"A Kansas Cry for Water" is a headline in a paper published in Mrs. Carrie Nation's state. Well, when the saloons are smashed the people out there have to drink something.

Several hundred students of the Maryland university displayed wonderful courage and manliness in driving one freshman from the campus with bad eggs and dead cats. "When will their glory fade?"

The census figures should put a stop to the old story that the Indians are dying off. The five tribes of the Indian territory have more than doubled their population in the past decade and now number 385,155.

The following procession of con-sorts has decided to make shoes in Chicago: Messrs. Szepepanski, Okomewski and Szajkoski. Any person pronounced the name without dislocation of the jaw will be presented with a pair of slippers.

A woman who seems to think she is competent to advise her sex says: "Don't marry a genius." For the encouragement of those contemplating matrimony it may be said the danger of marrying a genius is so small as not to be worthy of serious efforts at prevention.

Some scientists now claim that the North American continent has been inhabited 60,000 years and that the garden of Eden was probably situated in Mexico. Some of the so-called scientists seem to have mistaken their vocations. They should have devoted their lives to romance.

It is not generally known that one British regiment has been in mourning for more than a century. This is the old Fort-seventh, the Loyal North Lancashire regiment. The officers wear black blended with the gold braid in memory of Gen. Wolfe, who was killed at Quebec.

There yet remain in London of the old taverns seven Adam and Eves, five Noah's Arks and, naturally, connected with that, as many Olive Branches. There are two Jacob's Wells, one Job's Castle and one Sampson's Castle. Old-est of all, but not the least appropriate, is a Sign on the Tanner, in Long Lane, Bermondsey, the seat of the tanning industry in South London.

A New York newspaper recently contained an advertisement announcing that babies at a certain foundlings' home could be had for adoption. In a short time 200 little ones were thus disposed of in respectable families. It is now learned that many of these infants were placed in the asylum by parents comfortably off in order to avoid taking care of the children.

A jury at Ferris, Miss., recently brought in a verdict that "deceased came to his death by a stroke of a train, he being in a reasonable state of intoxication." This is about as ambiguous as the Georgia jury's verdict: "We find the defendant almost guilty," and not at all like the frank declaration of a country justice in England that a certain occurrence took place "at a former sitting, when the court was full."

Congressman Hoeffcker, of Delaware, says that on the Delaware-Maryland peninsula there are two families named Day and Sunday, the former having seven daughters and the latter an equal number of sons. Five of the Day girls have been married to a quintet of the Sunday boys, another wedding between the families is soon to be solemnized, and Mr. Hoeffcker is of opinion that every Day will be Sunday by and by.

Bouillabaise has become popular in New York French restaurants and people with chafing dishes are experimenting upon it at home. The recipe, as given by a French chef, is a wonderful affair, comprising salt, bay leaf, lemon, tomatoes, green, white wine and dry toast, along with olive oil, garlic, onions, cloves, peppercorns and lobster, eel or some other kind of fish. It is a wonderful concoction and Thackeray has much to answer for in popularizing it by his famous ballad.

Rev. Dr. William C. Winslow, of Boston, has made the announcement of the discovery in Egypt of a most valuable papyrus. It contains a large part of the history of the Gospel of St. Matthew and is the oldest fragment of the Gospels now owned in America. Dr. Winslow states that the papyrus was found at Oxyrhynchus, a place 140 miles south of Cairo, and that its date is placed by the experts at 150 A. D. It belongs, he says, to the same class as the famous Sinaite and vatican codices, and is a corroboration of those texts.

A letter from the Manila Hospital Aid society urges the people of America not to forget their soldier boys at the front and to send all the books and papers they can spare. There are 450 garrisoned towns that the society are trying to keep supplied with reading matter, and it is no easy task. Those who wish to contribute books, papers or magazines should address them to Mrs. Charles C. Walcott, Jr., care of Maj. C. C. Walcott, Jr., Manila Hospital Aid society, Manila, Philippine islands. It is a most worthy cause, and one that will require little expense or effort.

The population of Indian territory by nations and reservations, as announced, shows that the population of the territory in 1900 was 391,960, against 180,182 in 1890, an increase during the decade of 211,778. These totals include the entire population of the territory, both Indians and others. No general enumeration of the population of Indian territory was made at any census prior to 1890. The total land surface of the territory is, approximately, 31,000 square miles, the average number of persons to the square mile being 12.5.

THE INAUGURAL CEREMONY.

William McKinley Is Once More Inaugurated as President of the United States.

CEREMONY WITNESSED BY THOUSANDS.

Theodore Roosevelt Assumes the Office of Vice President—Parade Was One of the Great Features of the Day—Summary of the President's Inaugural Address.

Washington, March 4.—William McKinley, of Ohio, to-day was inducted into the presidential office, being the eighth in the illustrious line of presidents of the United States thus honored by the American people with a second and consecutive term. Simultaneously, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, became vice president of the United States. The ceremony which marked this second assumption by President McKinley of the cares of state was most impressive and full of suggestion of the development of the republic during the past four years.

Vice President Inaugurated.

The inaugural ceremonies proper for the first time were conducted by a joint committee of the senate and house, the custom heretofore having been to have the inauguration of the vice president entirely in the hands of the upper body of congress. At 11 o'clock Mr. Roosevelt took the oath of the vice presidency in the senate chamber in the presence of President McKinley and a distinguished company. After the delivery of his inaugural address the vice president administered the oath of office to the senators-elect.

Roosevelt's Address.

Vice President Roosevelt said: "The history of free government is in large part the history of those representatives legislative bodies, in which from the earliest times, free government has found its loftiest expression. The man committed to the trust I now undertake to perform, I feel that I should not feel that in my performance I should be the cooperation of the wise and patriotic men of all parties.
