had not yet been recovered.

After the above was put in type word was received here that the trunk had been transferred by mistake over the Milwaukee road instead of to Willmar over the Great Northern. This is a great relief to Miss Fenno, as it was at first feared that some designing person had caused all the trouble.

The Kandiyohei county teachers institute closed its session last Friday afternoon. The attendance during the week was about fifty, and the teachers present were treated to a very beneficial program of subjects. Prof. Sanford Niles had charge of the work as instructor in geography, history and methods, while Prof. Mrs. Maria L. Sanford gave able instruction in reading, literature and grammar. The following teachers were added to the roll after the first day's session:

A. Lindholm, Daisy Henderson, J. J. Henderson, Nora S. Odell, Ellen G. Syee, Christine Erickson.

On Tuesday evening the teachers and citizens of Willmar were treated to a very interesting lecture by Miss Sanford on "Growth." The subject was handled in that thorough manner which this noted educator always handles her topics, and a valuable lesson was derived.

Gravert, the Famous Violinist.

Prof. Theo. Gravert, the eminent German violinist, who has been engaged to appear under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., is said to be a remarkable man aside from his musical genius. Being highly educated and having traveled extensively in different countries, he speaks a number of languages fluently, and is at home with any and all styles and classes of music, classical or popular, of the different nations. Mr. Gravert is especially a favorite with Scandinavian audiences. At the concert here next Tuesday evening, Sept. 13, his program will include Ole Bull's famous "Saeterjentes Sondag" and probably also Wilhelmj's beautiful "Swedish Melody."

Prof. Gravert will be assisted by some of the best home talent. Undoubtedly a large audience will be in attendance, and it is advised to secure tickets and reserved seats at an early date. The prices of admission have been placed at 35, 25 and 15 cts.

A very pretty wedding occurred in the town of Fahlun last Saturday, when Miss Albertina Bjornberg was united in marriage to Mr. Louis P. Felt. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Bjornberg, and was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives, about 250 guests being present. Rev. Wahlquist of the Swedish Methodist church officiated.

About 11 o'clock a. m., the strains of the wedding march, played by Mr. Erick Hegstrom, announced the arrival of the bridal party, who marched to a floral arch, underneath which the bridal couple took upon themselves the solemn vow which made them man and wife.

The party marched in the following order: Mr. Emil Wahlstrand and Miss Clara Johnson; Mr. Samuel Dahl and Miss Agnes Lindblad; then came the best man and maid of honor, Mr. Emil Bjornberg, the bride's brother, and Miss Christine Felt, sister of the groom.

A reception was held after the ceremony, and congratulations were in order. A bountiful wedding dinner was served to the large assemblage, and the guests did justice to the feast that was spread. Mr. and Mrs. Felt were the recipients of many valuable presents, among which was $117 in cash donated by their friends, as well as a large amount of furniture and silverware. The TRIBUNE joins in wishing the happy couple a pleasant voyage on the matrimonial sea.

The Drowning Accident.

The following particulars of the sad Diamond Lake drowning accident are given by the Grove City Times:

"At about 3 o'clock Monday afternoon the people of Grove City were filled with consternation by the intelligence that Miss Anna Dillner and Halvor Floren had drowned at Diamond Lake, and that Miss Jennie Nelson had barely escaped.

Last Saturday Miss Dillner and Halvor in company with a number of young friends had gone to the lake to spend a few days in camp. Saturday and Sunday had passed pleasantly and up to 11 o'clock Monday all were happy and well.

At about 11 o'clock Monday Miss Dillner and Miss Jennie Nelson went in bathing and a few minutes later were joined by Halvor Floren and Morris Elofson. They took one of the boats, Morris rowing and the others holding on outside, and went out a short distance from shore, scarcely 100 feet. Morris then intended to plunge into the water, but a slight tip caused some excitement and Miss Dillner and Halvor climbed in, both on one side and the boat immediately filled and sank, leaving them all in 7 feet of water. Morris, being the only one that could swim, soon got onto the boat and called for help. The others sank almost immediately.

Theodore Dillner and several young ladies were at the camp only a few rods away and ran to the shore. Theodore pushed out a boat and was joined by Charley Miller, who rowed out and Morris was taken in. Jennie Nelson was then seen beneath the water, standing upright, and taken in, Miss Dillner was seen lying on the bottom and was soon got into the boat. Miss Nelson was soon resuscitated. Miss Dillner, whose pulse was beating when taken ashore, could not be resuscitated, although it is believed that if someone had known more about it her life could have been saved.

After the girls were ashore no time was lost in beginning the search for Halvor but he could not be found until four hours after the overturning of the boat, having walked or crawled quite a distance from the exact spot of the accident. His body was found by Wm. Meyer and John Miller. He was beyond all hope of recovery.

This accident is the most sad it has been our duty to relate: Two young people in the prime of life, looking forward with hopes of a happy future, laid low in death. Aged parents and relatives who bid them a loving and light good bye a few hours before—to see them so soon, cold in death.

Anna Dillner was 18 years of age. Her parents, Rev. and Mrs. P. Dillner, died several years ago. Theodore, her brother, her grandfather, P. J. Lund, and several uncles and aunts, survive her. Miss Dillner was a Christian young woman, of kind disposition and ambitions. She graduated from the Litchfield high school last June.

Halvor Floren was 21 years of age. Second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Floren. Halvor was a good young man, industrious and of good habits. He had arrived home in June from a term at the Decorah college and was soon to have accepted a position in John T. Mullen's store at Litchfield."
