PEOPLE'S NOMINATING PRIMARIES AND COUNTY CONVENTION.
In pursuance to the action taken by the Peoples party of Kandiyohi county in convention assembled at Willmar, Minn., on Aug. 30, 1900, providing that nominations for the legislative and county ticket be made by a direct vote of the people of the different precincts, people's nominating primaries are hereby called to take place in the various precincts on Tuesday evening, Sept. 27, beginning at 8 o'clock p. m. at the place in each precinct to be made known on notices to be posted in each precinct, the polls to remain open for one hour, for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the following offices, viz: Representative to the State Legislature, County Auditor, County Treasurer, Registrar of Deeds, Sheriff, Judge of Probate, County Attorney, County Surveyor, Roseland, County Governor, Clerk of the District Court, Superintendent of Schools, County Commissioners in the First, Third and Fifth Districts.

And a county convention is hereby called to convene at the courthouse in Willmar on Saturday, Sept. 29, at two o'clock p. m., for the purposes of canvassing the returns from the primaries and declaring the nominees for the different offices, and to transact any business proper to come before the convention, delegate to such convention to be elected as the primaries aforesaid.
The representation shall be one delegate at large for each precinct and one delegate for each fifteen votes or major fraction thereof east for John Lind in 1898. The precincts will be entitled to representation as follows:
Axtander.....5
Burbank.....4
Collax.....4
Dove.....5
Edwards.....3
Hahlin.....5
Gedwards.....6
Holland Lake.....7
Harrison.....5
Holland.....3
Irving.....5
Kandiyohi Precinct.....7
Lake Andrew.....5
Lake Elizabeth.....3
The primaries and convention above provided for shall be conducted to conform with the state law and the plan for direct nominations adopted by the people's party of Kandiyohi county.
All voters opposed to boss or ring rule in politics and who believe that all effort to reform and purify the political life of the nation must begin in the primaries and be applied at home, regardless of former political associations, are invited to join in with the people's party of Kandiyohi county and participate in the selection of county ticket.
Dated at Willmar, Minn., Aug. 30, 1900.
By order of Committee,
ERICK HOLT, Chairman.
V. E. LAWSON, Secretary.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS.
The Pioneer Press of last Sunday says: "Minnesota leads the world in Primary election law reform. The law that received its first practical test in the Minneapolis primaries last Tuesday promises to sweep the country as did the Australian ballot system and be generally adopted. It sounds the death knell of the 'machine politician's occupation.'"
Undoubtedly true. The people are tired of boss rule. They recognize the fact that popular government is a farce, when a few politicians have the power to decide who shall be the law-makers and the officers of the law. The people of Minneapolis are well satisfied with the law; the politicians are gnashing their teeth in vain anger. It is the same here in Kandiyohi. The old party "machinists" have been industriously circulating all kinds of falsehoods to injure the plan of direct nominations. They know if the plan is successful it will give a strong impetus to the movement for a state law along that line, and then their occupation will be gone. They will not be able to manipulate any more 82 to 30 conventions then. The politician fears the people; the patriot trusts them.
The populists of this county can help the good work in the whole state by turning out and making the plan a success. Do your duty as free men. Do not listen to the insidious lying whispers of republican office seekers or political acrobats of the Dr. Stern-gucker type. They are not interested in your welfare; they are anxious to retain their jobs as firemen and greasers on the political machine.

There is no denying the fact that the Bryan sentiment is on the increase everywhere.—Mankato Journal.

DR. JOHNSON'S FLOP.
Dr. Christian Johnson formally made his debut into the republican circles last Friday when a four column article from his pen was printed in the Pioneer Press under double-column headlines on the front page. The doctor begins his statement with these words, "Yes, I guess I am a republican and am apt to remain one for some time." The article was published in the Pioneer Press, evidently for the effect it was expected to have upon people in other sections of the state. The editor of this paper, who is in charge of the People's Party state campaign at St. Paul, was interviewed in regard to Dr. Johnson's change, and we will reproduce the interview for the benefit of the readers of the TRIBUNE.
"Yes, I noticed Dr. Johnson's exposure of himself in the Pioneer Press this morning," said Victor E. Lawson, editor of the state people's party central committee and editor of the Willmar Tribune, to a Globe reporter yesterday, who put the question to him. The republican organ gave up columns to Dr. Christian Johnson, of Willmar, for the "exposure," and presumably Mr. Johnson might have had four pages if he had desired it. His effort in a line was to announce to the public that he, a former active people's party man, had decided to cast his vote and influence with the republicans in the coming campaign.
Continuing, Mr. Lawson, who had at one time been a business partner of Dr. Johnson, stated regarding his former associate: "I have been expecting something of the kind for the past two years. I am glad he has come out in the open, so that even his dearest friend can see where he stands. As long as he represented himself as a populist he was able to sow seeds of discord among our people, but the Knute Nelson and Van Sant managers have reckoned without their host if they expect to create any serious division among the ranks by a brass band flop of Dr. Johnson at this late date.
"Now, I have known the doctor, and I appreciate fully, I hope, his many good qualities. As a neighbor I have a good deal of respect for him, but as a political leader he lacks an essential quality, namely, consistency. I entered partnership with Dr. Johnson in 1895 in the newspaper business and continued in that relation two years or more. I would not care at this time to enumerate his many wonderful acrobatic political feats, but will say that he was one of the original fusionists of Minnesota and was willing at one time to entirely obliterate the people's party, something most of our people would not consent to do at this time, more than four years later. I have in my possession a letter written by the doctor to his proxy at the St. Louis convention in 1896 which bears me out in the statement I just made."
Mr. Lawson handed the reporter a letter, of which the following is a copy:
"Willmar, Friday, Jan. 18, 1896.—Hon. Minnesota Delegation, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Friend: I promised you to attend the convention, but I have not been able to do so. I hereby delegate to my proxy, and authorize you to cast my vote on all occasions as you may deem proper, except in the naming of candidates, in which case I instruct you to vote for W. J. Bryan for president, for Knute Nelson and Arthur G. Wall for vice president, first and last and all the time.
"We want no help money show. Let the convention give Bryan and Sewall their hearty and unhesitating support, with a banner that shall state 'Lind in the camp of plucrocy.' If the convention will not do that I will authorize you on my behalf to move to adjourn sine die.
"The people's party has now the opportunity of the year for a measure of humanity, and if it die it must, then."
"How can it die better than facing fearful odds, For the ashes of our fathers, And the temples of our gods?"
Very truly,
Dr. Christian Johnson.
"Imagine the man who wrote that letter straining himself four years later to prove that a plot to destroy the people's party existed, and trying to implicate me in the same. If any one doubts the authenticity of the letter I have just read to you, he may call here and see it for himself."
"Oh, pshaw! I am sorry for the doctor. He has an excellent medical practice at Willmar, and if he had stuck to his resolve, so often reiterated, that he was out of politics, he would be a far happier man. He is forcing his old personal friends to leave him, and taking up with a crowd that will probably cast him aside after having failed to accomplish their purposes."
"No, I am not surprised at the doctor's article. But I am surprised at the lack of political sense of the Pioneer Press in attaching significance to it. It proves that the opposition is woefully deficient in campaign material, or that their political sagacity falls them at times."

The Mankato Journal, (Ind.) says: Gov. John Lind should be sustained and re-elected in recognition of his efforts to secure fairer freight rates for the people of this State.
The Argus says Mike Daly may withdraw from the congressional race. The wish is father to the thought Daly is making a strong campaign and expects to be elected.
Bro. Wharton evidently repents of his misstatements regarding the redistricting of the county. In his last issue he says: "Nomad—not even a politician ever gained anything by lying." We hope the cure will be permanent.

For political rot, "Sterngucker," in the Willmar Gazette, takes the cake. A host of the editorials in the Argus are also of such a nonsensical character that we didn't think Editor Wharton would take the credit for writing them.—New London Times.
Don't be too hard on them. It is evidently their "manifest destiny" to write rot and nonsense. In the wise provisions of nature even the most insignificant things have some use. After a day of hard work nothing relieves the tension of the nerves like a good laugh, and the effusions of the above mentioned writers never fail to cause hearty outbursts of laughter. As unconscious humorists they are decided successes.
The republicans are hoarsely bawling about the "full dinner pail." Go tell that to the starving miners in Pennsylvania, who have been working as slaves for the anthracite coal trust. They have been systematically robbed by the trust until in their despair they refused to work any longer. They were paid a very small price per ton of coal, and then had to dig nearly two tons to get paid for one, an account of an infamous system of dockage. They were charged an enormous price for powder, and had to buy it from the trust. They had to trade at the company's stores, or lose their job. Robbed on every side they could not earn a bare subsistence. Talk the "full dinner pail" to those people. Show them the beauties of protection to American workman. Shout "prosperity" till the welkin rings, and see if you can make them believe it.

As self-confessed falsifiers. Anything to distract attention from the question that MUST be settled at this election. We believe in free silver. We believe the question is alive and will remain so until it is settled right. But it is very doubtful whether it can be settled in the near future. The imperialist question will be settled by this election, and will decide whether we shall pursue the path of peaceful progress under a government by all the people, or enter the turmoil and strife for foreign possessions, denying to the people of those lands the rights we enjoy, and make our country half monarchy and half republic, endangering the liberty of all. We must first preserve the republic, end militarism, then we can settle the money question, and settle it right.
Jefferson was the original expansionist; McKinley is the original imperialist. Jefferson purchased land to insure peace; McKinley purchased land that insures perpetual trouble and war. Jefferson bought land; McKinley bought people. Jefferson extended the limits of the constitution; McKinley extended his own powers beyond the constitution. Jefferson added room for citizens of a republic; McKinley added subjects to be governed according to the will of the governor.
The St. Peter Free Press, a republican paper, disposes of the charge against Lind concerning the management of the wine plant in the following manner:
"Sheriff Block, the republican candidate for state treasurer, isn't doing his party much good by the senseless attempt of his paper, The Journal, to get even with Lind under cover of discussing the quality of state prison binding twine. Parties using the twine know that the charges have no foundation, and people familiar with conditions here also know the real cause for Block's attitude is attributable to his soreness for having failed to secure a reappointment as trustee of the hospitals for the insane. He has a personal grievance against the governor, and now tries to even up by dragging it into the campaign under pretenses foreign to the object sought to be accomplished and regardless of the consequences likely to follow this course. The effect of this unwarranted blunder is already visible and threatens seriously to affect the republican state ticket in this county. Under normal conditions Nicollet county, with a candidate of its own for a state office, should be good for at least five hundred majority for the republican ticket, but as matters now stand the party will be lucky if it breaks even, and it will not do that unless something is done to counteract in a measure the bad breaks of the former boss of this county."

BERKNESS, PETERSON & CO. The Popular Store.

TO THE PUBLIC.—We thank you most heartily for the liberal patronage accorded us since our opening, and we shall always aim to merit your continuance of the same. We are determined, and will be satisfied with no less, to make this the most popular store in this county. To do this we must enjoy your confidence and patronage, and that we propose to gain by an honest, upright business policy, placing before you reliable, high-grade up-to-date merchandise at prices that defy competition. Our goods are all new—not an old or shopworn article in our establishment—selected with the greatest of care in the best markets and purchased on the lowest cash basis.
Our stock is complete in all lines, every department brimful of good things at prices to interest the most fastidious. Our customers and visitors are all profuse in their praise of our store and the values that we offer. We most earnestly invite you to make our store a visit, assuring you of gentlemanly and courteous treatment, whether you wish to buy or not. It is a pleasure to us to show our goods, knowing as we do that they excel. If you send your children, you may rest assured they will receive the same courteous attention, and that the prices will be right, as we have but one price for all, and that the lowest. The old method of high prices and long time credit is banished from here. We want our customers to pay only the lowest cash price for what they buy, without helping to pay losses incurred by extending credit to others.

SHIFTING BASE.
The republican newspapers and orators have for a long time been assuring us that the "free silver craze" was dead as Julius Caesar. They had witnessed the expiring throes of free silver, they had dug its grave wide and deep and buried it with the solemn ceremonies prescribed by Gage & Hanna's Financial Bill. They had thrown enormous chunks of prosperity on top of the grave to insure against any disturbance of the remains. No more was the dread apparition to disturb the rest of our financiers. But now a change has come o'er the spirit of their dreams. Now they are frantically rushing up and down on the highways and byways, piteously imploring everybody to vote for McKinley because the election of Bryan would mean the triumph of free silver. Gage himself, who led the scalp dance after free silver was "killed" is now assuring the country that the supposed corpse is very much alive. The lesser republican warriors and even the paposes have taken up the cry, and from the pine clad hills of Maine to the shores of the Mississippi resounds the yell of warning that free silver has all at once become the paramount issue. We have been able to locate exactly the line where this cry is raised. It passes right through the Argus office in Willmar, as an examination of the last issue of that paper will show. The front page contains a cartoon showing Jones pumping free silver into the paramount issue. This is intended for searing people cast of the line, who are supposed to be in favor of gold. The fourth page contains the following paragraph: "Bryan is leaving the free silver issue. He and Towne run from anything." This is for people west of the line, who are supposed to be favorable to silver.
What means this sudden shifting of base? Why are the republican leaders willing to stand as self-confessed liars? Of course they must either have been lying when they told us free silver was dead or they must be lying now when they state it is alive. It is because they have read the handwriting on the wall. They have seen that the American people will not stand imperialism. The people believe in the sacred principles of the Declaration of Independence. They believe in a government limited by constitution. They will not stand for government without the consent of the governed. They will not vote for a president who usurps powers not granted by the constitution. They will not vote to fasten upon themselves and their children the burden of a vast military system. It is therefore necessary for the imperialists to draw public attention away from these questions. Hence the sudden revival of the silver question. Hence their willingness to stand as self-confessed falsifiers. Anything to distract attention from the question that MUST be settled at this election. We believe in free silver. We believe the question is alive and will remain so until it is settled right. But it is very doubtful whether it can be settled in the near future. The imperialist question will be settled by this election, and will decide whether we shall pursue the path of peaceful progress under a government by all the people, or enter the turmoil and strife for foreign possessions, denying to the people of those lands the rights we enjoy, and make our country half monarchy and half republic, endangering the liberty of all. We must first preserve the republic, end militarism, then we can settle the money question, and settle it right.

Jefferson was the original expansionist; McKinley is the original imperialist. Jefferson purchased land to insure peace; McKinley purchased land that insures perpetual trouble and war. Jefferson bought land; McKinley bought people. Jefferson extended the limits of the constitution; McKinley extended his own powers beyond the constitution. Jefferson added room for citizens of a republic; McKinley added subjects to be governed according to the will of the governor.
The St. Peter Free Press, a republican paper, disposes of the charge against Lind concerning the management of the wine plant in the following manner:
"Sheriff Block, the republican candidate for state treasurer, isn't doing his party much good by the senseless attempt of his paper, The Journal, to get even with Lind under cover of discussing the quality of state prison binding twine. Parties using the twine know that the charges have no foundation, and people familiar with conditions here also know the real cause for Block's attitude is attributable to his soreness for having failed to secure a reappointment as trustee of the hospitals for the insane. AS A MIDROADER SEES IT.
Haldor E. Boen, one of the hottest midroaders in Minnesota, has the following to say regarding the fusion state ticket:
"For once the democrats can justly claim the best state ticket in the field in Minnesota.
"Head and shoulder over all in the state in ability and seemingly in purpose stands John Lind. He has given the state a good administration though not as good as it might have been. But it is the best administration the state has had during the 32 years which we have lived in Minnesota; and it is a long ways ahead of any administration which the republicans will give the state, judging them by their past record.
"That the democrats should nominate that once staunch populist, Thomas J. Meighen, was queer indeed; but queerer still is that Tom should turn Democrat and accept their nomination.
"In some respects now the railroad and warehouse commissioners rank the governor and attorney general in importance. For those offices too the democratic candidates are far ahead of the republicans.
"As it does not seem reasonable to expect the election of the Referendum candidates for railroad commissioners this year we beg leave to express our views on the situation as to these important positions and the candidates of the leading parties.
"P. M. Ringdal, the democratic candidate we know fairly well, and while we do not like his political flopping and his surrender of principle, if he has any for parts, we do not hesitate to state it as our conviction that for the office of railroad commissioner he is the best man we know of in this state now available for the place. He should be elected. The interest of the producers and shippers demand that."
"S. M. Owen we know fairly well, and if his health holds out he will make an ideal man for the producers and shippers if he is elected.
"T. J. Knox we have never met, but Bro. A. D. Allen of the Battle Lake Review, and in whose word we have full confidence tells us that he knows Mr. Knox well, and that Knox is an excellent man for the place.
"We know but one of the republican candidates, Ira E. Mills of Moorhead and Fargo; but we know him, and if the other republican candidates for railroad commissioners are like him we hope for the sake of the interests of the producers and shippers that Mills and his pals be defeated.
"Mills is a creature of the railroads, as we look at it, and his nomination was undoubtedly forced by them. But, perhaps there wasn't much force needed to nominate a corporation tool in a republican state convention.
"If Mills was nominated through the railway influence it stands to reason that the other candidates for railroad commissioners were also nominated at the request of the same power.
"The railroads will spend much money to elect Mills and the other republican candidates for railroad commissioners. The money which they spend will be charged up to operating expenses, and the people will pay the bill."
