Annual Harvest Celebrations of the Salvation Army.

Again the above festival is celebrated in our midst. No matter the season, the Salvation Army is ever on the alert to enlist a generous public in its behalf. Sometimes they plead for the suffering entailed on the poor by the severity of the cold weather, and sometimes for the often worse misery experienced through the heat. Then it is the cheap coal wagon making its rounds amongst the city alleys and courts, now the penny ice wagon brings new hope and even life to the exhausted denizens of the crowded tenement houses. Fresh air camps for the mothers and their children, river and country excursions form a good part of the summer program. No matter what the special need may be, the sympathetic workers of the Salvation Army know no personal enjoyment until they have done their best to cope with the same.

It is because we heartily endorse such thoroughly practical and humane religion that we gladly throw open the columns of our paper in order to draw attention to the forthcoming festival.

The officers in charge will gratefully accept any gift of food, furniture, clothing, agricultural implements, live stock, and in fact anything and everything of a salable character, as by a special arrangement they are able to dispose of any unsold articles to the nearest Salvation Army large center, for the benefit of the various large Army institutions within their territory.

Gifts of money will also be gladly with thanks. We append a full list of articles asked for:

Fruit, flowers, canned goods, vegetables, fish, meat, chickens, live stock, corn, flour, wheat, oatmeal, condensed milk, bread, crackers, cheese, tea, coffee, cocoa, books, pictures, jewelry, shoes, coal, wood, lumber, shingles, chairs, sheets, blankets, cutlery, to-is, furniture (new or used), clothing (new or second hand).

The Harvest Festival Effort is especially for the benefit of the home work, the rapid development of which will be seen at a glance from the accompanying figures: 732 corps and outposts; 2,988 officers and employees; 45,000 annual conversions; 83,000 weekly circulation in English, German, Scandinavian and Chinese; 165 Social Relief Institutions; 546 Social officers and employees in charge; $250,000 annually spent in Poor Relief; 8,000 nightly accommodations for the poor; 2,500,000 beds annual accommodation; 69 Workmen's hotels; 6 Women's hotels; 24 Food depots; 24 industrial homes for the unemployed; 3 farm colonies; 5,000 acres colonized; 23 second hand stores; 30 rescue homes for fallen women, accommodating 450 persons; 1,600 fallen women cared for each year; 24 alum settlements, with 80 officers in charge.

A gold medal was awarded at the Paris Exposition for the United States Exhibit of The Salvation Army operations among the poor. The dates of the Festival are Sept. 19, 20 and 21. It is proposed to have in connection with the celebrations a Produce and Industrial Exhibition.
